CONGRESS FEELING BITTER REGARDING REPARATIONS PLAN

BY ROBERT BARRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—America's Christmas message to Europe is to be "We wish to help you. We profess no high sounding altruism. We cannot be a fairy godfather to you. Help yourself first and we will see then how best we may help you."

There is nothing in the current negotiations by President Harding and Secretary Hughes to spoil the holidays for the United States Senate for the administration is not embarked on any policy which would be inimical to the principles the Republicans enunciated during their battle with Wilsonian internationalism and which have come to be the cardinal principles of administration policy.

CONGRESS IS CALMED

Within the last twenty-four hours, Republican leaders in the Senate who became alarmed over what they had been reading in certain metropolitan newspapers over alleged loans to Germany and mythical six-power alliances with Europe, have had all their fears allayed by reassurances from the White House that nothing of the sort was contemplated. They have been advised, furthermore, that no policy of war debt cancellation was in prospect to make for a row in Congress and that the American government was letting it be understood quite clearly in Europe that paring down of German reparations to a "collection point" which consequent paper losses to the Allies were not to be recompensated for the war debt owing to the United States by the Allies.

In some quarters where skepticism prevails as to a successful outcome of the current overtures to Europe there is a disposition to believe the whole affair had been a teapot tempest. It is contended that the administration had not gone beyond a point of renewing to Europe a wish that Europe would do something to readjust its own affairs.

URGED TO HELP SELF

It is said in other words, that there is nothing new in the American policy that Europe is again thrown back on its own resources in its struggle away from economic disaster. The American government, it is argued, is urging Europe to find a solution, without suggesting what that solution might be or telling in advance what compensation in the matter of American material aid might result from such a solution.

America hearing from Europe that a continental adjustment of reparations was beyond the pale of possibility might undertake, with the consent of all concerned, to inquire into the situation and agree to provide machinery through which an unbiased report on the whole problem might be forthcoming.

America, far from wishing to refer to its war bond and collect its pound of flesh, would be ready and willing to contribute anything within reason to promotion of the economic rehabilitation which has become quite vital to the promotion of foreign trade in agricultural and manufactured products of the United States.

It is not wished that the United States could or should seek to run the affairs of Europe, Senate leaders have been assured, but it is not to be denied that the United States has a most material interest in the economic welfare of Europe and is anxious to contribute in every proper way to it.

TURKS NOW TRADING AT CONFERENCE

BY CLARENCE K. STREIT

[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

LAUSANNE, Dec. 20.—Had not the Turks and other delegations given out late last night the American statement that the United States believed that "full freedom of the straits for all nations of the world without discrimination would be served best by reliance on treaty rights and agreements rather than a joint or international commission," the world might never have heard of it. Yet that statement was given to a conference secretary Monday to distribute to all delegates.

It was meant for the conference, which, however, gave it no official consideration. Furthermore the British and Turks at least say they did not receive it until late yesterday. Apparently it was pigeonheled nearly two days—why, none seems to know.

AMERICAN POSITION

The American delegation did not mention it publicly because it was diplomatic correspondence for the conference to give out. Moreover it was a restatement of the American position due to the proposition in the Allied project for a possible American member of the straits commission—which membership America declines.

The American observers say their position is that America is not negotiating a peace treaty here, that she has not been invited to submit any project for the straits, that she has not been asked for ideas, that she has not been invited to any meetings of the experts save the one where she sat on the side lines receiving a copy of the project already evolved, and finally, America will not be bound by an agreement or treaty made here.

Your correspondent gained the impression that the American observers are not highly pleased by this treatment or the reception given their latest statement. The note's first effect was greatly to encourage the Turks, but they changed swiftly during the day and made concessions to the Allies all along the line and while they still are opposing the commission's supervision of the demilitarized zones, they have admitted its supervision over warships passing through the straits which they had opposed before and which the Americans had opposed — which arouses another unanswered "why?"

DOUBLE DOUBLE-CROSS

The last twenty-four hours have been chuck full of behind-the-scenes dealing between the British and Turks and possibly the Turks and Russians, and I have reasons to believe a double game of double-cross is going on, the delegates not only not letting their right hand, extended toward Great Britain, know what the left hand extended toward Russia is doing, but keeping the Turkish higher-ups ignorant of the proceedings.

Turks, ordinarily very close to Ismet Pasha tell me that the greatest secrecy has enveloped the most recent negotiations which have been confined to heads of delegations, but they said the Turks are not worrying about concessions made, for they were chiefly made to save British prestige without really interfering with the Turks' practical control of the straits. My informant added cryptically:

"The Russians really are not worrying either."

I am also informed that part of the price England has paid to save her prestige was an agreement to repay the Turks the cost of two battleships under construction in England for the Turks, which the British seized when the World War began and an agreement to leave the future Turkish army and navy unlimited.

From another high Turkish source I learn the two battleships represent more than $25,000,000 which is going to be paid the Turks in English goods. The British also are renouncing all monetary war claims on Turkey.

It is denied, however, that the English have promised the Turks a large loan.

It should not be thought, however, that the straits question is

Cabinet to Lose Fall and Work

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall contemplates leaving the Cabinet and returning to private life not later than March 4, next. This decision apparently is irrevocable unless President Harding can in some way change the attitude of the southwestern pioneer, and that does not now seem possible.

There are many factors contributing to the decision of the Secretary of the Interior to terminate further official connection with the administration and many of these deal with Secretary Fall's personal business and private affairs.

Nevertheless, his decision is largely influenced by his inability to get definite and beneficial results for Alaska by a broad and liberal policy of administration designed to cover a number of years.

Ever since coming into office he has had certain views for the improvement of the Territory, in developing it in transportation and otherwise opening it up to the genius and initiative of Americans. He has been opposed in every step by apparently organized factions who oppose a real and liberal plan for the development of Alaska.

Only recently he attempted to have the Bureau of the Budget appropriate funds for building a tributary to the Alask Railroad, built by government money and now in operation. In this he utterly failed, and this is but one of several similar suggestions for the benefit of Alaska now and in the future. The conviction that no outstanding policy for the improvement of Alaska is possible has been more and more impressed on the Secretary and this has had much to do with his final determination to retire from the Cabinet.

Death among members of his family in the last few weeks has necessitated a greater personal interest in his ranch in New Mexico.

Those best informed predict that if Secretary Fall insists on his present intention he will be succeeded by Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland, O., a close personal friend of President Harding. Thompson was Assistant Secretary of the Interior under Secretaries Ballinger and Fisher in 1911 and 1912. He was later secretary to President Taft and was lately defeated for Governor of Ohio. He is a man of much experience in primary development of this country and is now actively engaged in iron ore business.

This is but one of the important changes in the official family of the present administration.

Another interesting change definitely forecast is the resignation of Dr. Hubert Work, Postmaster-General, to resume practice of his profession in Colorado on March 4. He is to be succeeded as Postmaster-General by Harry New, at present senior Senator from Indiana.

Almost at any moment the nomination of Dr. Crissinger, at present Comptroller of the Currency, is expected in the Senate as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. Crissinger's friends declare also that Eugene Meyer, Jr., now head of the War Finance Board which soon expires by limitation of law, will succeed him as Comptroller of the Currency.

Those who have studied the many vicissitudes of the Veterans' Bureau predict the early retirement of

PLOT TO ROB NAVAL BASE IS REVEALED

Twenty-two Arrested in Brooklyn and Officials Seek One More

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Details of an asserted conspiracy to rob the Brooklyn Navy Base were revealed today with the arrest of twenyt-two civilian employees.

Twenty-three persons were indicted recently by a Federal grand jury after a long investigation in which the Navy Intelligence Service, Department of Justice and New York and Brooklyn police joined. The twenty-third civilian had not been found at nightfall.

The others were arraigned before Federal Judge Garvin and held in $5000 bail each. None could furnish this amount. The court indicated it might reduce bail if an early date for trial could not be fixed at the next hearing Jan. 3.

Although authorities at the Navy Department in Washington tonight declared their reports of the thefts in Brooklyn indicated a total of only $1200 involved, the indictments returned against the twenty-three persons arrested charge thefts totaling $2100 under three charges of $500, $600 and $1000.

Musician Ends Life

The body of Frank Tornasia, musician, of San Francisco, was found late last night by two pedestrians — R. J. Wesson of 2715 North Main street and William O. Fransedorf of 1313 Elk avenue—in front of his sister's home. He had ended his life with a bullet. Tornasia left a note, found on his body, which indicated an unhappy love affair as the motive for the deed. His sister, Mrs. Douglas B. Jarvase of 698 Moulton avenue, told Detective Sergeants Grul and Murray that there was no other reason for her brother to take his life.

Beats Off Bandit

Grappling with an armed bandit who accosted him at the front door of his home late last night, David Phelps wrested the weapon from his assailant and attempted to shoot him. The revolver was an automatic and the would-be robber fled before Phelps could discharge it. Phelps told the police he was returning from work to his home, 824 West Thirty-third avenue, when held up. William Eidelson, proprietor of a drug store at East Fourth and Chicago streets, was attacked by two men at the doorstep of his home last night and relieved of $150 and some papers. He resides at 2201 East Fourth street.

BRUNEN DEATH CASE ENDS

Wife Accused of Husband's Murder is Freed; Her Brother Found Guilty of Crime

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MOUNT HOLLY (N. J.) Dec. 20.—After eight days of sensational testimony in which seventy-seven witnesses told their stories, Harry C. Mohr was found guilty of the murder of his brother-in-law, "Honest John" Brunen, by a jury in the century-old Courthouse here tonight.

Mrs. Doris Brunen, widow of the murdered carnival king, who was co-defendant with her brother, was acquitted.

Mohr and his sister were charged with the murder of "Honest John," following the confession of Charles M. Powell, a concessionaire in the show, who swore that he killed Brunen as he sat reading at his kitchen window on the night of March 10, last. Powell said he was hired to commit the murder by Mohr and Mrs. Brunen.

The case was given to the jury by Judge Kalisch at 3:35 this afternoon. At 8:20 the verdict was announced by Walter Wills, Southampton, foreman, as follows:

"We find the defendant, Doris Brunen, not guilty."

While the crowd sat hushed and Mohr whitened, the foreman continued:

"We find the defendant, Harry C. Mohr, guilty of murder in the first degree, with a recommendation to

SIX HOURS, PRESTO! 4300 GUARDSMEN

Adjutant-General, Asking for $900,000 Budget, Says It's Possible

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—At least 4300 members of the National Guard could be mobilized in California in six hours, in case of riots, strike trouble or invasion by a foreign enemy, Adjt.-Gen. J. J. Borree told members of the State Board of Control today in presenting the budget requests of his department for the coming biennium.

By June 30, 1923, the total strength of the Guard will have reached 6200 men, in compliance with the National Defense Act, Borree said.

The forces of the Guard, Borree said, are composed of the following units: One infantry brigade, one regiment of field artillery, fifteen companies of coast artillery, one signal corps, one ambulance battalion and one tank company.

Every dollar spent by the State government on the National Guard is matched with four by the Federal government, Boree said, adding that the Federal government planned to spend $1,800,000 in the next two years on National Guard units in the State. The equipment owned by the State and used by the Guard is worth approximately $2,000,000, he said.

Gen. Borree presented budget requests for the biennium amounting to $908,430, which is an increase of $155,000 over the appropriations of 1921, due, he said, to increases in the forces. His request for appropriations for high school cadets was $20,000 under those of 1921.

Chaos is Result of Blockade

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Crews of four mother rum-running ships have mutined; more than $1,000,000 worth of liquor has been thrown overboard; starvation threatens crews of four remaining rum-running craft; thirty lives have been lost; one captain fled his ship under fire, a first mate was overpowered and thrown in irons and a generl condition of disruption exists among the fleet of rum-running craft off Fire Island, according to information given out tonight by John P. Appleby, zone chief prohibition officer.

The general details of this modern weird tale of the sea were corroborated yesterday by Capt. John Sullivan, who fled the mutinous crew of the Vincent F. White, a rum runner, and by Capt. Ole Kristensen and First Mate Hans Halkene and nine sailors of the British auxiliary schooner Squanto, eighty-one tons, which was seized with 4050 packages and 190 cases of liquor valued at $500,000 by the prohibition cutter Hansen.

HUNGER UNDOING

Members of the ship's company of the Sqauto, arraigned late today before United States Commissioner S. M. Hitchcock and held in an aggregate of $26,000 bond, reported that they were driven by hunger and thirst to try to run the prohibition navy blockade of the harbor and as a result were captured by the Hansen. The members of the crew and the amount of their bonds, on charges of violating the customs laws by running rum, are: Capt. Kristensen, $2000; Supercargo John Doyle, $5000; Mate Halkene, $2000; James Cassano, Ole Jensen, Daniel E. Leary, Tony Magnom, Russell Young, J. N. Cross, Joseph Cross, John Perry and John New, $2000 each. Complaints in all cases were sworn out by Customs Inspector Charles A. Fleming. A number of deputy customs inspectors will go to the boat, which is anchored off the Statue of Liberty, today and bring in the Squanto and the seized cargo.

FORD YACHT IN FLEET

Another boat besides the Vincent F. White, the crew of which has mutinied and which was tonight in a state of mutiny, is the $150,000 yacht formerly owned by Henry Ford, the automobile magnate, and was formerly named the Onward. The Onward has been transferred to British registry and has cruised under divers names between the Bahamas and North Atlantic coast points in the rum-running trade for more than a year. Mr. Appleby says it has been penalized by the customs department as has the Squanto, which was fined $500 for irregularities in transporting liquor last summer.

It is difficult for the ordinary landsman to understand conditions as they exist among rum-running craft, and it is hard to believe that the illicit trade has collected a toll of thirty lives and has tallied a loss of more than $3,000,000 in liquor thrown overboard during the past six weeks until an explanation of the traffic has been made.

In Nassau and other ports in the Bahamas large liquor companies have formed and practically taken over the government of the ports, because of the ready money available to beat the United States prohibition laws, according to Mr. Appleby, who let millions trickle off his tongue today in explaining the situation.

A stranger in the Bahamas has to explain his presence and give an

LOUISIANA MYSTERY GROWS

No Official Will Say Why Guardsmen Summoned; Rumor Says Bodies Found in Lake

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MONROE (La.) Dec. 20.—The purpose of the movement of a company of Louisiana National Guard into Morehouse parish by Gov. John M. Parker yesterday afternoon tonight continued to remain a mystery to all except a few officials.

The passing of the day failed to lift the mystery screen. Those in a position to speak would say nothing. The Governor, Attorney-General and others remained silent.

Late today a detachment of twenty-five men, under command of the company officer, hastily departed from the camp established in the heart of the little town of Mer Rouge. The men said they did not know where they were going. The officer would not speak.

Close observers offered the opinion the men were en route to one of the lakes in the vicinity of Mer Rouge, where, it is believed, the bodies of two men, weighted down with wagon wheels, victims of hooded men, are resting.

Four detectives working with the Department of Justice are said to have found the location in the lake where the bodies are. The detectives are said to have preceded the movement of the detachment this afternoon.

In the event the bodies are recovered open hearings, discussed by Gov. Parker and other State officials, will probably be instituted at Bastrop, the parish seat. Under this method the State would hope to obtain evidence upon which to convict members of the band of fifty or more hooded men who, on horseback and in motor cars, swooped down upon a party of five prominent Mer Rouge citizens,

OUTRANGED BY BRITISH

Fleet Efficiency Shown Senate

American Ships Outclassed by Improvement Made to Foreign Vessels

Yankee Fighters' Range is 20,000, and on Modern Boats 30,000 Yards

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Relative fighting efficiency of British and American battleships, particularly at long range, were understood today to have been called sharply to the attention of the Senate Naval Committee in consideration of the pending naval appropriation bill.

Naval officers are known to be greatly concerned on the point, as the British virtually have completed post-war modernization of their fifteen-inch gun ships, and no start on similar work has yet been made in the American Navy.

The effect of the British post-war improvements, it was said today in naval circles, was to give the entire main British fleet a range of 30,000 yards against a maximum of about 20,000 yards for all American battleships, but the Tennessee, California, Maryland, Colorado and West Virginia.

In addition, as permitted under the Washington treaty, the British ships have been equipped with "blister" anti-torpedo construction and their decks armored against airplane bombs and high angle fire.

COST $60,000,000

A rough estimate of the cost of modernizing American ships in the same way, so far as increasing gun elevations and strengthening decks is concerned, is approximatley $60,000,000. In the British program as much as $4,000,000 is said to have been expended on a single ship.

When naval estimates were under consideration in the Budget Bureau and later before the House Appropriations Subcommittee, it was said, funds were asked by naval officials for a limited program beginning this year on making over battleships to be retained under the treaty. The items presented called for conversion of coal-burning battleships of the forteen-inch gun type to oil burners, and the installation of five-inch antiaircraft batteries to replace all present three-inch guns on the big ships. The items went out both before the budget and in committee, but there are indications that more urgent representations are being made to the Senate.

Change from coal to oil fuel is of vital importance in widening the effective radious of action of the ships, it was explained by naval officials, while substitution of five-inch antiaircraft batteries means using shells with a fifty-yard "burst" instead of the twenty-five-yard area covered by three-inch projectiles. In other words, it was said a "curtain of fire" against aircraft with five-inch guns would need one-half the number of guns in action to make it effective.

LONG-RANGE FIRE

The most striking point to which attention is being directed, however, is that of long-range big-gun fire. Opposed to the modernized British fleet today, navy officers have stated, the bulk of the American fleet would face the necessity of closing in five miles under salvo fire before they could bring their own guns to bear. As the British ships are also slightly faster, it is said, the possibility of bringing the entire fleet into action would be negligible.

Older American battleships, as well as the British ships now modernized, were designed and built before the possibilities of aircraft "spotting" were seen. Their guns had a range up to the limit of vision from the spotting tops of the ships, which is 20,000 yards, under most favorable conditions.

Tests with aircraft, however, have fully demonstrated, both in American and British naval opinion, based on war lessons, that fire can be made effective against ships entirely out of sight over the horizon. The British are said to have acted on this knowledge in making the costly changes necessary to raise turret guns to a 30-degree firing elevation, as compared to the old 11 or 12-degree maximum.

Mohr's chin dropped on his clenched fist and he leaned heavily on the back of the officer's chair in front of him.

Mrs. Bessie Mohr, wife of the prisoner, stopped her ears as the poll of the jury was made and each mand repeated "guilty," and sobbed her grief aloud, twisting her hands and moaning, "Harry, my darling Harry."

When Justice Kalisch told Mrs. Brunen she was free, she murmured, "Thank you," and bowed her plumed head. Mohr stood before the bar and the court announced that sentence would be passed January 9.

Mohr's knees weakened and he would have collapsed but for the support of court officers.

NEAR COLLAPSE

White as death, he sagged between the deputy sheriffs and State troopers.

"Good-by, Dottie," he said huskily.

"I'm going with you," Mrs. Brunen answered. She took a step forward and fainted.

When she had recovered, Mrs. Brunen went to the prison, where she gathered up her belongings and clasped to her bosom her pet cat.

Mrs. Brunen declared she will go to Florida, and upon her return, will open a "Mexican tea room" in New York or Philadelphia.

HERRIN ACCUSED NAMED AT TRIAL

Two Unionists Pointed Out as Mob Members

Shotguns Charged to Local at Time of Rioting

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARION (Ill.) Dec. 20.—Peter Miller and Otis Clark, two of the defendants on trial charged with murder in connection with the Herrin riots, were pointed out in court by two of the four survivors who took the witness stand today.

Those who occupied the stand most of the day were William Cairns, P. J. O'Rourke, Bernard Jones and Robert Officer, the latter a University of Pennsylvania graduate and a book-keeper at the "strip" mine where the riots started which resulted in the death of twenty-one nonunion men. The first three were guards at the mine.

Cairns testified that the forty-eight men in the mine surrendered under a white flag between 5:30 and 6 a.m., on June 22, and were marched out of the pit with their hands above their heads after being told that they would not be harmed. He said he had seen C. K. McDowell, the crippled superintendent of the mine, led away by Otis Clark, who had a gun, and another man.

FIRING STARTED

"We were marched on until we came to a barbed-wire fence," he said, "and some one shouted, 'all men with guns line up to the right.' And then some one else cried: "Now, you fellows run.'" Then the firing started.

When he was wounded and lying beside the fence with two bullets in his body, Cairns said he saw Peter Hiller come up to another wounded man who was leaning against a tree and fired into his body after shouting: "You great big ———. Can't we kill you?"

The witness said he saw another man approach John Shoemaker, assistant superintendent at the mine, who was lying wounded in the field, and say: "There's that ——— machine gunner." Cairns declared the speaker then drew a pistol and blew Shoemaker's head off.

The witness said he was picked up and taken to a hospital by Sheriff Thayton about an hour later.

O'Rourke told of being shot twice at the fence, of fleeing through the woods until he was recaptured, and marched with five other bleeding, pleading victims through Herrin to a cemetery outside the city, where all six were shot down in the road.

The witness said he remembered praying for any Christian in the crowd to bring him water and, in the name of his mother, for some one to notify her of his fate. He said some one knelt over him and slashed his throat with a pocket knife. O'Rourke was picked up with seven bullet wounds in his body.

Jones testified that he had raised a white flag at the mine on the order of McDowell, and was told by the leader of the attackers that those in the mine would be taken safely out of the county. He told of the march from the mine, while some one in the crowd shouted "kill them," but that others cried: "We are going to put them on a train and get them out of here. They had enough already." He quoted Otis Clark as saying:

"We're going through with this if I have to shoot them all myself."

AIDED BY FARMER

Jones said that when the firing at the fence started, he leaped over, ran through the fields and later took a train for Chicago, after being given refuge by a farmer.

A. T. Norman, a Herrin hardware dealer, testified that on the afternoon of June 21 a crowd of men and boys came into his store, got three guns and asked him to charge them to the Herrin miners' local. Norman said he refused and asked for names, and they gave two and said they wanted the guns in a hurry.

A. A. Mosley, another hardware dealer of Marion, testified that fifteen or twenty men came into his store the afternoon of June 21 and seized nine shotguns and had charged them to the Herrin locals, and told him if he wanted verification to call up Hugh Willis or Will Davis, miner officials.

Robert Herron, Chief of Police or Herrin, who, one of the witnesses testified, was a spectator of the death march through the town, announced his resignation today.

now settled for the Turkish acceptance of the Allied principles today, which made Marquis Curzon rejoice, made him rejoice similarly on the 8th inst. but did not prevent yesterday's rumpus breaking out.

The American position is absolutely opposed to the Allied-Turkish plan both in demanding no restriction of warships and no commission and if it does not wreck it, it will at least raise complicated questions. The American observers maintain we can live apart from an Allied straits settlement the same as with the League of Nations, but it seems evident that our status at the straits will have to be defined by treaty sooner or later for as soon as the straits project is enforced our warships cannot enter the straits without either conforming to the straits regulations, which we did not help make, or defying them. The present policy is to negotiate after instead of before the fact.

RURAL CREDITS BOARD IS URGED

Farm Bureau Representative Advocates New Plan

Congress Considering Many Relief Proposals

Norris Bill Supported Only by Radical Element

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Creation of an independent intermediate credits board was advocated by Gray Silver, representing the American Farm Bureau Federation, today before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency.

Mr. Silver presented resolutions dealing with rural credits legislation, which were adopted at a recent meeting of the organization in Chicago.

Mr. Silver said it was the belief of members of the federation that the system will operate to better advantage if it is under an independent management. He said that if some such arrangement were made it would not be objectionable to establish the proposed new banks as departments of the present Federal land banks as provided in the Lenroot bill.

Bills for the relief of the farmer which are under consideration in Congress include all manner of proposals. Discussion in the Senate has centered chiefly on the Norris bill, which has been reported from the Committee on Agriculture and on the Lenroot and Capper bills, both of which are under consideration in the Committee on Banking and Currency. The Norris bill has no chance of passage and is supported only by the most radical element, but because it has reached the Senate calendar it is being used by opponents of the ship subsidy bill to complicate the legislative situation.

CREATES CORPORATION

The Norris bill creates a $100,000,000 government corporation to be managed by a board of directors appointed by the President and with the following powers:

To build, buy, lease and operate elevators and storage warehouses.

To buy and sell agricultural products, including their sale abroad.

To act as agent of agricultural producers.

To make advances to assist in financing the sale of agricultural products.

The Norris bill has been advocated chiefly by wheat growers of the Northwest, who believe that such a government corporation could insure the producers a higher level of prices.

The Lenroot rural credits bill has been considered the administration measure. The Capper bill also has considerable backing within the administration and inasmuch as the two are not in conflict the probability is that features of both will be incorporated in the administration bill to be reported from the Committee on Banking and Currency.

LENROOT BILL

The Lenroot bill includes the following provisions:

Creates a farm credits department in each of the twelve Federal land banks with power to discount agricultural and livestock paper with maturities of from six months to three years, thus providing intermediate credits of a type not obtainable now either through the Federal reserve system or the Federal farm loan system.

Provides $5,000,000 in government money as the capital of each of the twelve farm credits departments, the total of $60,000,000 representing possible credits amounting to ten times the aggregate, or $600,000,000.

Authorizes the Federal Farm Loan Board to issue and sell collateral trust bonds or other obligations with maturities of not more than five years secured by notes discounted by the farm credits departments of the land banks.

Authorizes the farm credits departments to make loans direct to co-operative marketing associations.

WOULD BACK BANKS

The Capper Bill includes the following provisions:

Encourages the establishment of privately financed agricultural credit corporations with a minimum capital of $250,000 under the supervision of the Controller of the Currency.

Extends from six to nine months the maximum maturity of agricultural paper eligible for re-discount at Federal reserve banks.

Encourages country banks to come into the Federal reserve system by relaxing the capital requirements.

Increases from $10,000 to $25,000 the maximum amount which may be loaned on land mortgage by the present banks of the farm loan system.

The Lenroot bill as well as the Capper Bill contains amendments to the Federal Reserve Act designed to broaden the powers of the Federal reserve banks with respect to agricultural paper.

DEADLOCK ON SUBSIDY BILL

Opposing Forces Tightening Their Lines

Farmers' Relief Measure is Being Pushed

Marine Legislation Action May be Postponed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Five hours of debate and parliamentary tactics in the Senate today served only to tighten the deadlock which has existed for three days between two opposing and almost equal groups, one fighting to keep the administration shipping bill before the Senate and the other to displace that measure.

Three separate and distinct efforts were made during the day to break the deadlock through a unanimous consent agreement to vote at a designated time upon the pending motion to lay aside the shipping bill and to take up the Norris agricultural financing measure but each time an objection nullified the attempt.

RAMBLING DEBATE

After an unsuccessful result of these efforts the debate ran far afield, ranging from a discussion of the disposition of Muscle Shoals to charges that Ambassador Harvey at London, through his recent statement on the European situation, had endeavored to affect the cotton and grain markets in the United States.

Shipping and agricultural relief legislation were discussed at lesser lengths and when the Senate adjourned administration leaders were frankly pessimistic over the possibility of a vote within several weeks upon the ship bill.

General belief was expressed that the Christmas recess would come and go without a break in the struggle for dominance between those trying to keep the ship bill before the Senate until the rural-credits legislation can be reported from the Banking and Currency Committee and those members of the alliance formed between foes of the ship bill and advocates of the Norris agricultural bill.

The initiative in the effort to bring the question involved in the deadlock to an issue was made today as on yesterday and Monday by Senator Jones, Washington, in charge of the shipping bill, who proposed an agreement to vote at 3 o'clock today on the motion before the Senate. Unanimous consent was refused by Senator Fletcher of Florida, leader of the Democratci opponents to the shipping legislation and Senator Jones thereupon proposed a vote at 4 o'clock. This was objected to by Senators King of Utah and Williams of Mississippi, Democrats.

Pointing out that the banking and currency committee chairman had predicted that rural-credits legislation might be expected from his committee early next week, Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, later proposed that a vote be taken next Wednesday. Senator Jones refused to assent to this after the opinion had been expressed by Republican Senators that agreement to the proposal would have the effect of preventing any action on the shipping bill in the meantime.

ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION

The debate, which touched upon the legislation before the Senate—the administration shipping bill—involved attacks on the measure by Senators Harrison and Dial, Democrat, of South Carolina. The former criticised the administration for pressing the measure after the recent election, in which he said the bill had been repudiated by the voters and charged that the section of the measure as drafted by the Shipping Board and reported to the House, which would include vessels of the Standard Oil Company among those to be aided by the government, was in effect payment for contributions to the Republican campaign fund by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Senator Harrison denounced the Norris bill as "not only Socialistic, but Bolshevistic," but said he would vote to take it up in order to hasten consideration of farm relief legislation.

Divorcees Need Not Apply, Say Soo Preachers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAULT STE. MARIE (Mich.) Dec. 20.—The pastor of every church in Sault Ste. Marie, except one, tonight signed an agreement not to perform any marriage ceremony to which either party has a former mate living. The agreement "views with dismay the growing evil of divorce," and is made, its signers say, "in order that no one in the future may be put to the embarrassment of being refused."

The one objector was Rev. Joseph Dutton, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, who signed a separate statement to observe the revised Methodist discipline strictly. This provides that "no minister shall solemnize marriage where there is a divorced wife or husband living. But this rule shall not be applied to the innocent party to a divorce because of adultery, nor to divorce parties seeking to be reunited in marriage."

GALLOWS LOOM FOR MURDERERS

Men Who Killed Policeman Quickly Indicted

Officer, Unarmed, Sought to Prevent Hold-up

Grand Jury Called After Crime Confessions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 20. — Fifteen minutes after the special session of the grand jury this afternoon true bills were voted against Walter Krauser and "Nagles" Grant, charging them with the murder of Ralph S. Souders, probationary policeman. When the indictments are returned before Chief Justice McKinley tomorrow First Assistant State's Attorney Jonas will motion for an immediate trial, it was announced.

The vision of the hangman's rope flashed before Krauser and Grant as their confession of the slaying of Souders was followed by the calling of a special session of the grand jury.

SPEEDY JUSTICE

Speedy justice, immediate indictment, quick trial — then the gallows. This was the laconic announcement from Edgar A. Jonas, First Assistant State's Attorney, when he learned of the swift bit of detective work which had brought about the arrest of the slayers in the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's store hold-up yesterday at 5361 South Morgan street.

Krauser, aged 21 years, and Grant, aged 22 years, had been caught within twenty-four hours after the slaying of the former lieutenant of the Siberian Expeditionary Forces. Both men confessed. Krauser admitting that he had fired the fatal shots.

TRIAL IN JANUARY

Mr. Jonas, in following up the fast work of the police, said that quick justice was the "only remedy for gunplay that is costing the lives of the policemen." He said that when indictments were returned he would ask Michael L. McKinley, chief justice of the criminal court, to set the date of trial in January.

While the State was planning its case, Krauser and Grant were brought before the inquest. Krauser told how he had met Grant at 6:45 a.m. at the intersection of Forty-seventh and Halstead streets, and how they had started out to find a job. At the intersection of Racine avenue and Seventy-third street, they saw an Atlantic and Pacific proprietor opening for the day and "on the spur of the moment" they held him up, Krause said.

SAME AS CONFESSION

His story was practically the same as the confession and he said that once the officer had the gun in his hand, during the tussle, He said the "offier evidently shot himself."

Grant refused to testify, after being told by Deputy Coroner Fitzner that anything he said would be used against him.

MAN TIED TO TRACK AND LEFT

Trio Apparently Trying to Wreck Santa Fe Train Stage Real Thriller

ALVA (Okla.) Dec. 20.—Chief of Police Grant Ferris left here at noon to investigate the scene of an asserted attempt to wreck a fast passenger train on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, the account of which rivalled the wildest film thriller, in which three bandits, angered at the interference of a wayfarer, were declared to have bound the interloper to the rails and left him to die.

The story was told the chief by C. B. Todd, a local carpenter, who arrived on the train which it was believed the bandits were attempting to wreck. Chief Ferris quoted Todd as saying that when his motor car stalled near the track last night he went to sleep in the rear seat, only to be awakened early today by three men who demanded to know his business. After learning his plight they departed down the track, the chief said Todd told him.

Soon the sound of hammering caused him to follow the trio. He found them apparently attempting to remove a rail. Chief Ferris quoted Todd as saying he remonstrated with them, whereupon they attacked him, took his pocketbook containing $60 and tied him across the tracks. Then they left. Todd worked several minutes to free himself, according to the officers' account, and managed to roll his body from the track just as the train hove in sight. Todd has lived here several years and is well known. He said he thought he could identify his assailants.

account of himself which is sent to the "powers that be" or else he is promptly asked at the point of revolver to leave.

The rum-runners have quit shipping and sell to all comers outside the three-mile limit here. Cash is collected in advance and if the purchaser fails to lighter his part of the cargo of the mother ship the shipment can be thrown overboard without loss to the Bahama booze dealer.

The liquor-running ship comes north, Mr. Appleby said tonight, so heavily laden with liquors that they have no room for provisions. They wait off Fire Island or Sandy Hook for weeks. They have depended on fishermen to furnish fresh water and provisions to them. The fishermen of late have been warned by the customs department not to provision these ships.

The result is that the crews have suffered from hunger. This resulted in the mutiny aboard the Vincent F. White, which has returned to the Bahamas minus her captain and with the first mate in irons. This also resulted in the mutiny reported in progress aboard the former Ford yacht tonight. It was said that liquor was being thrown overboard by the mutinous crew as fast as it could be carried to the rail. Prohibition agents on duty on Long Island telephoned for a seaplane to fly over the rum fleet today and view the spectacle of the jettisoning of the booze cargo of the former Onward.

Loss of life was occasioned by small boats sent to lighter the mother ships attempting to carry too much cargo and by drunkenness of crews which also helped to start the mutinies.

The New York City Police Department and Mr. Appleby both admitted knowledge of the loss of one small boat, a sixty-foot cruising yacht bearing fifteen men from the Brooklyn and Manhattan water fronts. This boat went to get a cargo of rum from a mother ship and in putting off from the mother ship, Mr. Appleby's agent reported, pulled out a stave from her bow and sank with all men and whisky aboard.

Five men are reported to have been thrown overboard from a runner during a drunken brawl, three lost their lives by falling overboard from small boats and seven went down in various accidents, reported by the prohibition department to have been the result of drunkenness aboard the mother ships and their whelps.

Widows and children of men lost at sea in the rum traffic have telephoned prohibition officers in an effort to locate their loved ones, Mr. Appleby said tonight.

JAPANESE STEAMER CRASHES INTO DOCK

Dec. 20.—The Japanese steamer Kamo Maru, No. 18, westbound from Japan with a cargo for Portland, crashed into the wharf at Fort Stevens, near here, early today after getting out of the channel at the mouth of the Columbia River in a dense fog. Part of the wharf was torn away and the vessel was damaged, but was able to proceed to Astoria under her own steam after being pulled back into the channel by the tug Oneonta.

THE MISTAKES OF THE KAISER--V

BY RENE VIVIANI

Premier of France When the War Broke Out

[Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate]

BISMARCK AND STRENGTHENING OF PRUSSIAN POWER

On the 23rd of September, 1862, King William appointed Bismarck to the presidency of the council. At that time the Prussian government was in open conflict with the Landtag regarding the question of military laws.

The King, as became a worthy scion of the Hohenzollerns, had undertaken to increase the army; he wanted 190,000 men on a peace footing, 450,000 on a war footing likewise an increase of the first-line forces to double their existing strength, for which purpose universal three years' military service, as outlined in the military law of 1814, was to be strictly enforced. These reorganization schemes were not to the liking of the Chamber of Deputies, but nevertheless, in order to allow a restricted enforcement of the royal programs, provisional credits were voted, by means of which the King formed military units of a permanent character. The Chamber, displeased at this, and irritated particularly by the tone adopted by the Minister of War, Gen Von Roon, who denied it the right of discussing the demands made by him, refused, on Sept. 23, 1862, every penny of the credits necessary for carrying out the projected changes.

DICTATORSHIP ADVISED

On the preceding evening Bismarck had a long interview at Babelsberg with the King, who, wearied by his efforts, talked of abdicating. Brushing aside such thoughts, Bismarck advised him to resist; only on condition that the King should follow this advice, added Bismarck, would he accept the post of president of the council.

"Direct parliamentary government," he said, "is to be avoided at any price, even at the price of a dictatorship." Prussia was destined, during four years, to be under the dictatorship of Bismarck.

Bismarck's past vouched for the energy which he would display in the coming struggle. Born of old Brandenburg noble stock, Baron Otto Von Bismarck had distinguished himself since 1847 by his hatred for the parliamentary form of government; in 1849 he was one of those who advised the King not to accept the imperial crown, and, on the occasion of the granting of the Prussian constitution, he protested against the introduction into Prussia of parliamentary institutions and, most especially, against the voting of the budget by the Landtag.

OPPOSED CHAMBER

From the moment of his accession to power he rose superior to the opposition of the Chamber. Unable to secure a vote of appropriations, he invoked the principle of the "constitutional gap"—and, indeed, it was true that the constitution had not made provision for a case where one of the three governing organs—King, House of Lords and Chamber of Deputies—was not in accord with the others. In haughty tones he told the Chamber that, unless there was compromise, "he who has the power in his hands is the one who will go forward in his chosen direction." This maxim of government, expressed n the briefer form of "might comes before right," was to remain the ignominious brand of German policy at the end of the nineteenth century and in 1914.

So Bismarck no longer submitted the budget to the Landtag, which was either adjourned or dissolved. With an unconstitutional budget, voted only by the House of Lords, he bent all his efforts to the reorganization of the army, which, thanks to the military genius of Moltke, was to become the powerful instrument of Bismarck's policy.

By means of force and violence Bismarck was now aiming to realize his one ambition—German unity. Shortly after his assumption of power he thus expressed this object of his to the Budget Commission of the Landtag: "German unity will not be achieved by speeches nor by the decisions of the majority, but by blood and iron." The cult of force, preference for violent means, voluntary violation of faith—belief in all these things was inspired in Bismarck, particularly by the life and actions of Frederick II, whom he was to hold up later as a model for the future William II.

In Bismarck's eyes, Prussia, since the death of the great Fredrick, had not shown real national tendencies; in fact, her destiny, as he saw it, was not so much to grow constantly as to assure herself of predominance in Germany; she must not forget that it was was to the death between herself and Austria, that one of those two must vanish from the German stage.

PLANS AGAINST AUSTRIA

Prussia's duty became clear to Bismarck in the course of his long mission as plenipotentiary representative of his country at the Diet of Frankfort, and he expressed concisely, in a memorial addressed to the King of Prussia in 1858, his ideas as to the necessity of launching a Prussian-Independent-German policy. Austria, he pointed out, was seeking to obtain the hegemony in the German Confederation by invoking the Constitution; it was necessary, therefore, to destroy the Confederation; a victorious war against Austria had become an unavoidable necessity.

For this war the Prussian army was quite ready; but, in addition, the support or neutrality of the great powers had to be secured. Bismarck, who, in the course of his diplomatic missions to Vienna, St. Petersburg and Paris, had had the opportunity of studying monarchs and statesmen and divining the tendencies of governments, was now about to manoeuvre ir such a way as to isolate Austria by means of promises made to Russia, Italy and France.

The method of striking violent blows, adopted and several times defined by him, was to be applied three times in succession, first in 1864, against Denmark; then, in 1866, against Austria; finally, in 1870, against France.

INCREASING DOMINANCE

In 1864, under the pretext of acting, in place of the Diet, against Denmark, which had annexed Slesvig, Prussia and Austria invaded the latter land, and, after a short campaign, peace was signed and the duchies renounced King Christian. Bismarck had occasion, from actual observation of Prussian soldiers in action, to gauge the superiority of his army over the Austrian, and, having set up an Austrian-Prussian joint control over Slesvig and Holstein by means of the Treaty of Gastein, he hoped to find therin some pretext for a war against Austria. Prussia naturally derived profit from the transaction, for she annexed Lauenburg, and, moreover, the three duchies entered the German Zollverein (Customs Union.)

Bismarck's trust in himself increased. Believing, after his interview with Napoleon III, that he could count on French neutrality, and having concluded an alliance with Italy, he brought the Austrian crisis to a head. Holstein, which was under the administration of Austria, was invaded, and a project for the reorganization of the German Confederation, providing for the exclusion of Austria, was brought before the Diet. Austria countered this move by causing the said Diet to issue a decree of mobilization against Prussia.

AUSTRIANS DEFEATED

The Prussian army, however, by means of a crushing offensive, got possession of Saxony, Hanover and Hesse, and, forcing its way into the Bohemian quadrilateral, inflicted an overwhelming defeat on the Austrians, reinforced by the Saxons, at Sadowa, on July 3, 1866, a fortnight after the opening of the campaign. Bismarck's first move was to annex Slesvig, Holstein, Hanover and Hesse, without consulting the inhabitants of these lands, invoking, as his reasons, "the right of conquest" and "the judgment of God." And, when committees from the Landtag asked him if there were no other grounds on which to base his action, he replied: "Our right is the right of the German nation to exist, to breathe, to unite."

FIRE LOSS BLAMED ON CIGARETTE

Burning Butt Dropped into Benzine Tank Causes Paint Store Blaze

A cigarette, shoved through a grating, perhaps with malicious intent, is asserted to have caused a $10,000 fire yesterday in the store of Scriver & Quinn, wholesale and retail paints, 200 South Main street. Fire Chief Scott received painful burns while fighting the fire, and the old cathedral hall of St. Vibiana's Cathedral was damaged by smoke and water.

M. W. Nix, employed in the mixing room of the paint establishment, told the police he saw a cigarette come through the grating of a window on the Second-street side and land in a tank of benzine, which flared up immediately. The mesh of the grating is so small that it would be almost impossible, the police say, for a cigaret to come through it accidentally.

From the benzine tank the fire spread rapidly to cans of alcohol, benzine, turpentine and other inflammable materials. Nix and another employee, J. F. Gilham, tried to put out the fire with hand fire extinguishers but had to flee for their lives before its rapid advance.

Fire Chief Scott stepped through a window into the place just as a blazing can of alcohol exploded and he received the contents in his face. His eyebrows and eyelashes were singed off and his face burned so that he had to be treated at Emergency Hospital. It was not believed there that his eyes had been seriously affected.

There was about $20,000 worth of paint in the building, a good share of which was saved.

SUICIDES SEEK TO COVER ACTS

New Element Enters into Self-Destruction

Insurance Statistician Finds Unusual Features

Civilization is Regarded as Contributing Cause

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Of the more than 15,000 persons who committed suicide in this country last year, a greater number than ever before sought to cast mystery over the manner of their going, declared Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America, in an analysis of suicides in 1921, made public tonight.

"To an increasing extent," said the report, "the facts and circumstances are deliberately confused to make the verdict of 'death from accident' the only alternative. In a majority of cases, however, the surrounding circumstances are suggestive of deliberately planned self-murder. Cases of 'accidental poisoning,' 'accidental falls' and 'accidental shootings' are becoming more prevalent.

"But the most appalling aspect of the present-day suicide problem is the recurring frequency with which others are drawn into the tragedy of murder and under conditions which are frequently revolting."

STATISTICS GIVEN

Dr. Hoffman's report presented tables, based on statistics from ninety-five cities, to show that the suicide rate per 100,000 had increased to 15.7 in 1921, as compared with 12.4 in 1920. It was a fraction higher than the average—12.2—for the five-year period, 1916-1920, but compared favorably with figures for the three preceding five-year periods, which showed rates of 17.6, 19.5 and 20.4, respectively.

San Diego set the high record for 1921, with a suicide rate of 48.7, San Francisco coming second with 37.2, Spokane, Wash., third, with 32.5, and Los Angeles, fourth, with 27.9. Dr. Hoffman hazarded the guess that this was because of the number of health and fortune-seekers who migrate yearly to the west coast, many of whom fail to find what they are seeking.

Two cities in the list reported a zero suicide rate—Massillon, O., and Newport, R. I.

MEN PREFER SHOOTING

The analysis showed that men suicides preferred the shooting and hanging routes, while the greatest percentage of women suicides elected poison and asphyxiation. Almost three times as many men as women ended their own lives, 40.8 per cent of them electing firearms and 17.8 per cent choosing the rope. Only 14.7 per cent of the female suicides shot themselves and 13.4 per cent chose hanging. Poison caused 30.3 per cent of the women suicides and asphyxiation 20.7. Percentages for men by these latter methods were, respectively, 12.5 and 11.1 per cent.

That suicide goes hand in hand with development of civilization was deduced from charts of the Southern States comparing negroes and whites. Negroes were shown to have solved their difficulties by killing their fellow-men in the ratio of 24.8 homicides to 1.9 suicides. Whites in the same States had a homicide-suicide ratio of 11.3 to 16.

GERMANY TO RAISE RATES ON RAILWAYS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—The state railways will introduce new passenger rates on New Year's Day, doubling the third-class fares and tripling the first class. The object is to place the traffic on a paying basis. Traveling in Germany nevertheless remains the cheapest in the world, the third-class fares corresponding to American smoker accommodations, being about one-eighth of a cent per mile.

KOVNO (Lithuania) Dec. 20.—A descendant of the Lithuanian King Gedymin, the Great, has been discovered in a sixty-year-old bank employee here. A royalist party, aiming to re-establish the Lithuanian kingdom in place of the republic, is forming around him.

ROBBED OF DIAMOND IN HIS ROOMS

Hold-up Men Leave Victim Dazed and Mingle With Teachers

Two hold-up men robbed Robertson J. Fisher, president of the Clayton Laboratories, Inc., of a $1200 diamond yesterday in his rooms on the thirteenth floor of the Bible Institute and escaped by mingling with a crowd of 4000 teachers assembled on the eighth floor to attend the teachers' institute.

The men called early and told the office clerk on the ground floor they wanted to talk to Mr. Fisher about some oil stock. The clerk telephoned to Fisher's room and was directed to send them up. Fisher was just dressing and donned a bathrobe to talk to them.

One of the pair produced some papers for Fisher's inspection and while Fisher was looking them over the other struck him on the head with the butt of a pistol, knocking him down. The men then helped themselves to his diamond tie pin and left.

They went down the stairs, passing on the eleventh floor Fred Carlson, a window cleaner, who wondered at their hurry, but did not attempt to stop them. The eighth floor contains the auditorium where the teachers' meeting is being held and it is believed they mingled with the crowd there and so got away.

OIL STATION IS ROBBED BY BANDIT

Collector and Attendants Line Up While Solitary Robber Takes Cash

A lone bandit collected $300 at the point of a gun in the middle of the afternoon yesterday at the Standard Oil Company's gasoline station at Main and Adams streets. Attendants got the license number of the car he was driving, but it is said to be registered for another make of car.

P. Thadaker, a collector for the company, was in the station taking over the receipts from William Hennesy and J. W. Turney, the attendants, when an autoist drove up and demanded a quart of oil. Hennesy turned to get it as the autoist got out of his car and entered the door. He produced a pistol, ordered "hands up" and told the three to line up. Then he demanded and was given the cash which Thadaker had just placed in his collector's bag.

The police are seeking to trace the car. The robber was described as 24 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, about 145 pounds in weight, and with two weeks' growth of beard.

Rebel Hostages Imperiled by Dublin Murder

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—Murder is still on the program of the Irish Republican irregulars. James O'Dwyer, former member of the Dail Eireann, and prominent advocate of the Free State treaty, was assassinated here today. A party of the irregulars entered his store, fired several volleys into his body and escaped.

In case the Free State authorities carry out their threat, four rebels, who are being held as hostages, will be executed forthwith.

The four were convicted of possessing arms and sentenced to death. The extreme penalty was suspended on condition that the rebels commit no more outrages against the government.

Murderers and Burglars Get Holiday Clemency

Slayer of Bank Cashier is Among Favored

Commutation of Sentence for Chinese Killers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—Christmas presents in the form of executive clemency were given to twelve California convicts today by Gov. Stephens. Among those to receive commutations of sentence were Lee Yick and Wong Toy, Fresno Chinese, who had been sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison next February. Their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment.

Emerson B. Hartman, who left the naval vessel on which he was serving as a hospital nurse in 1916, and went to Stockton and shot and killed John C. Duhaine, because of the complaints of his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Stephens, had his sentence commuted to fifteen years. He originally had been sentenced to life imprisonment at San Quentin.

Paul Case, who with a companion shot and killed the cashier of a bank at Blythe, Riverside county, during an attempted robbery and was given a life sentence at San Quentin prison, had his sentence commuted to twenty years.

The life sentence of Ammon O. Fowler, who killed his brother-in-law, Al Duree, in San Joaquin county, was commuted to twenty-five years. He was sent to Folsom prison.

The life sentence of Samuel L. Lewis, Los Angeles negro, who shot and killed his wife, while he was endeavoring to get her to leave a questionable place, was commuted to twenty years.

John Chimes, who shot another man in a row over damages to an automobile, and was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, had his two years sentence commuted, effective immediately.

John Bogden, convicted of the burglary of a Yolo county grocery store sentenced to ten years at San Quentin, and afterward sentenced for escaping from the prison, had his sentence commuted to ten years. He was sent to San Quentin in 1914.

Robert R. Bell, who pleaded guilty in Tulare county to a charge of having passed bad checks, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in San Quentin and paroled January 21, last. He was pardoned today.

J. M. Flowers, aged promoter of Los Angeles county, who was convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses, was pardoned. He had been sentenced to two years at San Quentin.

FOR 59 YEARS TAUGHT; DIES, 82

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 20.—Miss Christina McConnell, who for fifty-nine years was a teacher in public schools, died here today at the age of eighty-two, after a brief illness. For forty-two years she had been in the Portland schools. She was a member of the faculty of the Lincoln High School from the time it was organized until she retired about a year ago.

HOME FOR AGED WILL BE BUILT

Christian Church to Start Work on Institution Near Pasadena

Construction on one of the largest and most complete homes for the aged in California, to be built on ten acres of land recently purchased on Santa Anita boulevard, one-half mile north of Lamanda Park, will start after the first of the new year, it is announced. The home, estimated to cost from $200,000 to $300,000, will be supported and conducted as one of the national philanthropic institutions of the Christian Church. The site of the home, bought from H. J. Carlisle for $25,000, is on the east side of Santa Anita Boulevard at the foot of Villa street, and adjoins the Hahn ranch on the south. The Sierra Madre car line passes the property.

The Massie home for the aged in Long Beach will be abandoned as soon as adequate housing facilities for its twenty inmates have been provided at the new home.

Pardon Granted Head Trusty in County Prison

Emil Spitzer, serving a sentence for bigamy and a model prisoner at the County Jail, has been pardoned by Gov. Stephens, his attorney, John L. Richardson, received word yesterday. Mr. Richardson said the papers he presented to the Governor proved that Spitzer never should have been convicted.

Spitzer married Mary Truell Spitzer in 1905 and she left him soon after. When he had not heard from her nor seen her in seven years, he thought he had a right to marry, and indeed said he had been told by an attorney he consulted that such was the case. Mr. Richardson came into the case after his conviction.

Spitzer had turned over all his money and property to his two wives, the Governor was told, and arranged to pay the first $10 a week for life, although she had divorced him. Spitzer has been in jail eighteen months and has been head trusty for some time.

NEW RULING MAKES THIS ENTRY PORT

Immigration Bureau Action Has Important Bearing on Los Angeles

The long-sought new arrangement in the management of the Southern California immigration service—the elevation of Los Angeles into a separate immigration district—has been officially accomplished, according to an announcement received by Alfred E. Burnett, inspector in charge in this city yesterday.

The Departments of Labor and Immigration, has redistricted the United States, the changes taking effect Jan. 1, 1923, and thirty-four immigration districts have been made, instead of twenty-five.

What is known as the Mexican Border District, running from the Pacific Ocean eastward to the Gulf of Mexico, is made into three districts, instead of one, as it has stood for the past twelve years. One of these will be the Los Angeles district.

This change will be of the greatest importance to Los Angeles, as the immigration inspector in charge here will do business direct with Washington instead of sending daily reports of the doings of the office to El Paso.

It also means that Los Angeles will be made a regularly constituted immigration port of entry, and the occupancy of the building at San Pedro, that has just been completed by the Chamber of Commerce and turned over to the government.

The new inspector in charge, Alfred E. Burnett, has been in charge of the Los Angeles office for the past four years, succeeding Capt. C. T. Connell.

Noted Boniface of Monte Carlo Seeks His Son

Santa Claus started search yesterday for Rey Cremona, 18-year-old son of Arthur H. Cremona, hotel man of international repute, and well-known as one-time matre d'hotel of the Maryland, Green and Huntington hotels in Pasadena.

Young Cremona, who returned to Los Angeles two years ago to study the hotel business, is believed to be "hopping bells" to serve his ambition. The last report of him was from the Rosslyn, where it was said he served as a page boy about a year ago.

The father is now the owner of a large hotel in Monte Carlo, and has had no word of his son for ten months. He is desirous of taking the boy under his own wing now, according to H. J. Von Praag, director of the ensemble at the Maryland in Pasadena.

Von Praag was associated with Cremona for twenty-five years, in which time Cremona opened the Ambassador in New York and was connected with the Ramonas in London and the Knickerbocker in New York.

Officer Badly Hurt in Crash into Auto Truck

Crashing at high speed into the rear of a truck, Motorcycle Officer James E. Clementine was probably mortally injured yesterday at Kingsley Drive and Santa Monica Boulevard. Clementine's skull was fractured at the base.

After emergency treatment by Dr. S. R. Broadbent at Hollywood Community Hospital, Clementine was taken to the Receiving Hospital and later transferred to White Memorial Hospital.

The truck was driven, the police say, by W. E. Gorley of 2739 Eagle street. Gorley was not held, as the police say the accident was unavoidable on his part.

Weak Lungs

Those who have weak lungs can not be too careful about taking cold, as unless promptly treated, pneumonia may follow. As a prompt cure for bad colds no one could wish for a beter medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The success that has attended the use of this preparation, not only throughout the United States, but in many foreign countries, shows that it is a remedy that can be relied upon. It is pleasant and safe to take and only costs 35 cents; large size 60 cents.—[Advertisement.

MURDER STORY REVEALED HERE

Arkansas Man and Woman Leave for South

Nephew of Dead Recluse Said to Have Confessed

Tale of Attack and Robbery Told by Sheriff

What was said to be the real story of the murder of David Hawes, aged miser, at Bradford, Ark., on the 1st inst., was told here yesterday by Sheriff Ben Allen of White county, Ark., when he started back with Mrs. Freda Boone and Floyd Reynolds, prisoners taken here in connection with the case.

The Sheriff said he had the written confession of William Mayhew, under arrest at Bradford, which declared he had planned the robbery of the old man with Reynolds and shifting the blame for its tragic outcome on Reynolds's shoulders.

Hawes, a fur trapper and recluse, was generally supposed to have about $5000 about his person, as it was known he did not believe in banks, according to the Sheriff.

TRIED TO BORROW

On the night of the murder Reynolds, who was the old man's nephew, persuaded him to visit the house where he tried to borrow money for a projected trip, according to Mayhew's confession, the Sheriff said. The old man refused and Reynolds offered to accompany him home, according to the Sheriff.

When they reached a dark corner, the confession went on, according to the Sheriff, Mayhew jumped out and struck Hewes with a club. The two are asserted then to have robbed him of $1500 which he had in a package tied about his neck.

Mayhew said he suggested leaving the old man unconscious, but Reynolds objected that he would be suspected, and picking up a large rock smashed the old man's skull, it is asserted.

BODY HIDDEN

The two men, it is said, then carried the body a mile and hid it under some brush beside a large log. They then divided the plunder and separated, it is related.

Reynolds then is asserted to have persuaded Mrs. Boone to leave her husband and three children and come to Los Angeles with him. Mrs. Boone is not the divorced wife of a Little Rock detective, the Sheriff declared, as she told the police at the time of her arrest, but the wife of a Bradford man. The charge against her is accessory after the fact to robbery.

Sheriff Allen says Hawes, who was 75 years old, was held up and robbed of $3600 a year ago by two young men, who were afterward captured and sent to prison.

CAPTAIN OF STEAMSHIP FALLS DEAD

Hobart Krist, Master of Elcicuta, is Stricken on Street Car

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—Capt. Hobart Krist, master of the steamship Elcicuta, now in dry dock at Los Angeles Harbor, was stricken by heart disease while on a street car here late today and died within a few minutes in a drug store at Third and Pine streets, where he was taken by the car crew.

Capt. Krist was 33 years old. He lived at 411 East Fourth street. Late today he boarded a street car to go to his home and after riding a few blocks he fell to the floor of the car in a faint. The body was removed to a local mortuary.

The body of William E. Dixon, 64 years old, a blind man, was found by police late today in his cottage at 364 Redondo avenue. Health Officer McDonald stated that the man had been dead for four days. Death was the result of a hemorrhage, the physician said. Dixon was a pioneer resident of this city.

His sister, living in San Luis Obispo, has been notified.

Holiday Spirit to Prevail in Sunday Concert

The Christmas spirit will pervade the program offered at Grauman's Sunday morning "Discovery" concert, and famous Yuletide melodies, that have been inspired by this greatest of all festivals, will be featured.

An eight-minute talk by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher on the relationship between religion and music will open the program. This will be followed by Mme. De Sadowska-Pittard, Russian pianist, whose ability has been recognized in the music centers of Europe.

Several of Henry Murtagh's organ solos will have special settings and as an added attraction, during his rendition of "The Holy City," he will be accompanied by a woman singer.

Ten choir boy virtuosos, with two harpists, playing Schubert's "Ave Maria," duet by Jeanette Rogers, flute, and G. Coleneus, trumpet, G. Ferri in an English horn solo and a dance by Dollie Caillet, will be other numbers.

Grauman's Symphony orchestra, under the baton of Marcelli, will offer the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria," this being Marcelli's own arrangement and will serve as a finale for the concert.

For Indigestion and Constipation
There may be people in this vicinity who are afflicted with indigestion and constipation, and if so, they will be interested in the experience of Mrs. H. C. Getty, Indiana, Pa. When visiting in Mt. Jewitt, Pa., Mrs. Getty was advised to try Chamberlain's Tablets for indigestion and constipation, and says: "This medicine not only cured me, but toned up my whole system, so that my health has been better than for years, since taking it."—[Advertisement.

IMPEACHMENT CASE CLOSING

Charges Against Daugherty Thoroughly Sifted

Justice Department Men Called to Stand

Report Will be Presented After Holidays

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Public hearings on the impeachment charges brought against Atty.-Gen. Daugherty probably will end tomorrow before the House Judiciary Committee, which is expected to report to the House that it found no evidence on which to base an impeachment proceeding. The report will not be made, however, until after the Christmas holidays because of the absence of members from Washington.

When the committee adjourned tonight after two long sessions there remained to be heard only half a dozen witnesses. These are officials of the Department of Justice, who will be questioned concerning charges in the specifications drawn by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, which had not been touched upon at the time Mr. Keller withdrew from the case.

Examination of the department officers began today over the protest of several committeemen, who insisted that the Attorney-General should not be asked to offer witnesses to testify concerning charges in support of which no evidence had been presented. Chairman Volstead insisted, however, that the committee ought to go into all of the charges in an effort to satisfy itself as far as might be possible as to whether there was a basis for them.

Before this line of inquiry was opened Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, laid before the committee evidence which he contended showed "unnecessary delay" by the Department of Justice in bringing suit against the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation for the recovery of $3,601,715, growing out of asserted overpayment of war claims. Asst. Atty.-Gen. Seymour announced that suit for the recovery of this amount soon was to be filed and Col. Guy S. Goff, former assistant Attorney-General, who has had charge of the case, denied the charge of unnecessary delay.

TIDAL WAVE SEEN FROM AIRPLANE

Army Officer Searching for Lost Flyers Reports Spectacular Sight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 20.—A ten-foot tidal wave sweeping up the mouth of the Colorado River from the Gulf of California was witnessed by Maj. Theodore McAuley while engaged in the search for the missing aviator, Lieut. Charles Weber, and his passenger, Col. Francis Marshall. Maj. McAuley reported upon his arrival here today.

Thousands of pelicans hovered over the wave, Maj. McAuley said, getting their fill of fish that were being swept along with the rush of water. He declared it was the most spectacular sight he ever had witnessed in his career as an aviator.

Maj. McAuley thoroughly explored the country south of the Cocoa Pass to La Bomba, and along the Sonora and Lower California shores of the Gulf. He said he questioned Indians and Mexicans, but none had seen an airplane on December 7, the day that the two Army officers dropped from sight.

A troop of the Eleventh Cavalry, from Camp Hearn, near here, left this morning for a reconnaissance of the Cuyamaca and Jacumba Mountains in this county, working on the theory that Lieut. Weber's plane may have crashed before getting over the first range of mountains.

Drug Stores at Long Beach on Bandits' List

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—Two bandits who held up and robbed two drug stores here tonight got only $23 from both places, the proprietors in each case having put their day's receipts in a safe before the bandits arrived.

The drug store of Dr. H. W. Chittenden at Redondo avenue and Anaheim Boulevard was visited first. The store is also a substation postoffice, and Dr. Chittenden had just placed $400 postal receipts in his safe when the men entered. They produced revolvers, ordered the doctor to hold up his hands, and while one took $20 from the cash register the other went to the door and acted as lookout.

The men demanded that Dr. Chittenden open the safe, but he refused and they did not force the issue.

Leaving, the men went next to a drug store at Broadway and Gaviota avenue, operated by W. B. Webster. The cash register held only $3 in change. Webster having previously placed $100 in his safe. He refused to open the safe when they ordered him to.

Descriptions given by the two druggists and by Douglas Starr, 2404 Grant avenue, who was in the Chittenden store, tally. Every available police officer was used in a search for the two bandits.

Pair Arrested With Arsenal in Their Car

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—Local police today continued their investigation into the activities of Carmini Biocca and Gordon W. Patterson, local oil workers, following their arrest Monday night, when a small arsenal was found in Patterson's car. The men were taken into custody after midnight Monday after Special Officers Harris and Lucken found them in a residential section of the city.

The pair were turned over to Los Angeles police officers yesterday and the latter are conducting an investigation in an effort to connect the pair with at least one of a series of bank hold-ups of the past few days.

Several revolvers, a shotgun and a carbine, together with several hundred rounds of ammunition, masks and a black bag, such as is carried by bank messengers, were among the things in Patterson's car, the police say.

WASHINGTON, dbre. 20.—El proyecto de ley de subsidio a barcos tiene ahora en contra "filibusterismo dentro de filibusterismo," y se le esperan aún otras tácticas obstructoras. El Senador Norris, en caso de que fracase su moción pendiente de desalojar el proyecto de ley de subsidios con el suyo en favor de créditos rurales, va a proponer que se estudie su propuesta enmienda constitucional al inaugurarse el nuevo congreso, inmediatamente después de las elecciones.

Crece en intensidad entre los senadores la exigencia de que se retiren las tropas americanas de Alemania.

Chicago y muchas otras ciudades se están ofreciendo para la carrera de la copa Pulitzer el año entrante. La elección se dejará en manos de subcomité nombrado por la Sociedad Nacional de Aeronáutica.

Ha sido recomendado por Gray Silver, de la Federación Americana de Oficinas Agrícolas, ante la Comisión del Senado de Banca y Moneda, la creación de una Dirección de Créditos Intermediaria Independiente.

Se ha aplazado para después de las fiestas la resolución final sobre la proposición de enmendar la constitución en el sentido de prohibir en lo futuro que se expidan valores exentos de impuestos.

DENVER (Colorado) dbre. 20. Después de haber seguido sin resultado incontables hilos, y a las 48 horas de haberse practicado el robo de $200,000 a empleados de banco federal de reserva, se halla la policía en cabal ignorancia acerca de la identidad de los ladrones. Cuando el auto de éstos echó a correr por la Avenida Colfax, luego de perpetrado el robo y el asesinato de Charles Linton, guarda del banco federal de reserva, desapareció de un modo absoluto; por lo menos, ninguna noticia oficial se tiene de él.

Registro en la Casa de los Bandidos

Anoche estaban practicando los tenientes sheriffs que desorganizaron en estos días y aprehendieron a una de las cuadrillas de bandidos más activas del Sudoeste, un registro en busca de más botín, que se cree cayó en manos de los bandidos cinematográficos de Piru. Dicho registro tenía lugar en la casa de Henry Loggins, en Sherman. Este individuo es uno de los cinco que se hallan en la Cárcel del Condado. Después de interrogarle en el día, los tenientes se dirigieron rápidamente a la casa de Loggins, para ver si podían recoger los productos de otros robos y atrevidos atracos, en los que se cree han estado implicados estos sospechosos.

DEPORTES

Balompié

El equipo de balompié de Virginia Occidental va a llegar a Los Angeles con retraso de un día, debido a que llegó a Chicago media hora después de la partida del tren a que debía haberse trasbordado. Esto originó un gran retardo en el viaje del equipo.

El equipo de balompié de Gonzaga arribará aquí hoy en la mañana, yéndose enseguida a la Universidad de Sudcalifornia, donde se dedicará a entrenarse. Están los bulldogs en gran forma y con un poco de ejercicio en el campo troyano, quedarán como nuevas para su combate en San Diego.

Yates

Iowa va a enviar a las regatas de Nueva Orleans uno de los más rápidos botes del país. Se llama el Ethel XI, y se espera haga gran papel en las pruebas de la ciudad suriana.

Los dos barcos rápidos de Gar Wood han llegado al Puerto, y créese que dentro de uno o dos días serán desembalados y puestos en el agua para recibir su primer baño en el Océano Pacífico. Estas dos embarcaciones son las piezas mecánicas más veloces que habrá a flote, y cuando corran con los botes de aquí poco después del primero del año, en el Puerto, los espectadores pueden tener por segura una carrera vertiginosa.

Baseball

Red Oldham, an tirador de los Tigres de Detroit, organizará un equipo de baseball para competir con los White Sox de Los Angeles y con los All-Stars (Todos Estrellas) de Pirrone. Lo probable es que el nuevo equipo resulte una verdadera tromba, y los de aquí van a verse en trapos de jueringa para ponerse encima de ese grupo. Como quiera que sea, vamos a ver buenos partidos los aficionados de Los Angeles.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS PRAISED

National Educator Asserts California System Is Best In Country

California has the best public school system in the United States, according to Dr. H. R. Bonner, research director of the United States Bureau of Education, who spoke last night before more than 1000 teachers assembled in the auditorium of the Bible Institute for the initial program in the twenty-fifth annual session of the California Teacher's Association, southern section.

The State leads in five of the fifty points by which the ratings of the various States were determined; in attendance of kindergartens, evening schools, high schools, in the amount of salary paid to high school teachers and in the number of four-year high schools in the State. These facts were determined in 1920 and are based upon proportionate population.

Dr. Bonner asserts that if his points are at all indicative, the educational center of the nation has shifted to the Pacific Coast. Washington is second among the States. It was further asserted by Dr. Bonner that the nation was expanding $6,000,000 a day in 1920 on its public schools.

This meeting of the Teachers' Association was the first of the general session which began here yesterday and will extend through tomorrow. George C. Bush, superintendent of the city schools in South Pasadena, and president of the association, presided. Several musical numbers were given by the orchestra of the Huntington Park Union High School and the invocation was delivered by Rev. T. C. Horton, superintendent of the Bible Institute.

Beside the lecture by Dr. Bonner on "California's Place in Education," there was a concluding address by James W. Foley of Pasadena. The next meeting of the association will be tomorrow evening in the same auditorium at 8 o'clock.

ANTHONY WENT BACK, THEN GOT ARRESTED

Had Anthony Antusak been satisfied with $50 he is asserted to have obtained by forging the name of Harry K. Ridinger, he might have escaped arrest. But when he reappeared a few minutes later at the paying teller's window of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank with another check bearing Ridinger's apparent signature, this time for $40, the paying teller because suspicious and detained him, while he compared the signatures more closely.

Justice Dowds held Antusak to answer yesterday on a charge of forgery, fixing $2500 bail.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Christmas Dinners Will Cost Less This Year.

Turkeys and Flour Lead the Downward Trend

Coffee Topers Send Market Up; Bond Sale

Christmas dinners in Los Angeles will actually cost less this year than last season, despite the prevalent belief that retail prices are considerably higher than the 1921 levels. The turkey, the cranberries, and the flour used in the preparation of various Christmas delicacies all indicate important declines from December, 1921. For the entire list of commodities appearing in the subjoined weighted table, the prices as quoted by Sam Seelig Company, retail grocers, show a loss from 1921 to .04 per cent.

The result of this compilation of retail price data dispels any illusions that Los Angeles consumers are paying more for staple food articles. While wholesale prices have shown a tendency toward advances retailers as a whole have been reluctant to increase their quotations. According to Edward Dale, vice-president of the Sam Seelig Company, there is no expectation of rising prices until the new crops are harvested next spring, and so, for the present, the consumer can safely purchase in quantities for anticipated needs.

Raisins, nuts, candy, asparagus and canned peas for salads are being purchased in considerable volume by the Christmas buyers. These articles are, as a group, selling lower than last year.

In the weighted table, which is constructed on the basis of the average amount of goods purchased per person, a one-quarter barrel of flour has dropped 14 cents. A ten-pound turkey is selling at a price 80 cents less than in the Christmas season of last year and a two-pound purchase of cranberries is 5 cents lower. Ten pounds of sugar costs 20 cents more than in December of last year, the same amount of potatoes has increased 5 cents in price, while five pounds of beans now sells for 33 cents, a decrease of 4 cents.

No changes have occurred in the price of canned tomatoes, corn and milk.

Sensible buying is characterising the Christmas trade, according to retailers. Consumers seem to be in a better purchasing position, and are demanding quality rather than the cheaper grades that were sold last year.

COFFEE ADVANCES

Wholesalers of coffee in Los Angeles are announcing an increase in price to retailers of 3 cents a pound on high grades and 4 to 5 cents a pounds on cheaper brands. Quotations on all grades now range from 25 to 38 cents a pound wholesale.

The advances are caused, according to dealers, by a shortage in the Brazilian crop and increased consumption due to prohibition. Prices have been creeping upward for about a year, but the present advance is the first of importance to be passed on to the retailers. The growth in the number of coffee drinkers is the principal reason for the strength in quotations, and it has caused serious strain on the coffee-producing countries of the world.

MUNICIPAL BONDS

Two Burbank municipal bond issues were purchased yesterday by the State Bank of Burbank against competitive bidding from several Los Angeles investment firms. A premium of $3755 was paid for $50,000 Burbank Water Improvement 6 per cent bonds, maturing $2000 yearly from 1923 to 1951. Other bidders were Blyth, Witter & Co., $517; California Company, $302, and William R. Staats & Co., $214. The premium paid on $25,000, 6 per cent sewer improve-

DAILY TRADE TALK

Weather Favors Record Christmas Trade; New Security Company Formed; Citrus Outlook

BY CHAPIN HALL

Remarkably fine, if somewhat unseasonable, weather is having a tonic effect upon Christmas trade, which continues to break records with each day's business. The larger retail establishments are utilizing the services of all the extra salespeople they can secure or place advantageously, while the delivery departments are struggling along manfully under an avalanche of packages. For the remainder of the week trucks will be kept on the road almost day and night. This situation is more acute because of the tendency on the part of the public to invest in gifts of greater bulk than usual, furniture, musical instruments, etc. That the heavy Christmas trade is not peculiar to Los Angeles is evident from the trainloads of mail and express arriving daily from the East, and which is giving the postal authorities an anxious time. Bank clearings continue to attain new peaks almost every day.

With the cumulative activity of this trade about to reach its pinnacle, it is not surprising that the investment market is more or less submerged, and nothing of a startling nature may be looked for in this direction for the remainder of the year. It is a period of rest and relaxation of stock taking and of preparation for the activities which will follow the advent of the New Year. So that for the time being general returns based upon commerce, mining, manufacturing, etc., are little better than the average.

In its current financial review, Moody's Investors' Service says that bonds thus far have been acting stronger than stocks whenever the latter were weak, but heavier whenever stocks were strong. Otherwise expressed, the bond market has merely shown a tendency to come to a standstill, while stock prices have varied in both directions. Thus the action of bond prices is mostly without significance. Typical bonds are not showing strength enough to foreshadow any immediate rise, or heaviness enough to suggest any early resumption of the downward trend. Stocks have already recovered about 5¼ points from the lowest of November, and are now showing an inclination to become dull. It looks as though both markets might rest or rally moderately while waiting for investors to finish a sort of a reappraisal of the business outlook. Investors are giving much attention to stabilizing their list of holdings.

With a reduced general level of activity we face the closing week of the year, a period necessarily devoted to general readjustments growing out of government transactions and operations dependent thereupon. The recent liquidation has given the market a better foundation, and the undercurrent of confidence which is manifesting itself will prove a factor, after the holiday hiatus, in restoring activity.

SECURITY COMPANY

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the Secretary of State at Sacramento for the Security Company, an organization which is to be subsidiary to the Security Trust and Savings Bank and which will exercise the functions of a holding company and engage in business allied to the general banking activities carried on by the parent stem. The board of directors will include J. F. Sartori, president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank; M. S. Hellman, M. N. Avery, W. D. Longyear, Charles H. Toll, R. B. Hardacre, G. M. Wallace, J. E. Shelton, J. T. Cooper, W. L. Valentine, W. J. Washburn. These gentlemen, with the exception of President Sartori and Mr. Valentine and Mr. Washburn, are now vice-presidents of the bank. An organization meeting will be held in a few days.

MARKET REVIEWS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The more noteworthy incidents in today's markets were the recovery in foreign exchange rates after early weakness, resumption of the recent advance in Liberty bonds and the reaching by wheat of another new high price for the season, $1.28⅛ per bushel—which, however, was not maintained. Most of the markets reflected the backing and filling of speculators not very sure of their position. This was particularly true of the stock market, which ended with a wholly irregular and conflicting series of net changes, after a day of alternate bidding up and driving down of prices by groups of professional operators.

In the early hours railway shares were especially strong. Actual news cuts little or no figure in such a market as now prevails and the "car loading returns" were not published until after the close of business. They cover the week ending December 9. Because of the occurrence of the Thanksgiving holiday in a different week this year from the two preceding years, this is the first statement since the middle of November, which admits of fair comparison. With that fact in mind, it is interesting to learn that the week's loadings not only ran beyond 1921 by 178,000 cars or 24 per cent, but were larger than in any previous year. Loadings of general merchandise were 81,180 cars above the same week in 1920.

Sterling at one time today declined to $4.60, a reaction of 9 cents from the high point of a week ago, but strong buying at that rate drove the price back to $4.63. The franc and lira moved similarly, though they did not, like sterling, end at a higher figure than the day before.

Today's census estimate on cotton ginnings threw no great light on the question of total yields, except that it did not point to any excess over the Agricultural Department's recent estimate. That estimate was for 9,964,000 bales, the smallest in twenty years, except for last year's crop. There is now shown to have been ginned this season up to the 13th inst. 9,493,296 bales, leaving 470,000 to be turned out if the department's estimate was exact. In the remaining ginning period last year only 123,000 bales were accounted for. The year before the figure was 1,430,000 bales, but that was a 13,374,000-bale crop. Furthermore, the ginnings in the first half of the present month were only 174,000, as against 458,000 in the preceding fortnight, and 151,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—The steel industry was the center of today's business news. The announcement of another merger was in line with the trend toward more economic operation, while the mid-week trade reviews presented an optimistic picture of the industry as a whole.

The directors of the Brier Hill Steel Company approved the plan to sell the properties to the Youngstown Steel and Tube Company. The consolidation is to be effected by the exchange of one share of sheet and tube common stock for four shares of Brier Hill common, while the $5,000,000 Brier Hill preferred stock either will be retired at 150 or exchanged for Sheet and Tube preferred stock on a share for share basis. The merger will constitute the largest independent steel concern in the country, with the exception of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. It will have a pig iron capacity of 1,350,000 tons annually and a steel production of 2,200,000 tons. Its book value will be approximately $180,000,000.

"Greater activity than had been expected of December marks the steel trade in all leading centers," the Iron Age says. "The slowing down commonly looked for in the last third of the month will be less than in any year since 1917. Producers look with increased confidence to a large operation of their plants in the first quarter of the new year."

"More general strength is displayed in the iron and steel situation than at any time in several months," the Iron Trade Review says. "This is due largely to heavy accumulation of orders for future delivery."

Another move in the direction of longer-term credits for agriculturalists was made by the Federal Reserve board today. Bankers' acceptances of six months' maturity, instead of three months as at present, drawn by growers of staple agricultural products or co-operative marketing associations were made eligible for purchase and rediscount by the Federal Reserve banks.

This change should be of material assistance in financing orderly marketing of crops. The longer credit had been asked by many farmer organizations as being more nearly in accord with the turnover period required by the farmer to market crops for the production of which he borrows money.

SAFETY

THE first consideration in the selection of a security should always be the absolute safety of the invested funds. No matter how attractive the other features, the sacrifice of safety is never wise nor profitable in the long run.

Sound security, ample earnings and competent management are the earmarks of the safe investment. But even more important to most investors is the recommendation of the experienced bond dealer whose sound judgment he has come to trust.

Appreciating this responsibility, we make safety the prime essential of every security we offer our clients.

CLEVELAND STOCK EXCHANGES

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The confusing movement of prices in today's stock market reflected the speculative uncertainty over the ultimate trend, trading again being largely a professional affair. Speculators for the advance took the railroad shares in hand shortly after the opening and appeared to be making good progress when short pressure was directed against some of the steels, equipments and other speculative favorites, the market thereafter exhibiting marked irregularity. Conspicuous strength was shown during the session by California Petroleum, which made an extreme gain of more than 8 points on publication of November production figures showing that California wells turned out a record output of 14,035,537 barrels. Pan-American A and B showed net advances of 1 7-8 and 7-8, respectively, and Standard Oil of California gained 3 points. Mexican Petroleum climbed 7 points to 258, another new high record.

Steel shares failed to respond to the optimistic tone of the weekly trade reviews, which indicated unusual year-end activity, with prospects for a continuance of a high production rate into the early months of next year. U. S. Steel dropped below 106 for a net loss of 5-8, Midvale dropped 7-8 and Republic 1. Bethlehem B yielded 3 points and came within 5 points of the year's low, selling of this issue being influenced by the publication of unofficial reports showing that the earnings this year will not cover any part of the common dividends. Crucible dropped 3 1-8.

Baldwin, which led the advance yesterday with a net gain of more than 4 points, forfeited 2 1-4 points today. Other equipments also were under pressure, losses of 1 to 3 points being recorded by Pullman, American Locomotive and General Electric.

Railroad stocks generally failed to hold their early gains, although Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific, Illinois Central and Delaware and Hudson closed 1 to 2 points higher. Ten shares of Michigan Central changed hands at 210, up 40 from the previous sale. Reading was up over a point at one time but closed at a slight fractional loss.

Copper shares made no response to another increase in the price of the red metal bringing it to 13 3-4 cents a pound, the recent strength of these issues apparently having discontinued this action. Anaconda, Kennecott, Inspiration, Cerro de Pasco and Chile all showed small fractional losses, directors of the last named meeting today but taking no dividend action.

Speculative belief that the directors of the International Mercantile Marine Company will either omit or delay action on the preferred dividend at tomorrow's meeting was reflected in a 2½-point drop in that stock. Some of the other noticeable weak spots were Allied Chemical, Brooklyn Edison, National Lead, United Fruit and Standard Oil of New Jersey, the old stock off 3 to 4 1-4 points, and Porto Rican tobacco off 7.

Call money opened at 4 3-4, eased off to 4½ and then to 4, where it closed. Time money continued to be quoted at 4 3-4 bid and 5 per cent offered, some sixty and ninety day loans being made at 4 7-8 per cent. Commercial paper trading continued quiet with little new paper coming into the market.

Foreign exchanges were weak at the opening of business that recovered somewhat later. Demand sterling as quoted around $4.62 5-8 and French francs at 7.42. Holland and Denmark remittances dropped about 22 points each. Silver exchanges showed a firmer tone. The Canadian dollar was at a discount of 7-8 of 1 per cent. Great Britain demand advanced to 4.62 5-8; cables 4.62 7-8; 60 day bills on banks 4.60 3-8 in the later dealings.

Day's total sales 865,000 shares. Twenty industrials averaged 97.21; (a) net loss .32. High, 1922, 103.43; low, 78.59.

Twenty railroads averaged 84.22; net loss .24. High, 1922, 93.99. Low, 73.43. (a) extra dividend .11.

BANK OF AMERICA, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE

A letter from the Vice-President of the Company is summarized as follows:

BUSINESS: The United Electric Coal Companies was formed in 1921 to succeed to the ownership of the bituminous coal properties in Vermilion County, Illinois, and in Jefferson County, Ohio, formerly operated as the Electric Coal Company, and by Hartshorn Brothers, F. E. Butcher and associates. The Company serves many important railroads and public utilities, and by reason of its proximity to Chicago, and because of the fact that a large part of its mining operations is carried on by stripping (surface mining), the Company is able to produce its product at a very low cost and dispose of it with comparative ease.

PROPERTY: In addition to the 4612 acres of coal land previously controlled, of which the 1262 acres held in fee are estimated to contain 8,000,000 tons, the Company has acquired through this financing additional properties estimated to contain in excess of 3,500,000 tons of recoverable strip coal and approximately 1,000,000 tons of deep coal. The company also has under option large additional acreage of deep coal. No value has been placed upon this reserve.

SECURITY: These Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct first mortgage on all the fixed assets of the Company now owned or to be hereafter acquired.

VALUE OF PROPERTY: The coal properties acquired when the Company was formed were appraised by Mr. Axel O. Ihlseng in May, 1921, at in excess of $4,000,000. The properties recently acquired have been appraised by Mr. Edward V. d'Envilliers at in excess of $900,000.

EARNINGS: Average earnings for the six years ended December 31, 1922 (December, 1922, estimated) were equivalent to $846,712 per annum, or over 7.33 times interest charges on this issue. For the year 1922 (December estimated) earnings are equivalent to $855,134, or more than 7.40 times these charges, in spite of the fact that the mines were idle for over four months, owing to the bituminous coal strike.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds will be used to retire the Company's outstanding 8% Bonds, to acquire the additional coal properties and for general corporate purposes.

SINKING FUND: A sinking fund of $20,000 per month, begining July 1, 1923, and in addition, 20 cents per ton on all strip coal mined in excess of 50,000 tons per month, and 10 cents per ton on all shaft coal mined in excess of 25,000 tons per month, will be used to purchase bonds of this issue up to the redemption price, or if not so obtainable, to call bonds at that price.

Legal details in connection with this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Beekman, Menken & Griscom of New York for the Bankers, and by Messrs. Green and Hurd, of New York, for the Company. Appraisals of the properties have been made by Mr. Edward V. d'Envilliers and by Mr. Axel O. Ihlseng. The accounts of the Company have been audited by Messrs. Arthur Young & Co., and Patterson, Teele and Dennis.

We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us, and subject to approval of counsel. Temporary Bonds, exchangeable for Definitive Bonds, when ready, are expected to be available for delivery on or about January 3, 1923.

Price 99½ and interest to yield about 7.05%

Are You Affected by the Surtax?

To those individuals having large incomes in addition to their incomes from tax-exempt securities, the question of taking profits on Capital Gain from other securities and property is often disturbing.

A proper understanding of the relief measures provided by the government may be gained through the complimentary booklet "Federal Income Taxes for 1922"—a practical illustrated analysis of the rulings affecting 1922 income. You will find this booklet of vital interest.

In consideration of the very real possibilities of legislation concerning securities and taxes during the coming year a careful study of the present and future advantages of MUNICIPAL BONDS is desirable. We shall be pleased to discuss these matters with you.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Oatman United responded yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange to the assessment of 1 cent a share by advancing 4 cents to a close at 15. The stock opened at 12 cents, and strong buying power carried the market up on the assumption that the announcement of the levy meant that the company's stock had been entirely liquidated. The presence of this stock has been the chief bearish influence affecting the market, and speculators believe that with its removal, Oatman United will increase in value. Telluride closed at 27 and United Eastern was up 2 cents at 1.65.

In the petroleum list fractional gains were registered in the leading stocks. Union Oil Associates gained 1 point, selling at 187, Union of California was up ½ at 105½ and General Petroleum acquired 1-8, closing at 28 3-4. Globe Petroleum sold at 25½.

First National and Security Trust and Savings Bank stocks were active in the investment market. First National sold at 385, up 10 points from the previous close, and Security shares were sold at 294, a gain of 8½. Southern California Edison common was quoted at 104.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—With copper metal up to 14 5-8 to 14 3-4 cents, new high levels for the year, domestic demand is exceptionally good. Wire mills are running at capacity, brass foundries are operating at as high a rate as is consistent with the supply of labor and, in short, a moderate sized boom is apparently on in the copper industry. Naturally this had a very beneficial effect on sentiment regarding the copper stocks in the market. Traders who believe that the long expected move is at last under way, are accumulating the leaders of this group, and probably in many cases the buying power becoming evident in the coppers represents the profits made in motors and other industrials which are beginning to show signs of liquidation.

There has been considerable discussion of the possibilities of a resumption of dividends on U. S. Industrial Alcohol common. Apparently business of the company justifies such anticipations, but any consideration of the possibility must be governed by the knowledge that the primary policy of this company is to build up a strong cash reserve, and that dividend questions will be subordinate to this requirement.

California Petroleum was the strongest of the oils and along in the middle of the afternoon was up 7 points from yesterday's close. For lack of better information, the rise was attributed by street gossip to buying by the Doheny interests. This met with denial. It would seem that as the company at present has a flush production of 45,000 barrels a day, a stupendous output for a domestic oil company, this would be sufficient to furnish ample basis for the strength.

Mallinson assumed the leadership of the silk and textile stocks today, crossing 36 into new high ground. In connection with the firmness displayed by this and other silk stocks, it is said that large blocks have been taken out of the street presumably for the account of textile men uptown. Recent reports concerning Mallinson have been decidedly promising, and the company is in a position to operate well into next year on the basis of orders now on hand.

Traders who follow Cosden closely are inclined to look for an average net of about $1,000,000 per month for the current year. Preferred requirements are only $350,000, which would leave approximately $10 per share for the common before depreciation and depletion charges.

The sluggishness of Midvale in the market and the fact that this issue will not sell in line with Bethlehem "B" is taken to indicate the uncertainty of traders over the attitude of the Federal Trade Commission regarding the acquisition of Midvale by Bethlehem. Bulls on Midvale appear certain that the Federal Trade Commission can find no flaw in the Bethlehem-Midvale deal as this is practically the same as the acquisition of Lackawanna by Bethlehem earlier in the year. Furthermore, the commanding position in the steel trade held by the United States Steel Corporation is accepted as proof in itself that the Bethlehem-Lackawanna-Midvale combine cannot be construed as any combination in restraint of trade. These traders overlook the obvious fact that all of the arguments applied with equal force to the probabilities regarding the big independent steel merger attempted earlier in the summer by other interests. This merger started out with seven prominent companies lined up, and dropped gradually until only the Midvale, Republic and Inland were left. When this plan was finally abandoned, its failure was attributed to the adverse attitude of the Federal Trade Commission.

Weakness of the Canadian dollar is reviving talk of a Canadian loan to be placed here and in London. Only a few weeks ago Canadian dollars sold at or above par. This strength terminated abruptly when Canada began to draw gold and other reserves from this country. This demand was due to the fact that Canada had an internal loan of $187,000,000 maturing on December 1, and only about $120,000,000 of these bonds were converted into the refunding issue, requiring that the difference of some $67,000,000 be raised immediately.

Strength in all of the rail stocks today is attributed largely to the expectations of a big rail market during 1923. For some time rails have been irregular, and such mild encouragement as was given to the constructive side by the activities of the Van Sweringens was more than offset by the action of Great Northern directors in reducing the dividend rate to 5 per cent, after a dividend record of twenty-three years at the rate of 7 per cent. This latter development struck deep and caused considerable liquidation, much of which came before the meeting of Great Northern directors was actually held, as their intended action was taken for granted in advance. While railroads will be forced to make large outlays for maintenance of way and structure and purchase of new equipment over the coming year, this necessity is the only really bearish factor looming up. Adverse legislation is a threat which may be half forgotten before the new Congress comes into power.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Dec. 20.—"More general strength is displayed in the iron and steel situation than at any time in several months," says Iron Trade. "This is due in large measure to the heavy accumulation of orders for future delivery, a considerable part of which has been acquired in recent weeks. This tonnage is well spread through first quarter of 1923 and it presents a very fair probability that the industry will be enabled to maintain its present operations of 80 to 85 per cent through that period. Upon this foundation prices are hardening.

"With better car supply now enabling producers to clean up the tonnage recently piled on mill yards and all shipments moving more freely, the entire industry is permeated with more cheerful sentiment.

"Steel corporation subsidiaries again have come into market for semifinished steel to make up shortages in their own production. The National Tube Company was the purchaser of a round tonnage of billets this week.

"A measure of the year's brand activities in construction is given by a total of 1,480,000 tons of structural steel awards for the past eleven months. This represents one of the largest years in history. November tonnage was 90,040. Contracts in the past week were in good aggregate at about 18,500 tons."

Electric Railways Have Turned the Corner

Among the many indications of important improvements in securities of electric street railway companies may be cited the increased earning of electric railways throughout the country. Statistics show that the net earnings of street railways increased gradually between 1907 and 1917. Between 1917 and 1918 the net earnings declined very appreciably.

In 1919 they recovered to about $230,000,000, and by 1920 they had advanced to nearly $250,000,000, and in 1921 showed a further advance to about $275,000,000. Due to the fact that the present prices of some electric railway bonds are lower than is consistent with the strength and earning power of the companies behind them, they offer splendid opportunities for investment with safety and profit. A good example is the following:

BOND QUOTATIONS

List is Irregular

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Moderate improvement in United States government issues and marked irregularity in the rest of the list was noted in today's dealings in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Active buying of government bonds led to the belief that the January reinvestment demand was first making itself felt in those issues, Liberty 3½s gaining 16c on $100 and the second, third and fourth and new 4¼s improving 8 to 12c. The first 4¼s and the Victory 4¾s yielded slightly at the close.

There was not much demand for foreign liens, which exhibited a weak tone. Serbian 8s, Swiss 8s and United Kingdom 5½s of 1929 each sold off a point and the losses in other issues were fractional.

Further weakness of St. Paul convertible 4½s and debenture 4s, each of which dropped more than a point, was the outstanding development in the railroad list. No new reason was ascribed for this weakness, but it is believed in some quarters that the recent cut in the Great Northern preferred dividend may have been an indirect cause for further selling of these liens.

St. Louis Southwestern 4s dropped 1⅜ and the 5s 1, other weak spots in this group being Erie convertible 4s, Series D, Seaboard Air Line consolidated 6s, New Haven 6s, Chicago and Alton 3½s and Pennsylvania consolidated 4½s. Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, New Haven 5s of 1956 and Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s moved to higher ground.

Packard Motor 8s, Lackawanna Steel 5s of 1950 and Marine 6s were all active and closed at higher prices, while Hershey Chocolate 6s and Marland Oil 8s, with warrants, were weak.

Total sales, par value, were $12,157,000.

There were a number of bond offerings today, including two of $1,500,000 each. One was an issue of ten-year 7½ per cent convertible sinking fund debenture bonds of the Merritt, Chapman & Scott corporation, which were offered at 101¾ to yield over 7.25 per cent, the issue being oversubscribed. The other was an issue of 5 per cent land bank bonds of the First Texas Joint Stock Land Bank.

DAILY TALK ON TRADE GIVEN

so far recovered from the disastrous freeze of last winter that the new crop will approximate 80 per cent of the maximum, and on this basis the Sunkist 1923 advertising campaign will be one of the most comprehensive and interesting ever conducted by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

Two hundred and fifty-nine cities are already listed for "orange week" campaigns, supplemented by a one-month showing of posters, while twelve dealer service men will handle the promotion in the markets. Rotogravure advertising will be used specializing on the toilet and beauty uses of the lemon, and other newspaper advertising on both oranges and lemons will be liberally utilized in key market cities. A five weeks' campaign on "Red Ball" oranges will be featured in Texas and parts of Louisiana and Arkansas, and the Sunkist Extractor is to receive liberal publicity.

The January number of the Sunkist Courier will say that in spite of the fact that the districts which were most severely injured by the freeze were among the strongholds of the exchange, the organization handled 68.7 per cent of the State's total citrus shipments, compared with 72.5 per cent the previous year.

While the shipments of Valencias for the past season were only about one-half of the 1920-21 period, due to the freeze, they were equal to the movement five years ago and more than double the quantity of this variety shipped ten years ago.

AUTOS FIRST LOVE?

An interesting sidelight on credit statistics in Los Angeles shows that the average creditor will take care of his automobile deferred payments before those owing to the butcher, the baker, or the candlestick maker.

In a recent case a worker, whose income had been reduced, found it impossible to meet all of his obligations as they fell due. Creditors included a department store that had sold on an open account; a retailer of household appliances, which transaction was in the form of the customary lease agreement, and an automobile company that had leased the machine on the basis of a series of notes maturing monthly.

The debtor paid all the notes of the automobile concern and compelled the others to wait for their money. When complaint was made, the debtor replied that his debt to the auto company had been met by notes which he had to pay. This is the attitude of the average debtor and explains the psychology of the situation.

HOLIDAY DIVIDENDS

It will be a merry Christmas for many mining company stockholders, liberal dividend announcements having been made throughout the industry. Lowering of war-time costs of operation, coupled with good prices in all the white metals, has led to dividend resumption by zinc, lead and silver mines, and increased dividends by the regulars. Even the copper mines, some of them, have resumed payments, although prices in this industry are still too low for heavy profits. In the motion-picture field stock dividends are fashionable. Universal Pictures, of which Carl Laemmele is president, will hold a meeting December 26 to vote on a proposal to increase its capital stock from $1,000,000, consisting of 10,000 shares of common, to $7,000,000 or 70,000 of the same par value. It is understood that other motion-picture companies intend to follow the same procedure.

TAXICAB DIVIDENDS

In a few years Los Angeles has wrapped the taxicab to her ample bosom, and the business is now on a firm basis in this community. Coupled with a Christmas greeting to public and stockholders the Yellow Taxicab Company announces a dividend to holders of record as of December 30. Harry Lieb, president and general manager of the company, said yesterday that distribution would be made during January and that it was the purpose of the organization to double the present equipment, representing an outlay of more than $200,000 during 1923.

WASTE PAPER

The paper industry of the United States will this year utilize 2,000,000 tons of waste paper in the manufacture of new paper.

The biggest problem of the paper industry, is the shortage of waste paper. To save waste paper is to save the forests.

Every ton of waste paper used by the paper mills means just so much of our forest resources saved for the future. Taking good pulp wood as an example, it is estimated by Thrift Magazine that the use of six tons of waste paper is equal to saving one acre of timber.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

ment bonds was $1607. The issue matures $625 annually from 1923 to 1962. Other bids were Freeman, Smith & Camp, $265; William R. Staats, $62, and California Company, $27. Aronson & Co. entered a bid of $3700 for the two issues.

TICKER TICKS

Armour & Co. is to refund $60,000,000, ten-year, 7 per cent notes, offered in July, 1920, possibly by the sale of new securities.

President Campbell of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company says it is probable his company will acquire the Brier Hill Steel Company.

United States is in complete accord with leading American bankers, taking the view that reparations is the crux of the present troubles in Europe.

Railroad tonnage throughout the United States for the quarter ended September 30, was 5.85 per cent greater than for the same time last year.

COAL BONDS

Bond & Goodwin & Tucker are offering today $1,650,000 United Electric Coal Companies first mortgage 7 per cent sinking fund gold bonds due 1933, at 99½ to yield approximately 7.05 per cent. The United Electric Coal Companies was organized in 1921 to take over the bituminous coal properties in Vermillion county, Illinois, and Jefferson county, O., formerly operated by the Electrical Coal Company. The company serves many important railroads and public utilities, and is said to mine its output at a low cost. Proceeds from this issue are to be used to retire the company's 8 per cent bonds and to acquire additional properties.

OLD WORLD MARKET IS UNSETTLED

Situation More Hopeful With Disposition to Buy Rather Than Sell

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—The foreign market is narrow and unsettled. This and its quick response to political news and rumors make it highly speculative. Hope hangs over it, however, and the present disposition among traders is to buy rather than to sell. The tendency of sterling is to hold steady at its present level of 4.63 to 4.65.

Sorting out the causes of the recent upturn as explained by the heads of trading departments of the banks that handle the bulk of the business here brings forth various reasons.

If commercial bills were being offered in their usual volume at this season the market would go down, but they are scarce. Cotton and foodstuffs, which should have moved abroad in large volume the last two months, seem to be spread out over a longer period of time. This is attributed to the unwillingness on the part of the Baltimore banks, working in conjunction with the government, to extend large credit for the purchase of goods to be speculatively held. Another reason for the decreased movement of foodstuffs as compared with last year is that the demand from Europe is less pressing.

England's markets are in a state of readjustment and the consumption of American cotton abroad is becoming more nearly normal. China and India, which are the great markets for Europe and American cotton piece goods, are not yet as prosperous and settled as they might be, which has made exporters conservative.

MARKET FACTORS

Another factor which influenced the recent rise in sterling is that at this time of the year there is usually a considerable short interest. When sterling began to grow stronger and the market showed a tendency to move upward, commercial importers who had been speculating in the hope of a fall in exchange covered hastily, which greatly accelerated the rise.

The possible floating of a loan by Germany and the ever-changing face of European politics also have had some influence on sterling and more particularly on French and Belgian exchange.

The rise or fall of the franc is not due to exports and imports, but depends on the settlement or the approach to a settlement of the problems connected with the German situation.

Central European exchanges are very quiet, except for spasmodic fluctuations in Czecho-Slovakia exchange, which none of the experts is able to explain.

Nothing in the Near East situation, the traders assert, has had any material effect on foreign exchange for the last two or three weeks.

Collecting in 1868

¶ "You are to make out all bills of meter statements between the time of taking meter statements on Saturday of each week and the collecting on the following Monday."

The above quotation is from a letter of instructions issued April 27, 1868, to the man whose other duties were to overlook and operate the gas works of the Los Angeles Gas Company. Apparently this billing was a mere trifle, to be done at odd moments.

The bills were collected by the gasfitter "on the following Monday," also in addition to other duties.

That was once each week.

¶ Today, to do the work of meter-reading, billing and collecting once each month for Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation requires the full-time services of approximately 200 persons.

Poor Support Allows Grains to Sell Lower

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A weakened technical position was disclosed in all grains after a strong opening, and heavy selling of wheat and corn, credited to a Chicago trader who was in New York, found the markets poorly supported and induced general selling by local longs, which carried values off very sharply. The day's break was the largest in some time. At the inside wheat showed 2¾@3⅛ under the early top and corn dropped 1½@2⅛c.

Numerous stop-loss orders were caught on the way down. Wheat, however, received excellent support and some of the local bulls who sold out wheat and corn on the early advance reinstated their lines around 1.23 for May wheat and 73c for May corn. Wheat closed on a good rally with net losses of ⅛@2c, the former on December. Corn was off ⅞@1⅛, oats ⅞@1c and rye 1⅛c.

A feature of the trading in wheat was the heavy selling of July. December and May sold at a new high for the season at the start and July equalled the old high, but there was no enthusiastic buying at the start despite an advance of 1½@3d in Liverpool. Corn was the first grain to weaken, and the pit traders in wheat quickly took the bear side, large selling orders in July in the hands of houses with eastern connections quickly making their appearance. There was nothing in the news to account for the selling. Foreign exchange was lower, but the general run of news otherwise was rather bullish with a better milling demand in Liverpool and rains in Southwestern Argentina. The break uncovered a liberal export business in Manitobas.

Corn and oats showed a heavy undertone from the start and failed to rally materially from the inside figures of the day. The belief prevailed that both grains were to have a good reaction. July oats sold at a new high for the season. Cash corn was unchanged to ¼ lower as compared with December. Receipts 473 cars corn and 98 cars oats. A liberal export business was done in corn as the result of the break, sales of 400,000 bushels being reported at the seaboard. A large amount of long corn came out during the day and a good part of it had not found a resting place at the close.

While houses with northwestern connections were buyers of rye early, the weakness in wheat brought in increased pressure and the finish was well toward the bottom. The two Northwest markets had 173 cars.

SEPARATION OF SCHOOLS IS PLANNED

Movement Under Way Here to Make Southern Branch Distinct Unit

A movement now is under way at the Southern Branch of the University of California to make the local institution a four-year school and independent of the Berkeley institution.

This was announced yesterday when Miss Helen Scheck was elected chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign for a four-year school, and Del Sarber, student-body president of the Branch, gave out some of the details of the campaign.

According to Sarber the local school is greatly handicapped by the large number of students who want to take your-year courses but who find it necessary to stay at home. The result is that they take the two years of regular work and then supplement it with special courses, thus swelling the number of pupils at the already crowded school.

A petition has been submitted to the board of regents of the University of California asking that body to make the necessary appropriations to make the Southern Branch a full-fledged university by itself.

Meetings are planned by the members of the campaign committee this week in an attempt to complete the plans for the launching of a great campaign as soon as the holidays are over, to stir up both the public and student opinion in regard to the matter.

The committee which was appointed by President of the Student Body Del Sarber includes some of the most prominent students in the school. Fifteen more are to be appointed at the convening of school after the vacation. Those already chosen are Dorothea Wilson, Dorothea Cassidy, Isabel Mushet, Marion Adams, Minnie Bransford, Ruth Miller, Helen Hansen, Arden Dow, Henrietta Andrews, Margaret Sears, Helen Hoover, Mary Margaret Hudson, Helen Bectel, Fern Gardner, Mildred Dupes, Bobbie Cleland, Henrietta Bohon, Drucella Goodwin, Joe Guion, Fred Gilstrap, Tat Walsh, Red Borsum, Jack Kehlet, Louis Spangler, Armion Handy, George Knight, Jerry Weil, Jack Burgess, Tom Harrison, Fred Houser, Bob Fellows, Del Sarber, George Courtney.

ACTRESS'S SEPARATION EXPLAINED

Lack of Understanding With Husband Responsible, Says Miss Frederick

A complete lack of understanding, rather than any misunderstanding wrecked Pauline Frederick's third matrimonial venture, said Miss Frederick yesterday in Philadelphia, where she confirmed a rumor concerning her separation from Dr. Charles Alton Rutherford.

Incidentally, Miss Frederick set at rest a rumor she and Dr. Rutherford separated, after their marriage last February, without living together as man and wife.

"There was no misunderstanding," Miss Frederick said, "just a complete lack of understanding, incompatibility. Dr. Rutherford and I were married last February, but we have not lived together since last May. I do not know where Dr. Rutherford is at the present time, and to tell the truth, I do not care."

Dr. Rutherford is reported to be in Seattle, where he is known as a successful physician. It was his desire to remain in Seattle, friends assert, rather than come to Los Angeles to practice medicine that caused the separation.

"I have not instituted divorce proceedings nor have I any intention of so doing," Miss Frederick declared. "If Dr. Rutherford cares to, it is up to him."

GARDENER HURT AS TREE FALLS

A. G. Snyder, 45 years old, a landscape gardener, suffered possibly fatal injuries late yesterday evening when he was crushed by a falling tree.

Snyder was cutting down the tree at 1645 North Vermont avenue. It fell, catching him across the chest and bearing him to the ground. The weight of the trunk fractured ten ribs, some of which punctured his lungs. He was taken to the Hollywood Community Hospital for emergency treatment and was removed later to the Pacific Hospital. Physicians said he had a slight chance for recovery.

COTTON ENCOUNTERS PROFIT-TAKING SALES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—After an early advance took cotton prices to slightly higher record levels for the year, today's cotton market met extensive profit-taking in the second hour, which continued for the rest of the session, and closed with a net loss on the day of 14 to 18 points for the near positions and 15 to 20 for the distant months. On the Census Bureau's ginning figures prices were bid up early, May touching 26.45 and July 26.24, but on the preholiday liquidation in the South, commission houses and Wall street longs, prices sagged and closed near the bottom.

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, 15 points decline, 26.65 for middling upland.

Southern spot markets: Galveston 25.90, 15 points decline; New Orleans 26.00, unchanged; Savannah 26.06, 14 points decline; Memphis 26.25, unchanged; Houston 25.75, 10 points decline; Little Rock 25.75, unchanged.

CALIFORNIAN PREFERRED— in some ways our greatest offering—is now, so far as its financing is concerned, a matter of history.

But so far as doing that for which it was created—producing oil—it has but barely turned the first page of a volume that we expect to see loom large in California's Oil History.

While Californian and CALIFORNIAN PREFERRED are marching on to production, another great Foster offering is being prepared.

ANNEXATION SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

Policy of City Towards Glendale Criswell's Topic at Meeting

The policy of the city of Los Angeles toward Glendale if the latter annexes itself to Los Angeles, will be outlined tonight at a meeting of the Glendale Consolidation Club by Ralph Criswell, president of the Los Angeles City Council.

The meeting will be conducted at the Glendale Union High School Auditorium, and will inaugurate a campaign in favor of annexation. Among the speakers will be J. Challen Smith, secretary of the Sawtelle Chamber of Commerce, who managed the consolidation campaign in that community.

Citizens of Glendale are disturbed over a petition filed by citizens of Eagle Rock, looking toward the consolidation of Eagle Rock and Los Angeles. They point out that if Eagle Rock is annexed, the Glendale High School district will lose one-fourth of its taxable valuation, amounting to about $25,000. According to County Counsel Hill, when two cities consolidate, the school districts of the cities are automatically merged.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—Reorganization of the Associated Terminals was announced today with the retirement of Capt. John Barneson as president and the election of his son, J. Leslie Barneson, as his successor. Although retiring as active head of the company, Capt. Barneson will continue as a member of the board of directors.

Others elected by the board were Harry S. Scott, president of the Trans-Oceanic Company and formerly secretary of the Associated Terminals, vice-president and general manager; H. R. Chambers, secretary, and Capt. William Schirmer, director.

The barkentine Hesperian, owned by James Rolph & Co., arrived today from Newcastle, Australia, the voyage consuming ninety-five days. Capt. Sorensen said the vessel drifted with the currents practically all the way across, little wind being encountered. The Hesperian brought in 2142 tons of coal.

The tug Humaconna, twenty-six days from Norfolk, put into this port today for fuel. The craft was recently purchased from the Shipping Board by the Merrill, Ring & Logging Co. of Puget Sound and will operate out of Seattle.

SEATTLE, Dec. 20.—While shortage of refrigerator cars has reduced apple shipments this year, the Pacific Coast has already booked 500,000 boxes more by water than last year, according to estimates made here today. In 1921 750,000 boxes of apples from British Columbia, Oregon, Washington and California were carried to the United Kingdom in refrigerator ships. This year including shipments already forwarded, 1,250,000 boxes have been booked, and it is expected that 250,000 boxes more may be available.

Under a resolution adopted today by the Seattle Port Commission only men from the employment office maintained by the commission may be worked as truckers, checkers and utility men on commission docks. The men so listed are both union and nonunion, whereas employees used by other concerns on the commission's docks have been entirely nonunion. The disputes over careless handling of freight was given as reason for the new rule.

The Pequot, in the service of the California Steamship Company, which arrived here today, is said to be the first vessel entering this port flying the flag of Panama. She is loading for Australia.

The schooner Thistle, reported today in the Strait of Juan de Fuca in sixteen days from Honolulu, made one of the fastest sailing trips recorded between Hawaii and Puget Sounds. She is expected here tomorrow or Friday. The best time ever made on this trip by a sailing vessel is given as twelve days, but the average trip is twenty-one. Capt. Knute Svending of the Thistle was desirous of reaching Seattle by Christmas.

PORTLAND (Or.,) Dec. 20.—Heavy fogs delayed traffic on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers yesterday and today. A considerable number of sea-going vessels anchored at various places along the two rivers to await more favorable navigating conditions and those which kept going did so under slow bell. The condition was unrelieved tonight. Floating ice in the Lower Columbia also was still a considerable hindrance to navigation. Notwithstanding the impediments which troubled most vessels, the Rose City arrived today from San Francisco forty-eight hours from dock to dock, which is unusually good time.

The Japanese steamer Kifuku Maru will go to Astoria tomorrow to complete a cargo of wheat for the United Kingdom which was begun here.

Two Luckenbach steamers were in the river today and were expected to reach their dock here sometime tonight, depending on fog conditions. They are the Lena Luckenbach with cargo from the Gulf, and the Henry Luckenbach from Atlantic Coast ports.

With one of the largest passenger lists taken since the summer days of peak travel, the steamer Admiral Evans departed today for California ports. The steamer West Kader with cargo from here in the line of the Columbia-Pacific Shipping Company will be probably the last vessel to enter Taku Bar before the port becomes frozen in for the winter, according to advices received here today by cable. She is due at the Taku bar now.

With lumber from San Francisco, the steamer Solano departed today.

TACOMA, Dec. 20.—The Pequot cleared today for Australia after taking about 2,000,000 feet of lumber from the Defiance mill and port pier.

The Japanese steamer Taikai Maru, which has been loading at the St. Paul mill, got away this afternoon via ports for Durban, South Africa.

The Isthmian Line steamer Birmingham City, an arrival at the Sperry mill this morning, sailed this afternoon for Europe via ports. The vessel took about 1000 tons of flour from here.

The Africa Maru of the O. S. K. Line inbound is due here tomorrow evening from Yokohama. The vessel has considerable inbound freight to discharge. The Arizonian of the American-Hawaiian Line is due here tomorrow to load at the Baker dock, smelter and mills.

The Pacific was an arrival this morning from California. After discharging freight at the terminal dock, the vessel shifted to Seattle.

ASTORIA, Dec. 20.—Bringing freight from the Atlantic seaboard via San Francisco, the steamer Harry Luckenbach arrived last night and went to Portland.

The steamer Lena Luckenbach arrived today via San Francisco en route to Portland.

Carrying freight from Portland, the steam schooner Annette Rolph sailed today for San Francisco.

The steamer Bessemer City from Baltimore via San Francisco arrived this morning en route to Portland with general cargo.

The Norwegian steamer Baja California is due from Seattle and goes to Portland to pick up freight for Mexican ports.

The Swedish steamer Roxen is due from Gray's Harbor and will pick up freight at Portland and Astoria for Australia.

The Japanese steamer Tamon Maru No. 18 from the Orient came into the river this morning and after being fumigated here will proceed to Portland to take on freight. As the Tamon Maru was coming up the lower harbor during a dense fog she got out of the channel and ran her nose on the sands among a number of old wharf pilings near Fort Stevens. No damage was done to the craft and she floated nine hours later with the assistance of the tug Oneonta.

COOS BAY, Dec. 20.—The big Japanese steamer Kaisho Maru, which stood off the bar all day yesterday, was piloted in this morning. The Kaisho is here to take on lumber.

HANRAHAN NEW OMAHA COMMANDER

Fast Scout Cruiser Being Finished by Puget Sound Company

Capt. David C. Hanrahan will be the commander of the U.S.S. Omaha, first of the Navy's new scout cruisers to be completed and selected as the flagship of the Pacific destroyer flotilla.

Officers at Los Angeles Harbor are awaiting the commissioning of the Omaha with interest, as she is the first of an entirely new type of warcraft.

The ten light scout cruisers now building for the Navy, of which the Omaha is one, were designed especially for use as leaders of destroyer squadrons and for that purpose have been designed for a speed of more than thirty-five miles per hour, their turbine plants developing 90,000 horsepower at full cruising speed.

The Omaha is being built by the Todd Engineering and Dry Dock Company at Tacoma. A unique feature of her completion plans is that instead of being accepted after builders' trials she will be tested by the crew that will afterward man her in actual service. She will be fitted out at the Puget Sound navy yard, and is scheduled to relieve the old cruiser Charleston at San Diego shortly after February 1.

Late Navy orders name Lieut.-Commander Herbert H. Bouson, now on duty in the Bureau of Ordnance, Washington, as her first gunnery officer.

MID-PACIFIC GALE FATAL TO SEAMAN

Tanker Reaches Port Here After Three-Day Battle With Mountainous Seas

After weathering a three-day gale in mid-Pacific, during which one of its crew was swept overboard and drowned, the General Petroleum tanker Liebre limped into port here yesterday for repairs and overhauling at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company yards. The vessel now is in dry dock.

The story of the gallant struggle with the gale, during which it seemed for a time that the vessel would go down, was related by Capt. John Barneson, president of the General Petroleum Company and internationally famous yachtsman. Capt. Barneson was in command of the ship in its run from Tokuyama, Japan, to Los Angeles.

The tanker was struck by the gale after she had been out of port for several days, he said. For seventy-two hours it was buffeted and battered by the heavy seas which tossed it off its course repeatedly. The vessel for a time was unmanageable. Mountain-high waves swept it repeatedly.

R. Pederson, 27 years old, an able seaman, was swept into the sea by a huge comber. Efforts to rescue him proved useless as the vessel had all it could do to keep afloat. Pederson was fastening down gear on the vessel when swept overboard.

Capt. Barneson is known around the globe as a yachtsman. He has visited practically ever port in the world in his large yacht. He took charge of the Liebre at Tokuyama.

PORT NOTES

The United States Shipping Board has announced that on all of its allocated vessels the insignia of the board will be immediately removed. Coincident with the announcement an order was issued permitting all managing agents to fly their own house flags from the mastheads of Shipping Board vessels.

When Capt. J. J. Meaney and Chief Officer Albert J. Porter of the Luckenbach liner Robert Luckenbach left here this week on the steamer they made what will be their last call here as ship's officers. Both have resigned, Capt. Meaney to take a vacation and Mr. Porter to re-enter the newspaper business in San Francisco. Capt. Meaney was formerly head of the service bureau of the Shipowners' Association at Los Angeles Harbor.

The four-masted schooner Vigilant, scheduled to sail for the north yesterday, will not get under way until Monday on account of a shortage in her crew. She is in command of Capt. Matt Peasley, original of that character in the sea tales of Peter B. Kyne.

Conrad Amke, chief officer and hero of the fire on the tank steamer Vaba in New York this week, is a local man and well known in shipping circles. He was formerly chief officer on the steamer Solano, plying out of Los Angeles Harbor.

The government has announced that a new decision will be handed down by the Supreme Court in February in reference to foreign vessels bringing liquor into American ports. The storm of protest coming from foreign countries as a result of the Daugherty ruling has delayed the decision, it is said.

Oil cargoes constitute approximately one-half the total tonnage brought into American ports and fully one-sixth of the cargoes exported to foreign countries, according to the annual report of the United States Shipping Board. The foreign trade tonnage shows that 36,535,004 tons came into the United States during 1921 and that 43,645,948 tons were exported.

Withdrawn from transport service and sold to Asa Candler, the Coca Cola king, the former Army transport Logan arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday to load freight for New York. Mr. Candler bought the historic old craft for $25,000 and she is being handled for the single voyage by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

The General Petroleum tanker Liebre arrived at the home port yesterday from Tokuyama, Japan. Capt. John Barneson, head of the General Petroleum interests and internationally famous yachtsman, who commanded the huge craft on the trip, will be relieved here by Capt. Christensen. The Liebre went to the Bethlehem shipyards for minor repairs.

The ex-German freight steamer Bochum, now the United American steamer Montpelier, will arrive here from Baltimore on her first trip in the intercoastal trade of the United American lines. She has been operating in the trans-Atlantic passenger and freight service between Hamburg and Buenos Aires.

Late last night the Japanese passenger liner Chicago Maru sailed for the Orient with 11,000 tons of cargo and several hundred passengers for the Far East and South Africa. The Chicago Maru was damaged while in port here last Saturday by a serious fire in her cargo.

A Portland firm has purchased the former steam schooner Egeria and will put her back in the local lumber trade. Purchase price was announced as $50,000. The craft, which carries 1,700,000 feet of lumber, has been chartered for ten trips between Portland and Los Angeles Harbor.

On her second trip to this port in the oil trade, the tanker Sabine Sun came in from Chester, Pa., late yesterday. She will take 80,000 barrels of fuel oil for the East Coast at the loading station of Union Oil Company.

Fifteen hundred tons of rubber, copra and general cargo from the Orient are being discharged here from the Struthers & Barry liner Eldridge in port from Singapore.

ROYALTY OIL DISPOSED OF

Salt Creek Crude Supply Sold to Sinclair

Government Closes Deal to Secure Parity

Price Differentials Will Soon be Gone

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Acceptance of a bid of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company for purchase of all royalty oil accruing to the government in the next five years from the Salt Creek field, Wyoming, was announced late today by Secretary Fall of the Department of the Interior.

This transaction, he said, marks the successful completion of his program to place Salt Creek crude oil on a price parity with similar oils from the midcontinent field and will bring the government 70 to 90 cents more per barrel for this royalty oil than was received under a contract with the Shipping Board.

DIFFERENTIAL IS GONE

The price differential between the two fields, which has averaged 67 cents a barrel for the last five years and now amounts to 70 cents a barrel on oil of less than 37 deg. gravity, and 90 cents a barrel on oil of more than 37 deg., is swept away so far as the government is concerned by the Sinclair contract, Mr. Fall declared.

The price range in the midcontinent field is from $1.40 to $1.60 a barrel, and at the present rate of production the government receives 9000 barrels of royalty oil daily from the Salt Creek field. This oil will be sold at midcontinent prices to the Sinclair company and the proceeds divided as provided by law, 52½ per cent going to the Reclamation Service, 37½ per cent to the State of Wyoming and 10 per cent to the United States treasury. The Secretary said he expected the production from the field to increase materially during the life of the contract.

TO BUILD PIPE LINE

It is expected by Interior Department officials that the oil purchased by the Sinclair company will be stored in the Salt Creek field until completion by the company of a 40,000-barrel pipe line to connect the field with its pipe line to Chicago. Construction of the new line is to be started within sixty days. This arrangement, according to engineers of the Interior Department, will virtually join the Salt Creek and midcontinent fields and place them on an even basis for competition.

The contract with the Sinclair company, according to Secretary Fall, establishes the precedent of buying crude oil on a quality basis instead of in bulk, regardless of quality.

Under the contract the price varies with the specific gravity of the oil purchased, the higher gravity bringing the higher price, and Interior Department officials predicted that this basis soon would become standard in the midcontinent and Wyoming fields.

CHINESE PARTY HERE FOR PLEASURE ONLY

FORMER PREMIER ASSERTS HIS PARTY IS NOT MISSION OF ANY SORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—Heading a group of twenty-two Chinese, which he insisted is not a mission of any kind, Chow Tsu-Chi, former Premier of China, arrived here today on the steamship Olympic, for what he termed a pleasure trip through the Eastern States.

"Japan?" the former Premier said in answer to a question. "If we have any troubles with her they will be settled. Revolution? China is becoming a country of better business men, and, that too will be settled. All I want to say about China is that the time is coming, and soon, when China will be one of the world powers, a place it ought to have once again."

He denied he intended to negotiate a loan or even speak of a loan for either the Chinese government or private business. He said, however, he expected to talk with American bankers.

THOUSANDS FACING DEATH IN ANATOLIA

INNOCENT VICTIMS OF TURK-GREEK WAR ARE IN PITIABLE PLIGHT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

One hundred and eighty thousand persons, mostly women and children, are homeless and lacking proper food supplies. They are digging in the ground for herbs to sustain life. These people, existing in the utmost misery, face death fom stavation and disease unless prompt aid is given by the Turkish Red Cross or some other well-equipped relief organization.

ELECTRICIANS' UNIONS OUSTED

Contractors Put Business on Open-Shop Basis

Decide to Ignore Demands for Higher Wages

Work Progressing in Spite of Strikes

The electrical contracting business in Los Angeles yesterday was put squarely on an open-shop basis and the contractors determined to ignore the Electrical Union in its demands for higher wages and closed-shop conditions.

A majority of the contractors, meeting at the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, took this action and the signatures of those contractors who could not attend will be obtained to the agreements before another meeting this morning. The contractors not present had expressed their willingness to abide by the decisions of the majority.

The solemn agreement to maintain an open shop and to form a division of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association read as follows:

AGREE TO OPEN SHOP

"We, the undersigned electrical contractors, doing business in the city of Los Angeles, hereby mutually agree upon our words of honor to conduct our respective businesses hereafter under open-shop conditions.

"We further pledge ourselves not to accede to the demands of the Electricians' Union recently submitted to us, but will adjust any controversies with our men as individuals only and not treat with any representatives of the said union as such.

"We have hereunto set our signatures in good faith and further agree to assist each other as far as possible under any and all conditions.

"We further agree to become members of the electrical division of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles and to submit all labor troubles to that association or its representatives."

OPPOSE DEMANDS.

The resolution opposing the demands of the Electricians' Union in the present strike was adopted unanimously. It reads:

"Whereas, certain electrical contractors in the city of Los Angeles, whose signatures appear below, met with the executive committee of Local No. 83, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and

"Whereas, said meeting was held on Dec. 16, 1922, and

"Whereas, certain working rules and agreements were submitted to the said electrical contractors, and

"Whereas, the said electrical contractors refused to accept the said working rules and agreement, but did, however, consent to a tentative agreement providing for the continuation of present wages and conditions until such time as a further discussion of the question could be had at a subsequent meeting,

"Now, therefore, realizing that the best interests of the community, the electrical industry and the electrical workers will be best served by maintaining the present high standards which exist in the electrical contracting business, we, the undersigned, believe that all future negotiations should be discontinued and hereby withdraw from the tentative or above-mentioned agreement."

WORK PROGRESSING

F. J. Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association was informed by the contractors of the status of the strike. He later issued this statement:

"Many misstatements are being

To Handle Gifts For Charity

COMMITTEE NAMED TO HANDLE CHARITY FUND

Enthusiastic Response Made to Plan to Finance Relief Work Here During Coming Year

Los Angeles has responded with enthusiasm and approval to The Times plan to raise a fund during this holiday season to finance the coming year's work of worthy local charities for the needy and suffering of the city. Representatives of great organizations not only consented to act as a committee of apportionment but are in warm accord with the undertaking as outlined in The Times yesterday morning.

It has become evident from comments made yesterday that the plan will arouse great interest and will receive generous response because it proposes to provide relief over an extensive period instead of being confined to a single-day benefaction.

News of The Times Charities Fund will be broadcast throughout the land tonight at 8 o'clock when Dr. Hugh K. Walker, president of the Los Angeles Church Federation, will give an address on the subject from The Times Radio station KHJ. A pulpit orator of national prominence, Dr. Walker is a great favorite in Radio Land, and has preached several Sunday sermons from The Times station. His message will have a heart interest that will appeal to all.

COMMITTEE NAMED

A strong committee to apportion the fund was named yesterday. These men will inspire confidence and constitute as strong a guarantee as could be given that every dollar of the fund will be apportioned wisely through organized and approved channels.

The following men, representing leading organizations of the city, have consented to act as committee members:

John D. Fredericks, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Motley H. Flint, for the Shriners.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker, president of the Los Angeles Church Federation.

Dr. Edgar F. Magnin, rabbi of Congregation B'nai B'rith.

Harry L. Harper, president of the Rotary Club.

Arthur M. Loomis, president of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles.

C. G. Pyle, for the Elks.

H. H. Smock, president of the Optimists' Club.

Judge Paul J. McCormick for Knights of Columbus.

Charles F. Hayden for The Times.

OUTLET FOR GIVING

The Times wishes to make it clear that this is a Christmas fund only in the sense that it affords an outlet for the Christmas or holiday spirit of giving. The fund is not to be used as Christmas offerings to the poor in the ordinary sense, but will be apportioned to such worthy and efficient charities organizations as shall be designated by the committee. In that way the gifts made at this Yuletide season will strengthen the agencies whose business it is to alleviate suffering and want and enable them to carry on their work from week to week and month to month, more effectively and on a broader scale.

If the various approved charities organizations of Los Angeles had sufficient money there would be no want in Los Angeles and the distress even of the sick, the crippled and afflicted would be lessened. So every dollar that is contributed to The Times Charities Fund will do its share toward relieving the poor and suffering men, women and children of Los Angeles.

IDEAL PRESENTED

If the fund is big enough relief work could be conducted on such a scale that Los Angeles would stand out among the big cities of the world as a place where gloom had been lifted from the hearts of all the needy and distressed. And the hearts of all the givers would be aglow with the happiness that comes from giving. And the spirit of love would permeate the city, and this Western metropolis would be a step nearer to the consummation of its true ideals.

So, in the name of Him who proclaimed love, and in the name of humanity, The Times asks everyone who can to join in this movement to lift up the fallen, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked and to relieve distress wherever it may exist in this city.

SAYS WIFE HOSTESS TO OTHER MEN

Film House Chain Manager Seeks Divorce; Sensational Charges Made

Irving M. Lesser, general manager of the Western Pictures Exploitation Company, which controls approximately forty motion-picture playhouses in this State, filed suit for divorce from his wife, Ruth M. Lesser, yesterday.

Charges of misconduct and participation in "petting parties" and liquor orgies are made against the wife in the suit which was prepared by Milton M. Cohen, attorney for Mr. Lesser.

The suit also recites that because of Mrs. Lesser's familiarity with other men several divorce suits have been threatened by outraged wives.

As executive of the theater corporation, Mr. Lesser states in his complaint it was necessary for him to be out of the city a great part of the time. In his absence, he charges, his wife repeatedly went out automobile riding with other men. She also brought many men to their house in his absence and staged a number of wild liquor parties.

At one time, the complaint says further, his wife's car was wrecked in a public park where she was driving after midnight. The ensuing publicity, he says, exposed him to public ridicule.

His home life, Mr. Lesser asserts, was made unbearable by his wife's conduct. She refused to cook for him or take care of the house, declaring that she would never work for any man, he says.

The couple were married at Oakland, in 1917, and separated on last January 15.

BANDITS READY FOR CELLS

"Buckaroo Robbers" Assert They've Made Clean Breast of Crimes; Woman Released

Complete confessions, solving ten burglary and robbery mysteries, were made last night by four of the five members of the Jenks Harris bank bandit gang, now prisoners in the County Jail.

Those who confessed to having planned and participated in the series of crimes are Jenks Harris, motion-picture cowboy and leader of the gang; Henry Logging, Pacific Electric motorman; F. H. Gillett, motion-picture actor, and driver of the bandits' car, and G. H. Pruitt.

Mrs. Lucy Logging, wife of one of the prisoners and the mother of two children, was detained for several hours at the Sheriff's office during the afternoon. She was identified by William May of Santa Ana as a member of a hold-up gang, which robbed him last Sunday. Mr. May said his identification was not positive enough to cause a warrant to be issued for the woman's arrest, and she was released last night.

When news of Mrs. Logging's release reached Harris and Gillett, crime pals of her husband, the two bandits gave joyous cowboy whoops. They declared Mrs. Logging had never taken part in their crimes, nor had she any knowledge of them.

A collection was then taken up by the deputy sheriffs who arrested Logging to buy toys for Logging's two small children.

The four bandits who confessed, expressed a desire to be taken immediately to San Quentin penitentiary. They told their captors that they had uncovered all their crime activities for the past year and now wanted to plead guilty to the Piru bank robbery.

PRISON DESIRED

The burglaries and robberies which they admitted having performed included four boxcar robberies in the Pacific Electric freight yards, when large quantities of whisky, clothing, tires and shoes were stolen; the robbing of a Pacific Electric train at Owensmouth a month ago; the robbery of an oil station at Main street and Florence avenue, netting them $68; the robbery of an oil station on Crescent Drive, netting them $28; the robbing of a Los Angeles

AGED GROCER SHOT DOWN

Joseph Jungman Dies Defending Till Containing $2.85; Young Robber Trio Escape

Joseph Jungman, an aged grocer, prevented three bandits from stealing $2.85 last night and paid for his exploit with his life. Mr. Jungman, 63 years old, operated a small grocery store at 3117 Garnet street. Despite the Christmas shopping rush, business was poor in the grocery store, and at the end of the day there was only $2.85 in the cash register.

At 8 o'clock the bell over the door tinkled and three young men entered. Mr. Jungman smiled. He thought they were customers.

SALE IN SIGHT

The visitors asked for cigarettes. The old grocer, who had been leaning across the cooky counter, started for the tobacco counter on the opposite side of the store. Mrs. Jungman was knitting in the room at the rear of the store. She and "Joe" lived a quiet life there. They were married sixteen years ago in San Antonio. There were no children. They took pleasure in their declining years in selling groceries to their neighbors. The little store was their world.

As Mr. Jungman passed the rear door he spoke to his aged wife. Turning, he saw a revolver leveled at him. He reached for his double-barreled shotgun on the other side of the rear door.

AIM IS FATAL

The revolver flashed and Mr. Jungman, clutching the cooky cabinet, fell to the floor with a bullet through his heart. The cookies were sprinkled over his body.

Mrs. Jungman screamed. She saw three young men, one with a revolver, fleeing out the front door. She grasped the shotgun her husband had failed to reach and ran after the three "customers." She saw nothing, but heard an automobile speeding toward Stephenson avenue.

When Detective Sergeants McCarron and Gibson arrived Mrs. Jungman was weeping hysterically over her husband's body. After the undertaker had removed the body to the rooms of French & Sons, she appeared with a pail of water and a broom and washed away the darkening stains on the floor.

CLEW IS SLIGHT

The detectives obtained only meager descriptions of the slayers. They were told that the three were all young, between the ages of 22 and 25 years, and wore dark clothes. They learned that the men had driven within half a block of the store in an automobile, leaving it around the corner.

Before the officers left Mrs. Jungman laboriously counted the $2.85 which "Joe" had paid so great a price to save.

Then she closed the store for the night.

UNION STATION DEMANDED

City Officials Act to Solve Grade-Crossing Problem; Rehearing Will be Requested at Once

The California Supreme Court will be asked to grant a rehearing of the Los Angeles terminal case, and if that fails the State Railroad Commission will appeal at once to the Interstate Commerce Commission for an order directing the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Pacific Electric railroads to join in a union terminal.

This was the decision of the State Railroad Commission announced in San Francisco last night, after a day spent in seeking solution of the condition brought about by the Supreme Court decision that the commission had exceeded its authority in ordering a joint terminal built on the Plaza site.

The decision of the Supreme Court does not affect the commission's right to order the abolition of grade crossings, it was pointed out yesterday, and hence is not so sweeping as was thought at first.

QUICK ACTION DESIRED

The Interstate Commerce Commission will, it is said, be asked to place the case at the head of its 1923 calendar, if an appeal to that body is found necessary. The State Railroad Commission is ready to place before the Federal commission a complete record of the case, including elaborate traffic studies made by the State commission's engineering department. City officials will have a conference soon with the State Railroad Commission to make plans for carrying on the terminal battle.

City officials yesterday expressed dismay at the decision of the Supreme Court. One official characterized it as a "stumbling block."

Henry E. Osborne, Jr., Chief Engineer of the Board of Public Utilities, who was an active factor in the many Plaza terminal hearings, asserted last night that the case calls for prompt and decisive action.

IMPORTANT ISSUE

"Grade crossing elimination is of the utmost importance. The location of our union terminal will be a substantial factor in the development of the city. The fact that these things are tied up by the Supreme Court decision is of the utmost concern to every citizen," said he.

"A final decision from the highest authority should be brought about in the Plaza case without delay. The city is paralyzed in many of its most important endeavors because the location for our terminal has not been fixed, and no progress has been made in the matter of grade crossing elimination."

POWER DENIED

According to reports from San Francisco, where the court order was reviewed yesteday, the court held there was no merit in the contention of the State Railroad Commission that it had the power to order the terminal built because such a terminal was an indispen-

WRIGHT ACT IS IN EFFECT AT MIDNIGHT

Small Offenders Will be Cared for by Authorities of City and County

The Wright Act becomes effective tonight at midnight, according to information received here last night from Sacramento by city and county prosecuting authorities. All measures approved by the people at the recent general election become effective at the same time, according to a statement issued by Charles J. Hagerty, statistician in the office of Secretary of State Jordan.

The statement was issued to correct an erroneous impression that the measures went into effect at midnight last night. Hagerty pointed out that the law provided that measures become effective five days after certification, not including the day upon which they are certified, which would bring the time up to Friday morning.

Prohibition Director Rutter announced yesterday in San Francisco that enforcement of the Volstead Act, as well as the Wright Act, will be left hereafter to State and city authorities as far as saloons, soft-drink establishments and small offenders are concerned.

Mr. Hutter said that he would watch the State and city forces to see how they enforced the law. If they make a success of it the Federal forces will devote their energies to apprehending the manufacturers and wholesalers of illicit liquor, he declared.

SANTA FE MEN FOUND GUILTY

Desert Tie-up Conspirators to be Sentenced

Unauthorized Strike Cause of Prosecution

Passengers Suffered Greatly Through Walk-out

Eight former employees of the Santa Fe Railroad, charged with abandoning passenger trains in the desert during the strike of railroad shopmen last summer, were found guilty of conspiracy to interfere with the transportation of mails yesterday by a jury in U. S. District Judge Bledsoe's court after an hour's deliberation.

Sentence will be imposed on the strikers Tuesday. The maximum penalty for this offense is two years in the penitentiary and a fine of $10,000.

The defendants in the case are C. E. Holly, engineer; L. E. Woodbeck, brakeman; C. I. Fox, engineer; E. H. Reynolds, brakeman; E. Arkabauer, conductor; E. F. Frageur, brakeman; R. H. Clements, machinist, and John S. Stecklein.

DAUGHERTY PLEASED

Atty.-Gen. Daugherty expressed gratification last night at Washington upon the outcome of the trial in Los Angeles of the trainmen who deserted their trains in the desert during the strike last summer. It was his opinion, it was said, that the conviction of the men who were charged with being responsible for a "conspiracy" in the Santa Fe case was a "vindication" of the attitude in the Department of Justice in resorting to the injunction proceedings at Chicago.

Mr. Daugherty said he had given instructions for the case to be proceeded with by the government and had personally followed every step of the proceedings.

"I am never gratified at misfortune experienced by any man," he said, "but in the desertion of their trains by the striking workers great suffering and grave hardships were imposed upon helpless men, women and children."

ABANDONED IN DESERT

The trial grew out of the strike of the operating crews on the Arizona division of the Santa Fe last summer, which caused a complete tie-up on that line from August 10 to 13. Several passenger trains carying many women and children were abandoned by the strikers in the desert near Needles, causing great suffering among the passengers. Jud Rush and Hugh L. Dickson defended the eight strikers. The prosecution was led by Hiram C. Todd, District Attorney at Saratoga, N. Y., who was sent to Los Angeles by Atty.-Gen. Daugherty for the express purpose of waging the fight for the conviction of the strikers. Mr. Todd prepared the indictment, presented the case to the Federal grand jury and conducted it before Judge Bledsoe.

The indictment charged that the trains were abandoned in the desert in accordance with a conspiracy on the part of the defendants. It was also charged that the defendants had no grievance against the railroad, but abandoned the trains in sympathy with the strike of the shopcrafts.

STRIKE UNAUTHORIZED

During the trial it was shown that the strike called on the Arizona division was not authorized by heads of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and that the walkout was in express defiance of the orders of the union chiefs. Violation of their agreement with the railroad was another charge made against the defendants by the prosecution. In this connection, Mr. Todd introduced a voluminous report compiled by Vice-President Bannon of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen showing that the strike was without merit. The report, introduced during the trial, also showed that several local officers of the union had been discharged for their part in the strike.

The verdict of the jury took the defendants entirely by surprise. They had hoped confidently for at least a disagreement.

The case had been on trial for more than a month. The strikers set up two defenses. They contended that they were harassed by guards who had been placed about the railroad company's property following the strike of the shopcrafts and that the equipment of the road and its rolling stock had deteriorated to such an extent during the strike that the lives of the operating crews were endangered.

DEFENSE ATTACKED

This defense was bitterly arraigned by Mr. Todd in his plea to the jury. He declared that the strike was caused solely by the desire of the men to embarrass the railroad and aid the shopcraft workers. He also introduced evidence to show that not a single accident had occurred on the division as a result of defective equipment and that this contention was advanced to justify the illegal acts of the strikers.

In delivering his instruction to the jury, Judge Bledsoe emphasized that the right of men to strike was not in question. Not only did the men have the right to walk out, but they could legally seek to induce others to join them. They, however, do not have the right to violate the law in seeking to force others to join them, he said, and not the right to interfere with the transportation of the

NEW PLANT FOR ALCOHOL READY

Crystal Chemical Company Spends $500,000

Modern Equipment Placed in Distillery

Output to be Double Needs of Southland

The plant of the Crystal Chemical Company, to be devoted to the distillation of Cologne spirits and grain alcohol and the manufacture of all of the formulas of denatured alcohol, has been completed, and the government permit to operate has been obtained.

The Crystal Chemical is a subsidiary of the Anaheim Sugar Company, on whose property the new plant is located, between Anaheim and Fulletron. The two buildings which constitute the distillery are of reinforced concrete construction, and are each five stories in height. They are fireproof, and represent an investment of nearly $500,000. George F. Lewis was the designer and builder of the plant, aided by J. E. Horne, expert on distillation.

APPROVAL OBTAINED

All plans for the distillery had to be submitted in the most minute detail to the Revenue Department of the government, and were approved by officials of that department before a permit sanctioning operation could be obtained. The distillation and distribution of the alcohol will be under the supervision of government inspectors, who will have offices in the plant itself.

Government officials who inspected the plans for the distillery say no plant in the United States has such up-to-date and efficient equipment. The alcohol produced from molasses, is distilled in one operation in the new French type still, which was installed by the Pacific Copper and Brass Works. By one operation alcohal is produced of a purity equivalent to that produced by means of seventy-five distillations by old methods. All of the storage tanks of the plant are of steel, lined with glass. The laboratory is provided with the most advanced French equipment.

4000 GALLONS A DAY

The Crystal Chemical Company has 10,000 tons of molasses in storage, from which nearly 1,500,000 gallons of the best alcohol can be distilled. The plant has a production capacity of 4000 gallons per day. The molasses, which is nearly 50 per cent sugar, is too sweet to ferment and must be diluted at the rate of four parts of water to one part of molasses. Only pure culture yeast is used in the fermentation. It is chosen by careful experimentation in the laboratory. One yeast cell is planted in agar and allowed to grow. If the growth is normal it is suitable for use in the fermentation of the molasses.

Carbonic acid, the gas used in the common fizz-water of the soda fountain, will also be a product of the plant. It will be produced and compressed to 1000 pounds pressure, and then stored in twenty and fifty-pound drums.

One of the by-products of the plant will be fertilizer. The refuse of distillation is rich in potash and nitrogen content, and when mixed with lime, makes a very satisfactory fertilizing agent.

An average of 650,000 gallons of alcohol and 1,500,000 pounds of carbonic acid are consumed in Southern California yearly, and heretofore it has all been purchased from Northern and Eastern distillers, for there has been no distillery in Southern California. The new plant, however, will be able to supply nearly twice the amount of these products consumed in Southern California, and, because of its equipment, can supply a purer alcohol than has been previously obtainable, officials of the Crystal Chemical Company assert.

ENTRY LIST CLOSES SOON

The extension department of the Southwest Museum announces that entries for exhibition of pictorial photography which it will hold next month will close on the 23rd inst. The department will appreciate it if all intending exhibitors will send their entries in by that time.

CALLED TO DOOR, ROBBED

Bandits Seize Woman When She Answers Ring at Bell; Loses Ring, But Other Valuables Safe

Two armed bandits last night seized Mrs. C. C. Bohannon, forced her inside her home at 957 Lucille avenue, and stole from her a diamond ring valued at $1600, according to her report to police.

The gunmen, whom Mrs. Bohannon said had the dress and appearance of tramps, escaped in an automobile. Investigation was started immediately to determine if the machine had been stolen.

In their haste the bandits overlooked a costly diamond wrist watch, another ring and a purse with a considerable amount of money, all of which were in plain sight, Mrs. Bohannon said. The victim was forced into the room from the porch, where she had gone to answer the ring of the door bell, and was covered with the pistol by one man while the other jerked the ring from her finger.

CALLED TO DOOR

Mrs. Bohannon was alone in the house, writing a letter, when she was summoned by the sound of the bell at about 8:30 p.m. Two men greeted her on the porch, one of whom asked her to point out the house at 967 Lucille avenue.

As Mrs. Bohannon stepped to the porch the men seized her, stifled her attempt to scream, and dragged her back into the front room, she told Detective Sergt. William Hartmeyer and Patrolman Garot, who were sent to investigate.

One of the men, who was rough-shaven and about 30 years old, tore a ring from a finger of her left hand. One the desk close by, where Mrs. Bohannon had been writing, was a purse. The intruders either overlooked or ignored this, as well as other ornaments their victim was wearing. With a warning that she should not scream the men rushed from the house.

RAN TO PHONE

Mrs. Bohannon said she ran to the telephone and called the Hollywood Police Station. While talking she said she heard the automobile starting off. Detective Sergt. Fitzgerald was of the opinion that a confederate had been waiting in the machine as a lookout and to insure speed in case of need for a hurried escape.

Mrs. Bohannon was able to describe only the man who took the ring. She said she saw the man with the pistol only indistinctly. Both, however, wore dark clothes.

PLAN FUND TO RETAIN CITY TREES

Hollywood Organization Opens Campaign to Keep Natural Beauty

Through the efforts of the Art Association of Hollywood, a fund will be raised within the near future to insure the preservation of Hollywood's natural beauties, particularly the trees and flowers, which are now, according to the association, being slaughtered at a rapid rate.

A roll of honor of the business men of Hollywood who have preserved the trees in front of their places of business and otherwise beautified the surroundings is also to be compiled.

The decision to raise funds for the preservation of the trees followed a meeting of the publicity committee of the association yesterday.

Cal Bush, secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, working in conjunction with the Art Association, has secured the promise of the Board of Public Works that no more permits for tree-cutting will be issued without the approval of the association.

HAYS RESCINDS ARBUCKLE BAN

the offices of the Joseph M. Schenck enterprises yesterday afternoon, where "Fatty" was holding an informal reception.

"I am very glad to have Roscoe Arbuckle with me," said Mr. Schenck. "I cannot say just now how soon we can get a picture for him, or what kind of pictures he will make. Stories do not come out of thin air, and we must have something suitable to him, something in his character.

"I have received many telegrams today from all parts of the country congratulating me and Arbuckle. People have been saying nice things over the phone. I believe the American public is just, and that it has come to realize that Arbuckle should be back on the screen."

Friends in the screen colony called in person or by telephone to congratulate the former film clown upon his reinstatement, and while suing his ban against Arbuckle over long-distance telephone to films a friend from an equally distant city was calling Arbuckle tell him that he had heard of his good fortune.

"FATTY'S" STATEMENT

"Fatty" had a formal statement all prepared and this Lou Anger, general manager of the Schenck enterprises, handed out.

"Mr. Hays has made his decision. It is my intention in every way to live up to what Mr. Hays expects of me," the statement read.

But Arbuckle's actions were less restrained. He smiled but seldom, but constantly joked with his callers. There was a little horseplay now and then and the one-time slapstick king had much trouble in keeping both feet on the ground.

He had recovered from his astonishment of the morning and was plainly overjoyed at his good fortune.

ARBUCKLE ARRIVES

Attaches at the Schenck offices declared that Arbuckle came hurrying into the place shortly after 10 o'clock, white and shaking. He had heard a rumor of Hays's action and had rushed in search of Mr. Schenck to learn the truth. He stammered so badly that he had difficulty in making himself understood, they asserted.

Anger declared that Hays's announcement from his headquarters at the Ambassador came like a thunderclap to Mr. Schenck. He denied that they had had any intimation of the "film czar's" action. Their first hint came, he said, from newspaper men.

Arbuckle will begin work just as soon as a proper vehicle can be found for him, Mr. Schenck declared.

Neither Arbuckle nor Schenck hold any interest in the three pictures "scrapped" by Jesse Lasky it was officially stated. Arbuckle, acting under Schenck's management, made the pictures for Lasky under salary. His salary was paid to him, he asserted, and there his interest in the three productions ended.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

Arbuckle's pictures were withdrawn last April in compliance with a request from Mr. Hays. That action was taken after Arbuckle had been thrice tried on a charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a film actress.

Miss Rappe had been a guest at an asserted booze party given by Arbuckle in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco on Labor Day, 1921. She died a few days after the party, and the State attempted to prove that death resulted from internal injuries inflicted by Arbuckle's asserted drunken brutality.

Juries disagreed in the first two trials and the defendant was acquitted at the third. Since then he has lived quietly, for the most part in Los Angeels, but making occasional trips.

It was following a tour of the Orient that "Fatty" was quoted as saying that he intended starting a cafe in Tokio.

"I never said that," he declared yesterday.

"I may have said that Tokio would be a good place for a cafe, but I never said I was going to open one there. Besides, what would I use for money?" he inquired.

"Why, Fat, you ought to have plenty of that," one of his visitors replied.

"Well, I've got some," the big comedian answered, drawing a thin dime from a pocket.

HAYS'S STATEMENT

Mr. Hays's action in giving Arbuckle permission again to appear was taken just before he left Los Angeles to spend the holidays at his home. To newspaper men, whom he had called to the rooms in the Ambassador that he has occupied for a week, he issued the following statement:

"Every man in the right way and at the proper time is entitled to his chance to make good. It is apparent that Roscoe Arbuckle's conduct since his trouble merits that chance. So far as I am concerned, there will be no suggestion now that he should not have his opportunity to go to work in his profession.

"In our effort to develop a complete co-operation and confidence within the industry, I hope we can start the New Year with no yesterdays. 'Live and let live' is not enough; we will try to live and help live."

"We are sure that Arbuckle will prove worthy of the trust," Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, declared yesterday. "No thought has been given to the mater of releasing the pictures already made and we have no plans in this connection."

CONVICTS FACE NEW CHARGE OF ROBBERY

Mike (Twin) Sullivan, who says he is the ex-lightweight champion of the world, and W. E. Groves were brought back from San Quentin yesterday, where they are serving terms of from one to fourteen years for robbery, to face another trial on a grand larceny charge.

The trial was begun yesterday before Judge Shenk and will be resumed today. Sullivan and Groves are accused of holding up an oil station at Sixteenth and Union streets on the night of June 19 and robbing G. C. Knight, station agent, of $16. The case against the two men is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moroney.

The men are asserted to have confessed the robbery to Deputy Sheriff William Bright, who brought them here from San Quentin.

SLAYER OF PHYSICIAN PARDONED

Man on Ten-Year Probation Killed Asserted Love Rival

Charles Lawrence Stokes, former captain in the Regular Army, who shot and killed Dr. Ernest E. Roberts as the result of asserted attentions to Mrs. Stokes, was granted a "Christmas pardon" yesterday by Gov. Stephens. He was on ten years' probation which had been granted after his plea of guilty to a manslaughter charge.

The slaying for which Stokes was arrested occurred on the night of Oct. 10, 1919. Stokes related the story of the tragedy on the witness stand. He charged that Dr. Roberts, a well-known Sawtelle physician, had been unduly familiar with Mrs. Stokes, and that despite repeated warnings had refused to discontinue calling upon her.

Returning to his home from a lodge meeting Stokes said he had seen the physician's car parked in front of the house. He went to the garage and secured a wooden club and a revolver. He intercepted the physician at the corner as the latter was driving away. A brief argument ensued after which Stokes beat the doctor with the club.

Stokes took the wheel of the car, at Dr. Roberts' request, he said, and they drove near La Brea. The prosecution produced evidence that a struggle occurred between the two men at this point, and that the car careened off the road into a ravine.

Dr. Roberts's body was found near the wreckage of the automobile which had caught fire after the accident. Death had been caused by four bullet wounds. Stokes declared the physician had jumped from the machine and run and that he had opened fire with his revolver.

CONCESSIONS OWNER SUES LEASING FIRM

The Venice Amusement Company filed suit for $50,000 damages yesterday against the Abbott Kinney Company for the destruction by fire of several of the amusement company concessions near the Venice Pier on Dec. 31, 1920.

Negligence on the part of the defendant in failing to provide sufficient water mains at the pier for fighting fires is charged. C. E. McDonald is attorney for the amusement company. The space on which the concessions were located was leased from the Abbott Kinney Company.

TAYLOR CLEW TALE SCOUTED

An investigation into the sanity of John Marazino, who told the Toledo police he knew who killed William Desmond Taylor, has been started in that city, dispatches late yesterday said. Marazino told the police of the Ohio city, they say, that he was being trailed by members of a country-wide "dope ring" who would kill him if they found him, and demanded protection.

Marazino was arrested when he entered a dwelling-house and asked to be hidden. He had a suit case full of women's clothing, which he said he had been using to disguise himself to elude the men on his trail.

"I know who killed Taylor and they know I know," said Marazino. "Their agents have followed me all the way from California here to put me out of the way because they fear I will tell. I have been hiding in Toledo for several weeks."

Los Angeles police put little credence in Marazino's story. A search of the records at Central Police Station showed that he is not known there, and they are inclined to believe he is either a notoriety seeker or unbalanced.

Taylor was murdered in his rooms in Hollywood last winter. The theory that a dope ring might have been responsible for the killing was held by the police for a time, but dropped for want of corroboration like many other "solutions" of the mystery.

Heavy Snows in Sierras Assure Water Supplies

That there will be exceptionally heavy snows on the Sierras this winter, resulting in a plentiful supply of pure mountain water for the people of Los Angeles next season, was reported yesterady by Aqueduct Engineer H. A. Van Norman, of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply. Mr. Van Norman has just returned from an extensive inspection tour of the Los Angeles Aqueduct line.

According to Van Norman, the snowfall on the Sierras, which is referred to as a "snow crop," already is unusually deep, coming far down on the slopes of the mountains. Heavy snows began to fall early in December and show every indication of continuing throughout the winter.

The Sierras snows are the source of the Los Angeles Aqueduct water supply. The annual run-off begins in May, the greatest volume usually coming in July. An exceptionally heavy "crop" this winter, Van Norman explained, will mean a supply of water that will next season fill the Aqueduct reservoirs to capacity.

Rockwood, baritone, sang Del Riego's "Slave Song," while Bernice Ainslee Bates, contralto, favored with "Sunset," by Dudley Buck, and these two singers gave a charming duet interpretation of "Passage Birds Farewell," by Hildack.

The rich tones of Mr. Rockwood's voice blended harmoniously with the clear and charming contralto of Miss Bates, which made of this final number an appealing musical epic.

Yesterday was very much KUS at KHJ. Mr. Jenkins telephoned just before 12 to ask that KHJ use his time on the air from 12 to 12:30. It so happened that Frank J. Steiner, of the Artists' Ensemble of Pasadena, was in The Times' Building, and since he had his cello with him, he graciously consented to go on and present a half-hour concert.

Mr. Steiner has won many plaudits from radio listeners for his superb 'cello interpretations. Unstinted has been the praise that he has honestly earned for the wonderful richness of his 'cello expressions, his finished technique and his ability to sway his invisible audience through giving them the very finest in music.

FIDDLING DUELIST HALED INTO COURT

It was a long time ago that Antonio Cortez made merry with a knife in the anatomy of Felipe Ramiles, and Antonio almost had forgotten the incident, which happened June 21, 1912, until he was haled before Justice Dowds yesterday. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burton brought out that Ramiles, fiddler at a dance, and Cortez got in an argument over a bottle of aguardiente and that Ramiles was carved in the neck, arms and body when the quarrel finished. Cortes was held to answer.

Christmas Sweetmeats

—Jevne Gift Boxes—from Bullock's Holiday Bureau.

—Ideal for Christmas "goodies" — exactly those unusually good things which Christmas seems to require.

One end has dried pears; stuffed pulled figs and stuffed black figs. One corner and the base have cluster raisins. Packed in fitted, round-cornered redwood box.*

Plenty of Toys

—A sufficiency for last-week toy shoppers—even after a Christmas season of unprecedented toy buying at Bullock's.

—For Bullock's just unpacked a hundred cases of New Foreign Toys and a whole carload of Wheel Goods for this last week before Christmas.

—Many kinds of toys are shown for the first time this week. Prominent among these, and shown for the first time Thursday, are:

Fire Engine Houses, $1.50

—Strong metal fire engine houses, each with a mechanical hook and ladder truck and fire engine, both having strong springs to make them run easily. But there are just 480 of these unusual-value toys—for today.

—There are dolls, doll houses, doll furniture, mechanical toys and trains, Robin Hood archery sets, games, stone building blocks—all in plenteous supply on the Fifth Floor.

Meccano Sets Complete

—A new shipment just unpacked makes Bullock's stock of Meccano Sets practically complete. Nearly every kind of Meccano Set from No. 0 at $1.50 to No. 6 at $40.00. Ideal gifts for boys. Accessory sets may be purchased for birthdays, etc., keeping up the boy's interest all through the year.

—In the Wheel Goods Section are plenty of autos, velocipedes, doll carriages, pedal cars, scooters, Pioneer coaster wagons with disc wheels (7 sizes from $3.00 to $12.00.)

—But toy buying is so spirited that even these large stocks are being quickly diminished. Consequently, the earlier your selection, the better.

—Toys—Fifth Floor. Wheel Goods—Seventh Floor.

BUSY BLACKMAILERS

It looks as if in a few years as many people would be paying blackmail as there are now paying their income tax. The dope rings are getting more people entangled than it could be thought possible. One does not even need to be a victim to become involved with blackmailers. The coils are wide and seem to be spreading with rapidity. With a great many wastrel minds blackmail has become a recognized trade and may be worked from various coigns of vantage. An organized legal campaign against the blackmailer is likely to become a national necessity. The blackmailer claims his tithe in everything from the poor box to the bank surplus.

NO MERIT IN STRIKING

Electrical workers are striking for $10 a day and double pay for overtime. They are now making an average of $8 a day, which is more than the city or county governments will pay for this class of work. They have employment all the year 'round and it is work that is usually pleasant and interesting. It is not difficult to learn and the rising generation takes readily to it. There should be no trouble in finding competent workers. The real purpose of the strike is said to be the complete unionization of the trade in this section. This should not be possible. The city owes its strength and commanding industrial position to its free labor. It is the American plan that has made the city the power it is and this must be maintained at all hazards. It is not a question of wages, but of principle.

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT

The assertion that school expenditures are 600 per cent greater than four years ago is incorrect. The County Superintendent insists that the increase is only 165 per cent. This is more than the advance in population, but it is only a striving to catch up with the times. The business of educating the young should be the most important modern undertaking and if the machinery is inadequate it must be made better. If it is shown that there is waste, loss, extravagance and incompetency, then it is time to interfere. It is possible that perfection in school management has not been attained. The schools of the State and nation could be standardized and operated at much less cost, but many communities would not be satisfied. The educational program appears to still be a local issue and while this condition exists extravagance and incompetence are bound to be encountered.

CHOICE OF THE HAREM

Now they are asking for husbands for the 156 women still remaining in the Sultan's harem. Approximately he has deserted them, for he cannot care or provide for them in his present station and they have nothing to which they can directly turn their hands. After a girl has spent ten or twelve years in a harem she cannot readily take up stenography or selling bicycles. She is not even of much use in a canning factory. So a distress call has gone forth for husbands as the simplest plan of easing a sad situation. Anybody wishing an amiable and buxom wife will do well to consult the grand vizier or whoever it is that has charge of the harem since the flight of its lawful lord. The collection is said to be an interesting and even an alluring one. All complexions and several races are represented. Most of them are of haughty lineage. There are daughters of sheiks. Possibly they might be called sheikannes—with the accent on the Buff Leghorn. But the pick of the Sultan's harem should be a pearl in any man's cup. If an international raffle could be held under the auspices of the League of Nations the ladies of the harem would not only have their future provided for, but the tickets would sell for enough to pay off the Turkish debt.

MURDERING SANTA CLAUS

The ruthlessness of the soviet government of Russia is appalling. Its latest heartless atrocity is an attempt to murder Santa Claus. It has issued an edict banishing dear old St. Nicholas from Russia and also driving out all angels. Tales of Santa and of angels, it holds, create also false impressions in childish minds and therefore have no place in such a holy and starkly truthful country as Russia.

Hadn't the soviets done enough to the children already? Couldn't they be content with bringing starvation and poverty and desolation to them? Must they also strive to take away the hopes and dreams which are the inalienable right of childhood, the things even the poorest and most miserable child cherishes and which have kept countless millions of unfortunate ones from despair and annihilation of soul?

Through centuries the legend of Santa Claus has brought happiness—happiness—to millions on millions of children. What has soviet Russia done compared to that? What is the combined work of all its misguided intellects compared to the work of one Hans Christian Andersen? Of one Grimm? Or even of one Maeterlinck or Barrie? What would childhood be without Santa Claus and angels and fairies? And what would children who never knew real childhood grow up to be?

This latest Russian decree is more diabolical than it seems on its face. It strikes at the foundations of imagination, of literature, or art, of beauty, of sweetness. It strikes at the joy of the world!

GIVE UNTIL YOU ARE HAPPY!

Christmas is a day when the heart is filled with joy that overflows in the form of gifts lavished upon those who usually do not need them.

Christmas is a day that brings heartaches as well as thrills of joy, tears as well as peals of laughter.

There are a great many anxious fathers and harassed mothers—and brothers and cousins—wandering around the streets of Los Angeles today asking themselves the perplexed question: "What on earth shall I give those people; they have every conceivable thing already?"

The Times has an answer to propose to that riddle:

Give them your best wishes and a Christmas card and send the money to children whose hearts are aching with disappointment and whose faces are stained with tears.

Let us make this a Christ Christmas by giving to relieve distress through the weeks and months to come instead of to those who do not need it.

This is a great, rich city. God has sent us prosperity almost beyond reckoning and beyond anticipation. Perhaps it is a loan to us—sent to us to see what use we will make of it.

Let us give a good account of our stewardship; let it not be said that we have hunger and want staring in upon our holiday feasts.

When Jesus Christ said "Suffer little children to come unto me" He did not refer to those children of his personal acquaintance who were correctly placed in the social scale. It was a blessing flung far and wide to all children, everywhere unto all time. And it is for us, who have received great blessings, to carry on His work and take up the torch.

Christmas has always been a selfish day when those who already have too much get too much more. It has been a day when those who have not are made to feel, as on no other days of the year, the injustice and inequality of their misfortunes.

And, as it usually happens, the highest idealism will be the greatest hard-headed common sense.

As a result of the World War the world has been impregnated with hate. It has been fed upon the propaganda of hatred until it is gorged with venom and bitterness.

This frightful sore—unless very promptly healed—is certain, sooner or later, to burst out in the form of wars, revolutions and social disturbances that will stagger the universe.

Hatred can only be taken away by love. The civilized world must change its thoughts if the storm is to be averted. When Jesus Christ laid upon mankind the admonition to "love one another" He had, as usual, a reason based upon common sense and a practical knowledge of the forces that govern human affairs and destinies.

There couldn't be a better place or a better time to turn over a new leaf than right here and now.

We were very successful in arousing enthusiasm and collecting money for a war that brought sorrow and agony to the world and reduced millions of children to poverty and suffering. Let us see what we can do toward whooping it up for something that will bring happiness and joy to the wistful, the hungry and the forsaken.

The Times has started the movement with a gift of $5000.

We invite every man, woman and child in Los Angeles to give in proportion to their ability. We suggest that every corporation that distributes a Christmas remembrance to its employees set aside a part of that money for this good purpose.

The funds so collected will be turned over to a strong general committee made up of the representatives of organizations who know where there is real, sincere need and who are in a position to prevent the misuse of the money.

Every cent contributed will go where it is needed; it will be distributed not only with generosity, but with good sense and by trained workers in public charity. It will not be spent in a day for a Christmas tree or a big dinner, good as those things are, but will give aid and comfort to the needy through the whole year.

Let us have a Christmas that we can remember with a glow of pride as the "dry Christmas" when there were no children's tears.

VIVIANI'S REPLY

Rene Viviani's reply to the Kaiser's Memoirs resembles the crowing of the Gallic coq. It is bright, sprightly, incisive, triumphant. Through it runs the spirit of lofty contempt. "The Kaiser handles the pen," scoffs the war Premier, "even more maladroitly than the sword."

Viviani wields a sharp, scintillating blade, and knows where to reach the weak points in his opponent's armor. His theme is right vindicated against unscrupulous might. One senses the buoyancy of spirit of the victor. The Hohenzollerns were destroyed as nature destroys those species which are not worthy to live longer.

From the beginning they were a race of unscrupulous marauders, a bandit breed that succeeded in placing themselves at the head of a nation. The great Frederick was a great rascal and thief. William I usurped the rights of the German people. When he threw upon the unprepared French people 1,000,000 well-armed and carefully trained Huns in 1870 he committed the crime of the century. His grandson attempted the same feat in 1914; but the French nation had been preparing for a second onslaught. She had made powerful friends in Europe and she fought for a just cause.

The attack failed, the dynasty fell and the whole world breathes easier by reason of a good riddance. To him the rise and fall of the German Empire is a wonderful melodrama, which ends, as all good plays should, with the guilty confounded and the innocent triumphant.

According to the Viviani version, destiny is the greatest of all romancers. She knows how to exalt the wicked, only to crush them the more completely in their fall. Right will always triumph, if backed by courage and persistence.

France is up, Germany is down; and all's well with the world.

Viviani writes with true Latin verve and imagination. He paints with words as a great colorist does with oils. He knows how to take advantage of the incidents of the political terrain; what figures to throw in bold relief and the ones to blend discreetly with the background. While the Kaiser, at his best, was only a copyist, Viviani is an artist.

But Viviani is sincere, earnest. He takes no liberties with the facts. His case, unlike that of the Kaiser, has no necessity for fictitious adornment. During the last twenty years of the Kaiser's reign Viviani was a prominent, at times a dormant, figure in French public life. Like the Kaiser, he was an actor on the diplomatic stage; and he knows from personal contact what was taking place in the green room and in the wings, carefully screened from the public view.

Neither does his case rest, as so often did that of the Kaiser, on unsupported asservation. In relating a conversation he names the speakers, never resorting to the subterfuge of introducing anonymous personages. His reply will find a permanent place in literature; for it is a brief but comprehensive history of fifty years of European diplomacy.

Think How Tough This Would Be

TURKEY'S INFANT INDUSTRIES

From perusing the foreign dispatches regarding the Turkish situation we glean the idea that it is a life-and-death matter to England, but that France has only an academic interest in the outcome. A memorandum adopted by the French Chamber of Commerce in Constantinople and forwarded to the French government reveals the falsity of this idea. The report was so distasteful to France that she ordered it suppressed, but not before copies had fallen into the hands of several English newspapers and these promptly published the memorandum.

From this we learn that France enjoys a larger trade than any other European nation with Turkey. This has recently been endangered by the Turkish demand for economic freedom, via the abolition of the capitulations. The unbusinesslike Osmanli has come out of his centuries-old trance and has evolved some excellent ideas for the financial and commercial development of his country.

One of these he must have stolen from the Republican party in the United States. The Turk has several infant industries that he believes would grow rapidly if freed from foreign competition by a stiff protective tariff. He goes America one better by demanding in addition an export duty on raw materials, in an attempt to keep them for home manufactures, instead of being sent to their usual destination in France.

Among other heretical ideas being entertained by the Mohammedans is that all permanent foreign residents in Turkey should pay the same taxes as the natives. This is a body blow, and the Chamber of Commerce emits moans of heartfelt misery thereat. Again the Osmanli is stealing a page from Uncle Sam's notebook; it is the intention of the Nationalist Assembly to enact rigid prohibition laws in the near future. Mohammedanism preaches total abstinence, but the Turk has been slipping the past few years and the legislators intend to take steps to prevent further back slides. Harsh laws have already been enacted in Anatolia, the stronghold of Kemal Pasha, one Frenchman spending several months in prison for presenting his own brother with two bottles of wine.

Strict enforcement of prohibition means an annual loss to France of more than 15,000,000 francs. She will fight it, but the Turk is adamant in his decision that the demon alcohol must go. A satisfactory settlement of the troublesome straits question is vital to England, but France has an equal interest in preserving intact her rich trade with Trukey.

LADY BOBBIES

London is having a hard time keeping a force of policewomen. It started out a year ago with a squad of lady "bobbies" and now has only twenty left. Though jobs haven't been over plentiful in England, the policewomen have resigned faster than new ones can be put in service.

The London dispatch doesn't give any reasons, which shows how far behind us Americans the Londoners are in appreciating the value of publicity. Any American police chief, facing the same dilemma, would have it all figured out that the first thing a lady cop cops is a husband, and the day after that appeared in the papers he would be overrun with applications, by personal call, mail and wire.

Think of the opportunities offered a policewoman. She has the right to pursue, to question, to investigate and to threaten with the law. She can learn more about man than even a girl in motion pictures can. She can go anywhere without endangering her reputation. And if any male insect should try to deceive and flout her, what couldn't she do to him?

So London's problem puzzles us. But we'd be willing to wager that if the London Chief of Police would employ any one of the army of hustling publicity agents in Los Angeles he wouldn't have any such problem by the end of a week.

FAIR AND FORTY

What has become of the old-fashioned idea that a woman aged faster than a man? At 40 a woman was supposed to be completely hors de combat in the battle of life and a man in his most roguishly entrancing years. Perhaps this was the case in bygone days, before beauty creams and parlors abounded in the land and lovely woman had to get up at 5 a.m. to feed a wood stove and perform the ceaseless household chores.

These modern times find woman completely emancipated from the dull round of domestic duties. Mechanical inventions and abundant delicatessens have lightened the labor of the cuisine and she has unlimited time to devote to the preservation of her fatal beauty. The result is that a woman in middle life has somewhat of an edge on the man, although, contrary to his characteristics, her vamping proclivities become less pronounced as the years roll by.

There is the bewhiskered joke anent the man exchanging his wife of 40 for a couple of twenties. Today milady of 40 patronizes the local beauty parlors; goes to New York and has pleats taken in her face, with the result that husband resembles her father. One local beauty den advocates a girl starting a savings account in her twenties, adding at least $10 every month and when 40 she will be supplied with ample funds to have all manner of changes and improvements made in her physiognomy. When this becomes a settled habit with the feminine sex jokesmiths will have to revise their wares somewhat, for it will be friend husband who will be quaking in his boots when his fair and 40 wife flits forth with her brand new alabaster face.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

Appearances Are Deceiving

The snow-capped top of the mountain—how plainly we can all see it; how hard it is to to make out the laborious, winding trail, beset with obstacles, that leads to the peak.

When James J. Hill was president of the Northern Pacific a young college graduate asked him how to succeed in the railroad business.

"Work like h—l for forty years," answered Hill.

Anybody could see Hill riding over the road in his private car; only those who knew saw him patiently learning the business step by step, oftener than not in the face of tremendous discouragements.

Almost every day we wonder how it is that So-and-so made good—he did not seem to have any startling qualities; he seemed just ordinary, matter-of-fact, working along and minding his business; but in practically every single case investigation will show that this man prospered because he toiled and thought—he had ideas and energy and purpose—the hidden springs that fertilize work as the invisible underground rivers of India produce its rich harvests.

The locomotive slips smoothly along the railroad tracks—how simple, how easy it all seems; but hundreds of thousands of men sweated in quarries, in the bowels of the earth, in forests, in machine shops, in cabinet shops so we could fly on the wings of vapor at sixty or more miles.

We board a trans-Atlantic liner and immediately we notice the tasteful decorations, the gilded, luxurious cabins adorned with specimens of the sculptor's art; we are almost unaware of the beautiful boat's gliding gracefully and swiftly through the swells and we remark on the steady, easy motion; but it is no easy power that gives to this water traveler her grace and speed—in the engineer's fiery domain hundreds of humans are sweltering in the burning pit; straining, groaning boilers are hissing with bursting steam; it is the tremendous force of fire and water combined that is the more important part of this ocean-carrier—and that is rarely if ever seen or commented upon.

Don't be led astray by the "looks" of things—appearances are deceiving—none more so than the evidences of achievement.

Whatever is worth while costs—frequently heavily—and every man who has succeeded has paid the price—appearances notwithstanding.

FOREFATHERS' DAY

BY ALTA JUDD JENYNS

The definite landing of the Pilgrims from the Mayflower, in 1620, first commemorated in 1769, was on December 11, Old Style calendar, but on December 21 by the New Style. A mistake, however, having made the date December 22, this was henceforth the day celebrated as the anniversary of that event.

What an event it was, indeed!—even for us of this generation, far-distant, the beneficiaries of their bravery and inspiration—those forefathers of the Abrahamic faith! The founding of a colony on the right to liberty of conscience!

Some days previously members of this noble band had made a tentative landing at Provincetown that the men might search for food and the women wash the clothes. Even those seemingly commonplace tasks were invested with their great purpose to found a new country where they could worship God according to the light that came to them individually. The loyal simplicity of their tastes and pursuits as shown in the place that the stability of home had in their lives was indicated at once and was one of their chief characteristics.

The foremothers, as well as the forefathers, were faithful to the impelling motive which brought them—to live where they could be free in their search for truth. Neither the men nor the women would turn back, despite the sufferings and hardships to be borne, and the death of so large a proportion of their number. By spring only fourteen of the twenty-six women had survived, but they would not return with the Mayflower to England. The great objective of the Pilgrims was to do their full duty. They were willing and devoutly glad to toil and endure to the very limit for their principle.

"The coming of the Pilgrims three centuries ago shaped the destinies of this continent, and therefore profoundly affected the destiny of the whole world," said President Roosevelt at the laying of the corner-stone of the Pilgrim Memorial Monument in Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 20, 1890.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot spoke of the Mayflower Pilgrims as having founded and maintained a state without a king or noble and a church without a bishop or priest.

Those Pilgrims had made their compact before landing "for the glory of God, the advancement of the Christian faith and just and equal laws and constitutions for the general good of the colony unto which, in the presence of God, they solemnly promised due submission and obedience."

Who loves our country is not unmindful of the meaning of Forefathers' Day, with its emphasis upon the development of democratic ideals. That small beginning of great things resulted in public schools and government by the people. Freedom of the press was a natural consequence. The coming of the Pilgrims to the New World was in the order of divine progress unfolding the sovereignty of man and freedom under the law.

From the incorporation of religion with the state they had seen and experienced, many of them, persecutions, banishment, tragedies, extreme cruelties and were therefore dissenters, separatists. They knew that a nation can be truly exalted only by righteousness. Liberty, safeguarded by law, from the first was a foundational standard controlling them. They did not stop with seeking for more Christian faith, but sought for more knowledge of the path of life as pointed out by the founder of Christianity and reiterated by those who founded the Christian churches during the 300 years after the time of Christ Jesus, as well as immediately after his resurrection.

The system of selection which they established as to what applicants should be admitted to citizenship and land grants and participate in the exalted liberty of the new life made their communities safe, clean and co-operative. In reading their histories one feels that the stamp of grandeur of character prevailed. They were not money-seekers, but were patient and energetic builders of character and towns. To them the commonwealth meant the common weal, the general welfare. A sad departure from their standard is seen today in the tremendous mistake of prophesying the overthrow of the teachings and ideals of the Christ for the lazy philosophy and confusing destructiveness of Socialistic perversions. So earnestly imbued were they with the aspiring struggles of centuries past that they had no place for such phenomena as the modern excessive sporting life, no room for self-indulgence, that forerunner of destruction, crime and suicide.

The peace of the world consists not in the chaos of infidelity toward either human or divine obligations; but it does consist in such loyalty to divine law and righteous human law and to man's true interests as the great Master taught and lived. The hope of the world can never be answered by the mere sharing of material possessions, but by each performing, in the beauty and miraculous might of right, his part in the world's work. Then, sharing the benefits thereof, in justice to oneself and others and "for the glory of God," as did the forefathers, one can be a worthy descendant of such ancestors and not an unworthy descender from their plane of thought and action. Where it is felt to be a joy and privilege to do what ought to be done for the general good there will be the happiness of good will, of kindly and competent service; and plenty of wholesome and harmless pleasure, proving one's mettle and "playing the game" squarely.

Since the year 1620 mankind has advanced in human ways—the arts, professions and inventions particularly. General knowledge, free inquiry and larger opportunity for women are leading factors in the spread of civilization. Yet we must admit that there is great need of the "Pilgrim spirit," the accent upon ethical and spiritual values. Only with those Christly qualities can we achieve justice for all and the universal priesthood of understanding—man endued with divine wisdom and love.

REBUILDING THE MAYFLOWER

Preparing to make a film drama from the "Courtship of Miles Standish," Charles Ray has made an exhaustive research into the records left by the Mayflower.

He learns, among other things, that the Mayflower was responsible for the first wash day.

The Pilgrims came to land on a Sunday; but, being devoutly religious, refrained from washing their clothing soiled by a long and filthy voyage until Monday morning. Hence these tears!

It is a coincidence of the journey of the Mayflower that the vessel was 102 feet long, bore exactly 102 passengers to our shore and was 102 days in making its journey.

Early in his investigations Mr. Ray found that there was very little exact knowledge about the Mayflower. Her dimensions were found in the ship's registry in London archives, where it was also learned that, in addition to the passengers, there was a crew of twenty-five composed of buccaneer and private adventurers (John Alden was one of the latter and not a member of the religious sect when he left London.) Most of the crew and extra passengers were criminals recruited from the prison gates of England where many a merchant ship of the times was wont to gather up its men.

There are three "accepted" designs of the Mayflower. One is in the National Museum at Washington made by Admiral Paris and Capt. Collins out of the meager references that they could scrape up about the boat; another in the Philadelphia Commercial Museum and a third in the possession of the Plymouth Society of Boston.

There is still another representation, made entirely of silver, in the possession of the heirs of Walter Hines Page, our late Ambassador to Great Britain, which was presented to him with the freedom of the city of Plymouth, Eng., during his incumbency. This, like the others, was made from such information as exists in the traditions back in the home town of the Pilgrims.

All the impressions of the Mayflower are given us by artists who have gotten their impressions from the meager data on record and the general knowledge that has come down about the design of the deep-water craft of the period.

The Mayflower was so filthy that some of the pigs and cattle carried on board died of disease and sickness was rampant among the crew, who lived in the greatest squalor. It is of record that some of the sick sailors were thrown into the pig stys by their heartless fellows to die.

The crew treated the Pilgrims with the greatest contempt and severity and at one stage of the voyage there was an agitation among them for killing the Pilgrims and turning back to England. The devout Pilgrims returned good for evil, nursing some of the sick sailors and in that way breaking down much of the hostility between the two parties.

Many people never learned in their school books that the Pilgrims were brought to America by a brutal pirate crew of the choicest "Treasure Island" variety who treated the seekers for religious liberty with great severity or that a terrific storm at sea almost destroyed the frail vessel.

The Pilgrims also had the hostility of a score of riff-raff adventurers gathered in London and sent along by the financial backers of the enterprise, who hoped to make money out of the colony that was planned.

These settled in Weymouth and soon perished miserably as the result of their improvidence and vagabondage.

Mr. Ray has caused to be constructed an exact replica of the vessel; but gentle irony! The replica is of structural steel.

ZONE VETO OVERRIDDEN BY COUNCIL

Property Owners Prepare to Sidetrack Project of Hollywood Hospital

Mayor Cryer's veto of the ordinance changing the zoning laws to permit the Hollywood Hospital Company to use all of its lot on Vermont avenue at Fountain street for its $500,000 hospital building was overridden yesterday by the City Council by a vote of 6 in favor of changing the law, as provided by the ordinance, and three—Councilmen Mushet, Sparks and Wheeler—opposed.

Although the regular meeting day of the Council's Public Welfare Committee is Wednesday, the committee unexpectedly presented a report yesterday morning recommending that the Mayor's veto be overridden. A number of the protesting property owners in the district adjacent to the proposed hospital, who had signed a 90 per cent petition against the changing of the zoning laws as asked for by the hospital company, were in the Council chamber, and with I. W. Camp as their spokesman, asked that the Mayor's veto be sustained and that the Council not reverse its former action taken several months ago, when it sustained the protest of the property owners and refused to change the zoning laws.

Mr. Camp said after yesterday's hearing that the property owners would at once appeal to the courts for an injunction restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance and from issuing a building permit for the hospital.

SPREAD HIS LOVE ABOUT, WIFE AVERS

Osteopath Charged With Conspicuous Friendliness to "Other Women"

Dr. Clarence L. Nye paid more attention to another woman than he did to his wife, a complaint for divorce filed yesterday by Mrs. Helena M. Nye relates. Mrs. Beatrice Broom was the one on whom he bestowed his time and affections, the complaint charges.

According to the information contained in the document, for some months past Dr. Nye, who is a well-known osteopathic physician and surgeon, has been friendly with Mrs. Broom. His wife suspected much, she declares, but it was not until recently that she learned of her husband's amours. Then she learned, it is declared, that he was often in his darkened office with Mrs. Broom for hours and was taking her to dinner and the theater.

Mrs. Nye asserts that her husband, on several occasions, met Mrs. Broom at his office, went to dinner with her, then to the theater and afterward returned to the office, where they remained for some time.

On one occasion, she avers, they registered at a West Sixth street hotel.

Since the Nyes' marriage on January 1, 1914 there have been a number of tilts in their home, it is stated. Dr. Nye is reputed to have called his wife a "hog" in the presence of others. Griffith Jones and John J. Craig represent Mrs. Nye.

Effort to Clog Courts Seen in Jury Trial Plea

Fifty-two asserted "Wobblies," taken in a raid at Los Angeles Harbor Monday night, asked for separate jury trials when they were arraigned before Justice Crawford, charged with being "dissolute and idle persons." They were transferred to Department Three where Justice Frederickson said their cases could not be reached before February. They were committed to jail in default of $300 bail each.

Members of the "Wobbly" squad, Detective Sergeants Wayne and Evans and Inspector Dismond of the District Attorney's staff, saw in the demand for jury trials an effort to clog up the courts.

Seven of the men taken in the raid were lodged in the County Jail on charges of criminal syndicalism. They will be given hearings today.

COURT PANHANDLED FOR PRICE OF BED

After the adjournment of court yesterday, a distraught individual, who afterward gave the name of John Maki, approached U. S. District Judge Bledsoe and inquired if he would be so kind as to stake him for the price of a bed. The man's manner caused Judge Bledsoe to summon Deputy U. S. Marshal Mangarino, who took Maki to the psychopathic ward of the County Hospital for observation.

Maki insists that he is a member of the soviet, and thinks Woodrow Wilson is still President of the United States.

People and Their TroubleS

Listen, World!

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY Clara Robinson

G. K. Chesterton is a very famous man so perhaps there may be much wisdom in the following remarks. Or, again, perhaps there may not be. Fame isn't always an antiseptic against saying fool things. Be that as it may, Mr. Chesterton says that "there never were any uneducated people until there was compulsory education." And if he had his way we'd all go right back to the good old hand-to-mouth method of acquiring knowledge.

He says—"The very nature of family life had always involved the transmission of all sorts of tricks of trade or tales of a grandfather. Practically all children were taught something about their forebears in the past. Practically all children were taught something about how to earn their living in the future. We may think that this stream of information from father to son very insufficient; but it was a stream that never stopped until a great dam was built across it by modern bureaucracy. For the school did discredit the parent and the parental tradition. It never dreamed of inquiring what the parental tradition was. The schoolmaster never taught a village child all the very cunning crafts of an agricultural laborer; he never taught them because he never learned them . . . . Instead of that the village school has taught for fifty years a tangle of things that the parents knew and cared nothing about. And the result is now that the children know as little and care less. The new things have been taught, but they have not been learned."

Well, what do you think about it?

There is no doubt that we could dispense quite nicely with compulsory education if a boy were destined to know and to be only that which his father and grandfather and great-grandfather had been before him, as in the remote days of English history to which Mr. Chesterton refers with such longing. But suppose the boy wants to know something that his father can't possibly teach him and that none of the elders of his village can teach him? Suppose, born in a farming community, he aspires to be a radio operator or an interior decorator? That's one of the many arguments against Mr. Chesterton's little plan. But on the other hand, is there not some sense in what he says? Does modern education equip a boy as well for practical life as the home training and apprenticeships of long ago.

Which is better? Tell me what you think.

Question: On how many roads has the strike of the shopmen been settled?

A. K.

Answer: Officers of the unions have been quoted as saying that agreements have been reached on 184 railroads. Out of 350,000 striking shopmen about 175,000 are back at work.

Q.: What did the Governor of North Carolina say to the Governor of South Carolina?

J. H. B.

A.: The historic speech of the Governor of North Carolina to the Governor of South Carolina when they met on the staircase of the "old White" at Sulphur Springs, is said to have been, "It is a long time between drinks."

Q.: Please tell something about the American Samoan Islands.

L. O. E.

A.: The people of American Samoa are largely native; the total number approximates 7550. The area of the Islands is seventy-seven square miles. Nearly all the land is owned by natives. The soil is fertile; fruits chiefly oranges, grapefruit, limes and citron, are cultivated. Copra is the staple product. There are eighteen public schools in which the English language is taught.

Q.: When were tin cans first used?

O. L. T.

A.: In 1839 William Underwood began to substitute tin for glass in the canning business, but it was a number of years before the use of the tin can may be said to have been established. The first machine-made can was invented by Allen Taylor in 1847.

Q.: Who said, "A nod is as good as a wink to a blind horse?"

F. W. R.

A.: The quotation is from Thomas Chandler Haliburton, who was born in Nova Scotia and died in England.

Q.: What causes the explosions when a cane-brake is on fire?

T. M. B.

A.: Cane-stalks being hollow, having no pith, and being divided inside every few inches into sections, are very combustible when dried in the sun, and the air confined within the hollow sections warmed by the external heat explodes with very considerable force, so that a cane-brake on fire gives the idea of a continued roar of distant musketry.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

Watch the Safety Valve

LOS ANGELES.—[To the Editor of the Times:] In his address to the Congress last week President Harding called attention to the necessity of correcting some of the evils attendant upon the influx of undesirable aliens.

The great trouble with the spread of radical revolutionary ideas in this country, whether by aliens or misguided natives, is the exaggerated idea our people have as to "free speech." We have all been educated to hold in distinct reverence the overworked thought that the Constitution guarantees "free speech" to everybody, regardless of what incendiary ideas are promulgated. Aliens so ignorant that they do not know our institutions—nor our form of government—immediately mount the soap box and in a foreign tongue urge their listeners to fight the "capitalistic class" and to overthrow the government, not knowing that in this country there is no such thing as a "capitalistic class." The laborer of today is the capitalist of tomorrow—but the trouble-breeding alien does not know this and supposes that the catch phrases he learned abroad apply here and that he cannot be punished for shouting his vicious advice and arguments because the Constitution of the very country he is trying to disrupt guarantees him "free speech." I note that the I.W.W. who were recently arrested in Los Angeles immediately applied for a jury trial in order to plead the unconstitutionality of the California law under which they were arrested. All such people are great believers in the sanctity of our Constitution when they want it as a life-preserver. This fellow Small, who happens to be Governor of Illinois by the grace of Thompson and Lundin, pardoned William Bross Lloyd and his entire gang as soon as they were imprisoned, on the ground that the Illinois law was unconstitutional. Lloyd did not object to that view of the "law" but when the police of Chicago issued an order that no red flag should be displayed, he fastened such a banner to his automobile and drove around Chicago challenging arrest, to show contempt for the law.

It seems to me that the all-prevalent idea of free speech should be confronted by the evident intent of the framers of our Constitution. It is inconceivable that anybody can seriously believe that the Constitution of the United States guarantees the right of any man to viciously and maliciously urge a group of revolutionaries and mentally twisted unworthies to attack and destroy the very institutions the Constitution of the United States was framed to guard. A concerted attempt to overthrow this government would involve wholesale murder, destruction of property and would destroy all personal rights. The Constitution of the United States never guaranteed the free speech that could lead to such results—and it seems advisable for the United States Supreme Court to construe the wording of the Constitution to unmistakably define what "free speech" means—and what it does not mean.

To be sure, Eugene Debs has very bitterly expressed his contempt for the Supreme Court, but there are still several people left in this country who respect its opinions.

With the recklessness of speech customary all over the country—with the growing unrest that is so prevalent, especially among aliens—with the Bolsheviki now in the Senate and House at Washington, it seems a mighty good time for the law-abiding people of this country—the people who do the business and pay the bills—to shout forth what shall be done and what shall not be done in the United States.

The basic principle of our Government is "liberty for all"—but in our anxiety to observe the traditions we have stretched good-natured leniency to the breaking point.

Let's stop before the explosion.

CHARLES B. HARGER.

Going and Coming

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17.—[To the Editor of the Times]: From July 1, 1908, to July 1, 1913, I was in business in South America, with main office and residence in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

I returned to the United States in the summer of 1913 and for a while made my home in Washington, D. C.

Blanks were mailed me from the treasury department for the purpose of making income tax returns.

While I owned taxable property in this country, upon which taxes had been paid, the income from it was small, not placing me upon an income-paying basis.

I took the blanks to the United States Treasury Department for information and explanation, and was there questioned regarding my business in South America, and told I would have to pay an income tax upon my earnings in that country.

I protested, and made the point that I had paid heavy taxes, and of many kinds in the foreign country, where the income was earned, and made the further point under my protest why it was unjust that I should pay such a tax, namely, that only a short time before my leaving South America, I read in La Presna one morning the edict of our then worthy Secretary of State, Mr. Bryan, which was, in effect, that American citizens in foreign countries should come home at once, and if they did not, and got into trouble, they need not expect assistance from this government.

After expressing my views frankly to the gentlemen in the Treasury Department, arguing that it subjected me to double taxation, and that further I was being taxed and denied protection, referring to Mr. Bryan's edict, I was curtly told such was the interpretation of the income tax law, and that I would have to pay. I paid.

In your editorial columns you quote largely from the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Herbert Hoover.

To the layman it raises the question as to why our statesmen and representatives in Washington require so long a time to discover what he discovered and tried to have righted years before.

Mr. Hoover, now at the end of nine years, is discovering exactly what I argued for in 1913.

T. A. WHITWORTH.

Says He'll Fight

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been a peace-loving citizen all my life; did not believe in war, but when the pulpit, four-minute men and the newspapers all spoke about how necessary it was to enter the "world's war" and fight for "liberty and democracy, make this world a fit place to live in," etc., I enlisted and went "over there" to fight for liberty and democracy. When we came back we found that while the brawn and brain were absent the slackers, senile and hypocrites voted our freedom away. One of your correspondents says why not make the U. S. Army enforce the liquor laws? Evidently he does not know the soldiers of today. They have not forgotten the treatment they have received for the suffering "over there." As for the "holier than thou" people who claim to be followers in the footsteps of Jesus, the Christ, I suppose if He came in our midst now they would have him jailed for bootlegging. If He was opposed to wine He would not have made it Himself at the biblical wedding feast, after they had consumed the stock on hand.

My wife and I make our own home-brew and it is unadulterated and better than what was sold in the past.

I have the same automatic that I carried while in France, and if any prohibition officer is looking for trouble by trying to enter my home he will meet a hot reception. I do not sell, but will not allow anyone to dictate to me what I shall eat or drink. I fought and suffered for liberty and will again. Our children's children, one hundred years from now will marvel that their forefathers were so ignorant that laws had to be passed to regulate their diet.

Why do they not pass laws to prohibit the use of automobiles because now and then some ignorant fool runs over a man and kills him. Because there are a few imbeciles that don't know enough to quit drinking or let it alone all the other inhabitants of "this land of the free" are put in the same class. They told the voters we could get along without jails as our jails would be empty, etc. I see that L. A. is talking about erecting a new and larger one. Foreign countries laugh when we call this "the land of the free."

Queries Bible Students

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This department is interesting to me. I want to ask some questions. I hope that if anyone offers an answer it will be in the same spirit that the questions are asked. Also, that the answer will be from the Bible, and a clear answer to the question and not something that means different from what it really says. Don't for a minute think I am a disbeliever. I am not. I think we should teach the Bible as it reads and not as some men say it means. Figurative language of course excepted. It says all men, when speaking of salvation. Is that not so?

Does it say the spirit of man will be punished? Does it say the spirit will die? Does it not say the spirit of man returns to the God who gave it? Are there any exceptions mentioned in the Bible to that rule? Where does the Bible tell us that the immortal soul will be punished. Will it die? Will it suffer? I have spent some time trying to find the answer to above questions as taught in Sunday-school and pulpit. I can't find it in the Bible and wonder if anyone can. Now, don't think I want an argument. I do not. I want the passages in the Bible without argument or explanation that any one not having been taught of punishment would understand. I would refer to the following passages:

Tim. 4:10, I John 2:2, Isaiah 45:17, Gen. 12:3, Gen. 28:14, Gal. 3:8, Acts 3:25, I Cor. 15:22, Heb. 2:9. For myself all I care for would be the references.

PITT PANTHERS WIND UP

Warner Proteges Finish Eastern Practice and Prepare for Western Trip

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PITTSBURG, Dec. 20.—The Pitt Panthers had their last home workout this afternoon at the Trees Stadium and Coach Warner made them step out pretty lively for two hours as the weather had moderated from yesterday and was more like the November weather that helped put the Panthers in trim to defeat W. and J. and Penn State. Almost everything but heavy scrimmaging was indulged in and Warner expressed his satisfaction at the close of the practice session, saying if the boys did not change their mental attitude before December 30 the Stanford lads were in for a tough experience.

The boys will spend Thursday with their home folks and leave on the Chicago Limited tomorrow night. San Francisco is preparing a real welcome for the University of Pittsburg football team upon its arrival in the California city on Christmas morning for its big intersectional game with Andy Kerr's Leland Stanford Cardinals at Palo Alto on Saturday, December 30.

Graduate Manager K. B. Davis of the Panthers today received the following telegram from James Rolph, Jr., Mayor of San Francisco: "San Francisco is preparing a hearty welcome and local fans are glad you will spend Christmas here. You will meet a great team from a great university and the whole community will give you the same friendly admiration it gives the home players."

From other sources also it has been learned that San Francisco is preparing to do itself proud in welcoming the Panthers. The Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations in the Coast city are co-operating along this line. Of course, the entertaining will be considerably restricted because the Panthers will be in strict training during their stay in the West before the game. However, numerous sightseeing tours have been arranged and the Pitt lads will be given the freedom of the city.

The officials for the Pitt-Stanford game have been agreed upon. They are to be George Varnell, well-known Coast football authority; Tom Thorp of Columbia University and Walter Eckersall of Chicago. Just which one will referee has not yet been decided. This will be agreed upon by Coaches Warner and Kerr shortly before the game. Varnell is considered a real authority on grid games on the Coast and the fact that he and Thorp and Eckersall have been obtained to act as officials insures that the game will be handled in a thoroughly up-to-date and efficient manner. Eckersall is the leading official of the Middle West and Thorpe one of the best men in the East.

BASEBALL COLLEGE GETS CUB STUDENTS

There is a possibility that one or two Coast League clubs may place some of their youngsters with the National College of Baseball at Burbank for further training and development, according to George Wheeler, who will be one of the instructors when the school opens.

This is rather a new idea, and the suggestion came as something of a surprise to the organizers of the college. Six months in the college for a player would cost a club little more than "farming" him in the East, where in a small league he might receive instruction of doubtful value, while were he in this locality he could be recalled at any time.

KIRKWOOD AND HAGEN WILL PLAY

Professionals to Take on Fred Wright and Partner in Week-End Tilt

Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood will have their hands full when they meet Fred Wright and either Doc Hunter or State champion Neville at the Flintridge Country Club tomorrow and Saturday. To date the professionals have had a rather easy time of their tour, but when they meet the Flintridgers they will have to step if they wish to come out in the lead.

Wright holds the course record at Flintridge, which will mean that Hagen and Kirkwood will be somewhat handicapped to start with, and with a partner who also knows the course it ought to be hard sledding for the visitors.

As a preliminary to the Flintridge match, Hagen and Kirkwood will travel out to San Gabriel, where they will play a match with the best of the Mission club. The course should be easy for Hagen, as there is not a 5-par hole on the course that the big boy will not be able to make in two or at most three shots. However, he may have a little trouble on the greens, as they are not in the best of condition, due to the heavy rains during the past week.

FRESHMEN MUST DO THEIR PAINFUL DUTY

Due to lack of anything better to beat up, Gloomy Gus Henderson, football mentor of the University of Southern California, was forced yesterday to admit that he had requested the freshmen again to don their uniforms and turn out to work against the varsity.

Scrimmage practice will be held daily during vacation and, although the frosh are expected to come out somewhat the worse for wear, they claim that the varsity men will know that they are in scrimmage.

"POP" PREDICTS CLOSE CONTEST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 20.—Victory by not more than one touchdown and possibly by only one point, has been predicted for Pittsburg in its football game here with Stanford, December 30 by Glenn (Pop) Warner, coach of the Eastern Panthers, according to a telegram received here today from Pittsburg.

Warner fears his men will enter the game overconfident, the wire said. The Panthers have been practicing on an indoor track and will leave for the West tomorrow.

ELEVENS GATHER FORCES

Bakersfield and Berkeley Squads to Battle for State Prep Grid Title Saturday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 20.—A complete list of the Berkeley grid stars was received by Principal H. A. Spindt of the high school here today. Berkeley is sending down a large group of players to oppose Coach "Goldie" Griffith's Drillers Saturday in the biggest football fracas ever held in Bakersfield.

The Berkeley eleven is in good shape for the coming struggle with a two weeks' practice behind them to put them in perfect shape for the gruelling contest.

The Driller eleven is also grinding its way down the practice field each night, patiently awaiting their battle with the northern team. With the exception of a slight injury to Capt. Giraud's neck and Caldwell's lame kicking toe and a broken finger on his passing hand, the Drillers are also in fine condition for their titular battle. Although Caldwell is also handicapped by these two determents he is showing up exceptionally well and both he and Giraud should be in good shape by Saturday.

The northern eleven will leave Berkeley Thursday night and will arrive here some time Friday morning. Practice by the northern squad will be held at the fair grounds Friday, and probably early Saturday morning in perfection for the great contest in the afternoon.

The following players from Berkeley are eligible to participate in the battle, according to Principal C. L. Biedenach of the Berkeley High School:

E. Ackerman, R. Buzard, D. Brewer, M. Compton, J. Driver, J. Dougarty, R. Farnsworth, R. Green, D. Koch, S. Lyon, W. Mills, H. Marshall, M. Murphy, E. Moffett, R. Ryan, C. Smith, R. Sleeper, W. Wilkins, C. White, S. Wilson, J. Collins, J. Scarlett, R. Hassler, N. Green, P. Clymer, William Wood, J. Hemphill, J. Sutton, J. Stuart, H. Davenport, R. Post.

TO GROUP DAVIS TEAMS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The lawn-tennis teams of the nations taking part in the Davis Cup competitions here, will be divided into two groups known as "American" and "European," the ultimate winners in each group playing each other and the winner of this contest playing the holder of the cup.

Adoption of this system was decided upon today by representatives of twelve nations figuring in the Davis Cup competitions.

Each team is to be allowed to choose the group it wishes to enter for the contest leading to the challenge round.

Henry Slocum represented the United States and also watched the proceedings on behalf of Japan at today's meeting.

It was decided to admit Hawaii, the Philippines, New Zealand, Italy and Rumania to future Davis Cup competition.

ICE SKATERS TO HOLD FESTIVAL IN CHICAGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A full program of events for senior and junior men and women will be staged at the national outdoor speed ice-skating championship here January 26, 27 and 28, it was announced today by Julian T. Fitzgerald, chairman of the championship committee, which will have charge of the big event.

Montreal, where the Canadian national championship, and St. John, N. B., where the international championships will be held, are still undecided as to whether they will hold the junior and women's races, but with the determined stand of the Chicago officials as a lead, the Canadian bodies backing the championships at Montreal and St. John are expected to follow suit and stage a full program.

PETTY OFFICERS PUT ON SNAPPY CONTESTS

Tonight at the harbor the Chief Petty Officers' Club will put on a fast series of bouts. In the main event Sailor Fisher and Sailor Thode will step for four fast rounds. Both these boys are clever fighters and, according to Frank Crowley, matchmaker, tonight's fight will be a whirlwind.

In the semi-wind-up Benny Demske and Dan Gillen will tangle for first honors. These two boys are out for blood and the battle should develop into a free-for-all that will be worth while.

The complete card is as follows:

Sailor Fisher vs. Sailor Thode, lightweights.
Benny Demske vs. Dan Gillen, middleweights.
Sailor Evans vs. Sailor Wilde at 130 pounds.
Young Cabaldy vs. Sailor Stearns at 158 pounds.
Sailor Bernardo vs. Sailor Goicho at 118 pounds.
Fred Brady vs. Ted Snyder, heavyweights.

TROJANS DEVELOP GREAT GYM TEAM

One of the best gymnasium teams which has been boasted by the University of Southern California in a number of years has been developed by Coach Lee this season.

The first of a number of exhibitions will be given by the squad in the first week after the Christmas holidays and a number of meets will be held with other colleges of the Pacific Coast Conference and Southern California.

JEFF NINE TO PRACTICE

Coach Lopez will start baseball practice out at Jefferson High just as soon as the holidays are over, according to word received yesterday. Lopez will have two veterans back as well as several members of last year's squad and is figuring on a successful season.

RED KILLEFER RETURNS HOME

Angel Leader is Satisfied With Dumovich Deal

Radiant One Say Golvin to be League's Class

Jim York Signs With Locals for 1923 Season

Golvin will be the first-basing sensation of the Coast League the coming season, unless Manager Red Killefer of the Angels has been tipped off all wrong regarding this player.

Killefer, on his return from the East yesterday afternoon, was very enthusiastic over the Los Angeles club prospects for 1923 as the result of the men he obtained from the Chicago Cubs in the Nick Dumovich deal, and others to come. These included Golvin, first baseman; Maisel, outfielder; Marty Krug, second baseman, and Percy Jones, left-handed pitcher.

Also, Killefer announced that he brought back with him the signed contract of Jim York, another southpaw. York was turned over to Los Angeles by the Cubs last season, but preferred to play independent ball. Killefer talked Los Angeles to York like Frank Wiggins talks it to the public at large with the result that once recalcitrant pitcher is counting the days in his very eagnerness to cast his lot in our midst.

Another outfielder is to come to Los Angeles in the Dumovich deal, and if he can be obtained will round out the garden in good shape. The holdovers are Twombly, Carroll and McCabe. Then there will be Maisel and the other outfielder yet to be obtained. He has been selected, but there is the problem of getting him waived out of the big league.

Dixie Carroll will be sent a contract and allowed to fight it out with this array of talent.

"Golvin's fielding is the talk of the East," declared Killefer. "Mike Kelly, St. Paul manager, would have given a lot of money for the privilege of retaining him. Jones has a world of stuff, but is inclined to be wild. Krug will help out infield greatly, and Maisel, I think, will prove very valuable."

Brother Bill Killefer, manager of the Cubs, hopes for big things from Nick Dumovich. He went through

GONZAGA TEAM ARRIVES TODAY

Bulldogs Will Hold Workout on Bovard Field

Squad Proceeds to San Diego After Practice

Victory Expected by Spokane Eleven, Christmas

At 8 o'clock this morning, the Gonzaga University football team, which is to face West Virginia Christmas Day at San Diego, will arrive in Los Angeles via the Southern Pacific. The team will be taken immediately to Bovard Field, at the University of Southern California for a short workout, before continuing on to San Diego.

In a late message received here last evening from Dorais he had the following to say concerning the chances of the Bulldogs against West Virginia: "The boys realize that the Mountaineers with their wonderful record for the season will prove a terribly tough team to defeat. And I know that Fat Spears develops lines that are veritable stone walls. However, Gonzaga will present an open game that day which may fool them. The boys are looking forward to victory."

AIR PASS EXPONENT

Coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, coach of Gonzaga, is one of the most famous exponents of the forward pass ever developed in the history of football. In his days at Notre Dame, the Dorais-to-Rockne combination became known from coast to coast as the most wonderful passing combination ever developed. Dorais possessed an uncanny accuracy in hurling the pass and Rockne, present coach at Notre Dame, possessed an equally uncanny ability to "snag" them.

Dorais was selected All-American quarterback in 1913 by vote of the sports writers of the country—the only man to be selected for that berth on an All-American eleven by vote. He was a great field general and a wonderful open-field runner, but it was his passing that made him one of the most popular selections on the team of that year.

Dorais has developed a team at Gonzaga University which so close-

Gar Wood's Speed Boats Set Cross-Country Record

PAIR OF FAST CHIPS ARRIVE

Go-Devils Get Here After Trip from Detroit

Gar Wood to Pilot Craft in Speedy Races

To Unload Water Racers at Harbor This Morning

A new cross-country mark for motor boats was established yesterday by the Miss Detroit V and Miss America II, from Detroit to Los Angeles in ten days, ten hours and twenty-seven minutes. E. V. McClellan, who chaperoned the two speed marvels across the continent for Gar Wood, thinks the record will never be equalled.

Miss Detroit V and Miss America II, which held the distinction of being the two fastest pieces of machinery that ever hit the water, will skim the surface of Los Angeles Harbor on the 29th, 30th and 31st inst. in the California Yacht Club's special Gar Wood series. Gar Wood himself will pilot the two speed chips.

The boats were put on board a Michigan Central car at Detroit at 3:33 a.m. on the 10th inst., were transferred to a Chicago and Great Western train at Chicago at 3 a.m. on the 12th joined a Union Pacific train at Council Bluffs, Iowa, at 9:30 on the 13th and reached Los Angeles yesterday at 2 p.m. At darkness they were at their destination, Los Angeles Harbor.

WIN WORLD TORPHY

Both craft figured in the Harmsworth international trophy races last year and were responsible for the return of the trophy to America.

Miss Detroit V is a rough-water boat and has a speed of seventy miles per hour. She is thirty-eight feet long, has a beam of eight feet and is powered with twin Liberty 12 motors of 450 horsepower. For protected water the Miss America II was built. She has a speed record of seventy-six miles per hour and is twenty-six feet in length, has a beam of six feet, while her twin screws are also driven by twin Liberty twelves.

Mr. Wood is expected to superintend the unloading of the two go-fasts at the port this morning. They will be put through their paces in the outer harbor next week while being tuned up for the biggest event of the year in Pacific yachting circles.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

There is an interesting article by Ernest Phillips in the Sporting News on the tribulations of the umpire. Phillips is a San Bernardino boy, who after a few days of transient newspaper work in Los Angeles, launched out into the great unknown beyond the Rockies. That was several years ago, and I was surprised to receive a letter from him the other day. Since leaving Los Angeles he has followed many strange trails, playing baseball, working as a newspaper writer, serving overseas and ultimately becoming an umpire. Last season he started out as a pitcher for Jackson, Miss., in the Cotton States League. He grooved one in the fifth game he worked, and had it bounced off his wrist for three bases and three fractured bones. In this crippled condition he umpired out the remainder of the season, but expects to be back on the mound next spring. This gravitating to the position of umpire was not the anticlimax to a brilliant career, but merely an interim therein due to accident. Having viewed the great national pastime from the other end it is safe to assume that Ernie will never crab again.

A. M. Allen apparently doesn't think much of Joe Choynski, or approve of my publishing the interesting series of opinions and reminiscences which have appeared in this column. Mr. Allen, who seems to suspect me of selling stock, writes from Long Beach as follows:

"I don't know whether Joe Choynski is kidding you, or you are selling stock in his Improvement Company. If he wants to give boxing lessons, why don't he hang out his shingle and sail on his own ability? Why degrade the other man to elevate himself. When he goes on record as a Cryteurian on boxing, his ability won't make much of a sale for a strong mind. I seen him fight Corbett in 1895, I think that was the year, and Corbett made him look like he came to take a boxing lesson. I seen Sharkey box him in '97 and Sharkey had him out in the second round. If he had any ability as a boxer he had a good opportunity to show it before his gang stopped the fight."

Pretty small of Joe to launch an Improvement Company and not tell me anything about it. I'll say so. Even Mr. Allen must admit that in taking on Corbett and Sharkey, Joe wasn't picking any soft or under-sized specimen. Corbett's science, as I recall it, didn't avail him much against Sharkey's bull-like rushes. Of course, that barge fight was a picnic pure and simple. Corbett and Choynski went only twenty-eight rounds with driving gloves. By the second round Joe had both eyes completely closed, and was forced to use his left hand to hold up the lid of one eye so that he could see where to strike with his right. Choynski fought at 157 pounds, and a majority of his opponents were heavyweights. He has been instructor of boxing at the Pittsburg Athletic Club for several years past, and before long will be giving boxing lessons either here or in San Francisco. I haven't the address of his Improvement Society, so neither can receive bad money by mail.

Many have expressed great interest in the statements given by Choynski, and discovered no attempt to "degrade" anybody. In comparing the old system with the new it was necessary to mention certain individuals. These he treated impartially, and with refreshing candor. His opinion regarding the Carpentier fight in Jersey City, claiming the Frenchman wasn't hit when he went down the last time, was new and interesting, and doubtless started many arguments.

Now he gives me a different angle to the Dempsey-Willard fight. Many claimed that the blow which started Willard's downfall in the first round was a left to the stomach. Willard himself claims that Dempsey hit him on the jaw on the breakaway when they had agreed to break clean. Choynski, a close-range spectator of the affair, does not agree with either of these views. It was a blow to the jaw all right, which started Jess going, Joe says, but it was delivered at close quarters when the men were in a clinch, whipped over Willard's rather careless guard, and not landed in the breakaway as the defeated man claimed.

That boxing as it was formerly known is largely a lost art, a fact patent to all those who have followed the game, is not necessarily a reflection on present-day fighters. They simply make no pretense of following the old code, but their style seems to satisfy the public, and that is the prime point in any professional sport.

Strangely, the decadence in boxing skill is contemporaneous with the greatest activity the game has ever seen. In other words, and it would seem paradoxically, the more boxing the less real boxing. Taking the country at large, there probably are ten clubs to every one twenty years ago. Fighters are in such demand there is no need for them to perfect themselves before accepting employment. The old-time style probably would not be very effective over the short route, and rather tiresome. Fans want action. When men fought fifty and sixty rounds they had to have absolute mastery of defensive tactics, and by the same token they had to hit straight and accurately, for there probably is nothing more tiring to a boxer than a swing which misses.

GRIFFITH TOURNEY TODAY

OLDHAM TO ORGANIZE STAR NINE

Detroit Pitcher's Club to Tackle White Sox in Three Battles

Red Oldham, star southpaw of the Detroit Tigers, is at present organizing one of the fastest winter clubs ever to play in Southern California and his team will play a three-game series with the Los Angeles colored White Sox at the latter's park next Saturday, Sunday and Monday (Christmas.)

Bob McGraw, former Vernon twirler who finished a good season with the Minneapolis club in the American Association, Henry Manush, Detroit outfielder, and Lefty Herman, first sacker of the Boston Red Sox, are some of the new men to be seen on the sorrel-topped heaver's squad. Wes Kingdon and Red Smith will also play on Oldham's team.

Bob McGraw will twirl against the colored stars in the Saturday game and a big crowd is expected to take in the tilt. Sunday Oldham himself will pitch for his squad and this game will probably draw a record crowd. It will mark the first game Oldham has pitched this winter and he promises to show the fans some real big-time twirling.

The Christmas Day struggle will find Sloppy Thurston, who was recently sold by the Salt Lake Bees to the St. Louis Browns for $15,000, on the mound for the Oldham Stars with Jose Mendez, the famous colored pitcher, opposing him. In the last twirling duel these two engaged in Thurston came out on top, but not without a tough battle. All three games will start at 2 o'clock so as to end the games early.

SEVEN CITIES BID FOR RACE

Subcommittee to Pick Site of Pulitzer Meet

Several New Rules Made to Cover 1923 Tests

All Planes Entered Must Go Three Miles a Minute

BY GRAFTON WILCOX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Omaha, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Milwaukee, the National Aeronautic Association announced today, have presented bids for next year's Pulitzer cup race.

The matter of selection of the place for the race was brought up at a special meeting of the contest committee of the association and decision reached to leave it to a subcommittee. Details of the next race were discussed, however, and a startling fact was brought out by Commander Jerome Hunsacker of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, who revealed that in recent tests in England it had been established that the human system cannot withstand the strain of a turn in the air in which the centrifugal force is greater than four times gravity. This, it was explained, is caused by the heart being insufficient to force the blood to the brain when this great force has been experienced.

Commander Hunsacker explained that inasmuch as a violent turn of 90 deg. at a speed of approximately 200 miles an hour causes a centrifugal force of approximately three times gravity, it was felt that the danger line was being approached to such an extent that a double pylon turn was essential for the safety of the pilot. Therefore it was decided that the distance and pylon arrangement of the course for next year's race should be a total length of 200 kilometers, with four laps around a fifty-kilometer equilateral triangle, using two pylons at the turns instead of one, assuring a wide turn.

It was also decided to have a single basis for the minimum factor of safety for monoplanes and biplanes, and seven and a half was decided as a satisfactory factor of safety for all parts of the planes.

The maximum landing speed, after due consideration, was decided upon at seventy-five miles an hour limit, being the same that was used at the 1922 Pulitzer races last October at Detroit. However, the minimum high speed under which a plane could enter the ratio was increased to 175 miles an hour. In other words, a plane not capable of flying faster than 175 miles an hour, or nearly three miles a minute, is not fast enough to maintain its position in the race.

A restriction was placed on the contestants in that they must retain the landing gears originally used. While retractable landing gears will be allowed, no contestant will be permitted to drop his landing gear after once taking the air.

After the experience at Omaha in 1921 and at Detroit in 1922 it was the consensus among the committee that the courses to be flown should be over water if possible.

Crimson Squad Holds Annual Grid Banquet

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Dec. 20.—Three hundred Harvard graduates paid their tribute to the Crimson football team at the annual "victory" dinner of Boston's Harvard Club last night.

Percy D. Haughton, former Harvard football mentor, and "Bob" Fisher, present head coach, pointed out that Yale football, under Tad Jones, was annually showing improvement and each declared that the most vital conflict in the history of the rivalry of the Blue and Crimson would come in 1923.

Haughton, hailed as the father of Harvard football, declared that Yale had failed to duplicate the personnel of the Harvard coaching staff and had also failed to produce the simple plays with which Harvard [illegible] repeatedly.

Head Coach Fisher took occasion to state that the Harvard system of coaching would not be changed although new plays might be introduced. He gave entire credit for the Yale victory to the Harvard "football family," coaches and players and scrubs.

Gold footballs were presented to the man who got into the Yale game and to the coaches who tutored the team to victory.

LOCAL SOCCER ELEVEN PICKED

Personnel of Los Angeles Team Selected

Squad Named for Intercity Series in North

First Game Will be Held on December 30

The personnel of the picked soccer team that will represent Los Angeles in the forthcoming intercity series to be played at San Francisco December 30, 31, and January 1, were announced last night as follows:

Goal, Murray (Samson) Backs, Brown (United,) Tunicliffe (Samson.) Halfbacks, Bonar (United,) Davidson (L.A.A.C.,) Cook, (Scots.) Forwards, Lakey (United,) Brix (L.A.A.C.,) Parkinson (United,) Allen (Samson,) Shepard (United.)

In making their selection the commissioners for Southern California were faced with a difficult task. There was an abundance of material from which to choose, and while it is possible that there are many who might be entitled to a place on the team, the final choice was made after very careful consideration.

HAPPY CHOICE

The choice would seem to be a very happy one. The team as announced appears to be strong offensively and defensively. The vanguard is made up of players with a finely developed technique of the game, men who not only play with their feet but with their heads. The successful soccer player is one who can not only exhibit clever footwork, but can make the openings, and exploit them. The forward quintet are men of this type. Brix and Parkinson are the leading goal getters in the league. Both have superb control of the ball, and show a pretty distribution of the ball. The committee went to the wings of the Uniteds to insure flight and ability to swing across the ball on the run, and it is unlikely they could have made a better choice. As inside men Brix and Allen need no introduction to local fans.

As to the halfback line. There is the peerless Adam Bonar. There are many halfbacks, but there is but one Bonar. His care of the needs of his forwards by his perfect placements, his ability to engineer attacks, his fearless tackling, combined with speed and clever footwork at once stamp him as star. Bonar is a veteran at the game, but he has but improved with age. Certainly today he is playing in excellent form. Supporting him are Davidson and Cook. The former is not the finished player that Bonar is, but his aggressiveness and tenacity to hold on to an opponent, make him invaluable. Davidson never is sparing of his energies. He is in the game every minute. Like his coworker, Bonar, he shows a fine distribution of the ball. Cook is practically a stranger to local fans, having come to the local league from Winnipeg, Can., where he made a name for himself in soccer. He has shown class, however, and well merited his place on the team.

STRONG WALL

Murray, Brown and Tunicliffe constitute a Rock of Gibraltar defense. Murray has won his spurs this season by being down but once. The best sharpshooters in the league have tried their skill against him and have not found him wanting. Brown is generally considered the peer of backs. A fearless tackler, a good intervener with fine clearness, he is a nightmare to ambitious forwards. Tunicliffe is equally good. Possessed of fine intuition, he can almost sense the moves of enterprising forwards, and can break up the most dangerous attacks.

McCann and Ridley Fight at Hollywood

Matchmaker Frank Crowley has signed up a fast bunch of fighters for tomorrow night at the American Legion Stadium at Hollywood. In the main event Bud Ridley, of Seattle will make his second appearance in Los Angeles when he meets Frankie McCann, Oakland flash. These two boys are in excellent condition and will enter the ring at 130 pounds. McCann has a fine record as a boxer. He has fought a draw with Jimmy Dundee, and has beaten many of the best boys on the Coast.

In the semi-wind-up Sailor Ashmore, popular Navy fighter, and Frankie Conlin, of Buffalo will meet at 137 pounds. Conlin is making his debut to Los Angeles fight fans on tomorrow but comes here with a gold seal certificate from other cities. On his belt hang the scalps of three draws with Rocky Kansas, a defeat over Johnny Clinton, and a decision over Frankie Showell of the Coast. Conlin is a main event fighter but as this is his first start in Los Angeles he rates only the semi-wind-up.

The complete program is as follows:

Sailor Ashmore vs. Frankie Conlin, 137 pounds.
Charlie Sullivan vs. Spec Woods, catchweights.
Billie Wallace vs. Young Datto, 128 pounds.
Al Guillot vs. Red Hogan, 118 pounds.
Johnny Williams vs. Billie Murray, 118 pounds.
Harry Carey vs. Packy McMullin, 124 pounds.

A CHRISTMAS-TIME TALK

Barclay L. Severns Suggests How to Prevent Distress Which Sometimes Follows Hearty Dinner

Article XIII

BY BARCUAY L. SEVERNS

This is the season of the year when every member of the household, from the little tot playing on the floor to the old, gray-haired grandpa, is looking forward to Christmas morning, which is but a few hours away.

Barclay L. Severns,

Health expert, is shown illustrating one of the simple exercises which, if taken before "meals," may prevent the distress which sometimes follows a too hearty Christmas dinner.

Each is wondering what Santa Claus will bring. But after the gifts are passed around, the one great feature of the day will be looked forward to, the yearly Christmas dinner, and, oh, what a dinner! Let us take a peep in on one which will give us a good idea of the majority; starting with soup, we wind our way through several courses, tarts, vegetables, turkey or chicken, cranberry sauce, celery, etc. We are about ready to close our eyes and go to sleep from the stuffing when along comes the hot mince pie, plum pudding, nuts, raisins, white grapes, followed by rich cream chocolates.

No, I am not going to tell you to pass them up. Go to it; have a big time; I expect to do the same thing myself.

A SUGGESTION

But I wish to make a suggestion: If you eat your dinner between the hours of 2 and 4:30 p.m. refrain from eating anything heavy until noon the next day, and you will have little or no bad effects from the overloading process.

If you will allow the stomach to be the gauge, and not your eyes, you will fare still better.

Digestion is not so vigorous when one has arrived at what is termed middle age; so have a fair grip on the reins; slow up a little at times.

Digestion requires at all times a certain amount of mechanical stimulation, but the natural tendencies are after a hearty Christmas dinner to sit around, or, in many cases, lie down and take a nap. It is unhealthy to overload the stomach, but if you must, and we all do at this season, help the digestive organs out by at least moving around, take a walk, do something.

The heart is more often strained by the result of overeating than from overexercising.

EAT SLOWLY

Remember this, the more you eat the more attention you should pay to proper mastication; take your time, eat slowly, and, as I said before, aid the digestion. You had the pleasure of putting it down, so help to get rid of it.

Elimination is a function that must be maintained regularly if normal health is expected.

One of the greatest aids to digestion, also for proper elimination, is exercise of the abdominal muscles. All exercises that bring into play the waist line, including floor as well as standing or bending exercises, should be taken regularly.

A good exercise for that purpose is done as follows:

FIRST POSITION—Stand erect, feet eighteen inches apart, arms at side.

FIRST MOVEMENT—Raise the arms at side, bend elbows, touching shoulders with tips of fingers.

SECOND MOVEMENT — Turn upper part of body slowly to half turn, facing left keeping lower part rigid facing front, return to first position.

THIRD MOVEMENT — Repeat, turning to right side.

INHALE on first turn. EXHALE on return.

last season without a regular southpaw on his staff. Red told Bill he opined Nick would win ten or twelve games for him in 1923, and by the following season would be one of the league's best.

Los Angeles will obtain additional pitchers from Chicago in the spring. Red ascertained that the Cubs have eighteen pitchers on their reserve list with two more to come, and the Angels will get first crack at these.

TIJUANA RESULTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 20.—The first accident of the season at Tijuana occurred this afternoon when Jockey Pevic was thrown from Lucky Pearl while entering the stretch in the fourth race and was knocked unconscious. His mount crossed her legs and fell. Pevic recovered soon after the fall and will be in shape to ride again in a few days, although suffering many bruises.

The blind Kinglike finally landed in the groove, winning the five-furlong feature from Dick Terpin after a grueling race.

An upset of dope came in the sixth race when Cafeteria, at prohibitive odds, lost by a whisker to Billhead after leading all the way to the stretch. Romulus, the odds-on favorite, ran third.

First race, five and a half furlongs: Trinket, 105 (M. Fator,) won; Glenmar, 106 (Barker,) second; Make Haste, 109 (Long,) third. Time, 1:11 3-5.

Second race, six furlongs: Julyfly, 112 (Atwell,) won; Nog, 112 (Ralls,) second; Evelyn Harrigan, 112 (Claver,) third. Time, 1:16 1-5.

Fourth race, six furlongs: Lenlese, 107 (Petnold,) won; Count Boris, 117 (M. Anderson,) second; Aurevoir, 107 (Flynn,) third. Time, 1:16 1-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Bill Head, 113 (Ralls) won; Cafeteria, 101 (Martin) second; Romulus, 112 (M. Fator) third. Time—1:16 1-5.

Seventh race, six furlongs: Pueblo, 116 (Claver) won; John, Jr., 112 (E. Dugan) second; Madge F., 110 (J. Carroll) third. Time—1:16.

BARNES TRADE TURNED DOWN BY GIANT CLUB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CINCINNATI, Dec. 20.—A proposed trade whereby Jess Barnes, pitcher of the New York Giants, would become a Red and Adolfo Luque, a right-hand hurler of the Cincinnati club, would go to the Giants has been turned down, it was learned today. The deal was proposed by Manager McGraw of the Giants, it was stated.

The directors decided not to advance the date for sending the team South for its spring training. The Reds will start South on March 16.

BEAVERS TO PLAY IN STOCKTON, IS REPORT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STOCKTON (Cal.) Dec. 20.—William Kenworthy, part owner of the Portland Pacific Coast League baseball club, announced today that the Beavers would spend the last three weeks of their training season in this city. He will play two Sunday games with the Sperry Club of Stockton and possibly a contest with the Chicago Cubs. Kenworthy said he would train with the Portland club until the start of the season, reporting to the Columbus team, with which he will play in 1923, early in April.

ly follows the line of play of the Notre Dame teams that it has come to be known as "the Notre Dame of the Pacific Coast."

In individual effort at the overhead game Stockton stands out among Pacific Coast players, and it is believed that the performance of the Bulldog halfback in this respect this year is a record. Stockton passed successfully for a total of 786 yards in seven games, an average of better than 112 yards a game.

The team after their workout at Bovard Field will go direct to San Diego, where they will round out their training before facing West Virginia on Christmas Day. The Mountaineers will arrive on the Santa Fe Saturday morning and will also work out on the Trojan campus.

Here is the line-up of the team which came in today in charge of Charley Dorais:

INTERCOLLEGIATE FENCING UNDER WAY

Intercollegiate fencing will soon be the big star of the stage if the plans of Prof. Phillip Brigandi of the University of Southern California are carried through.

According to Brigandi's scheme, a Southern California fencing league will be organized and all of the colleges in the south will be included, as most of them have classes in this sport. A schedule will be drawn up in the near future by the Trojan institution, it is rumored.

PERGANTAS TO MEET SANTEL IN BIG BOUT

Louis Pergantas, Greek light-heavyweight champion, will wrestle Ad Santel, world's champion light-heavyweight, at the Philharmonic Auditorium on January 4.

Pergantas, the "Terrible Greek," comes to Los Angeles from Boston, where he has met most of the best wrestlers in the East. Pergantas has an enviable record as a wrestler and should make it interesting for Santel, who won from Joe Varga here a few weeks ago.

TROJANS LOSE BIG BASEBALL PROFESSOR

Ralph Works, former Detroit and Los Angeles pitcher, who was to have acted as assistant baseball coach at U.S.C., has accepted a position in the educational department of Rand & McNally, and to his regret will be unable to act as mentor to the Trojans. It is just possible that he will give the U.S.C. baseball men course of lectures, and in that way impart some valuable big league ideas to them.

Bull-Dog Drummond,

by Cyril McNeile

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Le Comte de Guy, international gentleman-crook, confers with three of the world's representative financiers and promises to multiply their millions through an ingenious plan he has invented provided these men will supply him with the necessary working capital. They come to a tentative agreement wherein it is necessary for the Count to secure the financial support of one, Hiram C. Potts, an American shipping power, before the conspiracy is a contract. Whereupon le Comte de Guy assumes the alias, Carl Peterson, and removes to England. Some time later in London Capt. Hugh Drummond demobilized army officer, seeks some thrilling occupation through the columns of the newspapers which accounts for his meeting with Phyllis Benton. Her father she explains, is in some manner unknown to her, being drawn into a game of murder and theft with two others, Lakington and Peterson by name, apparently against his will but through lack of proof she can do nothing to clear the mystery that surrounds them. Later Hugh visits Phyllis at her home in Godalming and learning that The Elms just next door houses the enemy, decides to investigate. In a side room of the place he sees Peterson and an unknown man who appears to be in a dazed and helpless condition. Sensing foul play he rescues the man, takes him to his apartment and discovers the drugged victim is Hiram C. Potts, American millionaire. While in Paris Hugh is approached by Green, an American detective, who has been sent from the States to locate Potts. Later in London Green has an opportunity to actively engage in the affair when Hugh and two of his friends are made prisoners at The Elms, and in the absence of Lakington and Peterson he takes forcible possession of the place. That same night Lakington returns and is accidentally killed by an instrument of his own invention. Green prepares to blow open the safe in search of evidence against Peterson.

"It reminds one of those dreadful barbarians, the Sappers, trying to blow up things," remarked Toby, stepping with some agility into the garden; and a moment or two later the American joined them.

"It may be necessary to do it again," he announced, and as he spoke the sound of a dull explosion came from inside the house. "On the other hand," he continued, going back into the room and quietly pulling the safe door open, "it may not. There's your book, Captain."

He calmly relit his cigar as if safe opening was the most normal undertaking, and Drummond lifted out the heavy ledger and placed it on the table.

"Go out in relays, boys," he said to the group of men by the door, "and get your breakfasts. I'm going to be busy for a bit."

He sat down at the table and began to turn the pages. The American was amusing himself with the faked Chinese cabinet; Toby and Peter sprawled in two chairs, unashamedly snoring. And after a while the detective put down the cabinet, and coming over, sat at Drummond's side.

Every page contained an entry—sometimes half a dozen—of the same type, and as the immensity of the project dawned on the two men their faces grew serious.

"I told you he was a big man, Captain," remarked the American, leaning back in his chair and looking at the open book through half-closed eyes.

"One can only hope to Heaven that we're in time," returned Hugh. "Damn it, man," he exploded, "surely the police must know of this!"

The American closed his eyes still more.

"Your English police know most things," he drawled, "but you've sort of got some peculiar laws in your country. With us, if we don't like a man—something happens. He kind o' ceases to sit up and take nourishment. But over here, the more scurrilous he is, the more he talks bloodshed and riot, the more constables does he get to guard him from catching cold."

The soldier frowned.

"Look at this enry here," he grunted. "That blighter is a Member of Parliament. What's he getting four payments of a thousand pounds for?"

"Why surely to buy some nice warm underclothes with," grinned the detective. Then he leaned forward and glanced at the name. "But isn't he some pot in one of your big Trade Unions?"

"Heaven knows," grunted Hugh. "I only saw the blighter once, and then his shirt was dirty." He turned over a few more pages thoughtfully. "Why, if these are the sums of money Peterson has blown, the man must have spent a fortune. Two thousand pounds to Ivolsky. Incidentally, that's the bloke who had words with the whatnt on the stairs."

In silence they continued their study of the book. The whole of England and Scotland had been split up into districts, regulared by population rather than area, and each district appeared to be in charge of one director. A varying number of sub-districts in every main division had each their sub-director and staff, and at some of the names Drummond rubbed his eyes in amazement. Briefly, the duties of every man were outlined: the locality in which his work lay, his exact responsibilities, so that overlapping was reduced to a minimum. In each case the staff was small, the work largely that of organization. But in each district there appeared ten or a dozen names of men who were euphemistically described as lecturers; while at the end of the book there appeared nearly fifty names—both of men and women—who were proudly denoted as first-class general lecturers, and if Drummond had rubbed his eyes at some of the names on the organizing staff, the first-class general lecturers de prived him of speech.

"Why," he spluttered after a moment, "a lot of these people's names are absolute household words in the country. They may be swine—they probably are. Thank God! I've very rarely met any; but they aint' criminals."

"No more is Peterson," grinned the American; "at least not on that book. See here, Captain, it's pretty clear what's happening. In any country today you've got all sorts and conditions of people with more wind than brain. They just can't stop talking, and as yet it's not a criminal offense. Some of 'em believe what they say, like Spindle-shanks upstairs; some of 'em don't. And if they don't it makes 'em worse; they start writing as well. You've got clever men, intellectual men—look at some of those guys in the first-class general lectures—and they're the worst of the lot. Then you've got another class—the men with the business brain, who think they are getting the sticky end of it, and use the talkers to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for them. And the chestnuts, who are the poor blamed decent workingmen, are promptly dropped in the ash-pit to keep 'em quiet. They all want something for nothing, and I guess it can't be done. They all think they're fooling one another, and what's really going at the moment is that Peterson is fooling the whole bunch. He wants all the strings in his hands, and it looks to me as if he'd got 'em there. He's got the money—and we know where he got it from; he's got the organization—all either red-hot revolutionaries, or intellectual windstorms, or calculating knaves. He's amalgamated 'em, Captain; and the whole blamed lot, whatever they may think, are really working for him."

Drummond, thoughtfully, lit a cigaret.

"Working toward a revolution in this country," he remarked quietly.

"Sure thing," answered the American. "And when he brings it off, I guess you won't catch Peterson for dust. He'll pocket the boodle, and the boobs will stew in their own juice. I guessed it in Paris; that book makes it a certainty. But it ain't criminal. In a Court of Law he could swear it was an organization for selling bird-seed."

For a while Drummond smoked in silence, while the two sleepers shifted uneasily in their chairs. It all seemed so simple in spite of the immensity of the scheme. Like most normal Englishmen, politics and labor disputes had left him cold in the past; but no one who ever glanced at a newspaper could be ignorant of the volcano that had been simmering just beneath the surface for years past.

"Not one in a hundred"—the American's voice broke into his train of thought—"of the so-called revolutionary leaders in this country are disinterested, Captain. They are out for Number One, and when they've talked the boys into bloody murder, and your existing social system is down-and-out, they'll be the leaders in the new one. That's what they're playing for—power; and when they've got it, Gold help men who gave it to 'em."

Drummond nodded and lit another cigaret. Odd things he had read recurred to him: trade unions refusing to allow discharged soldiers to join them; the reiterated threats of direct action. And to what end?

A passage in a part of the ledger evidently devoted to extracts from the speeches of the first class general lectures caught his eye:

"To me, the big fact of modern life is the war between classes. . . . People declare that the method of direct action inside a country will produce a revolution. I agree. . . . it involves the creation of an army. . . ."

And beside the cutting was a note by Peterson in red ink:

"An excellent man! Send for protracted tour."

The note of exclamation appealed to Hugh; he could see the writer's tongue in his cheek as he put it in.

"It involves the creation of an army. . . ." The words of the intimidated rabbit came back to his mind. "The man of stupendous organizing power, who has brought together and welded into one the hundreds of societies similar to mine, who before this have each, on their own, been feebly struggling toward the light. Now we are combined, and our strength is due to him."

In other words, the army was on the road to completion, an army where 90 per cent of the fighters duped by the remaining ten—would struggle blindly toward a dim, half-understood goal, only to find out too late that the whip of Solomon had been exchanged for the scorpion of his son. . . .

"Why can't they be made to understand, Mr. Green?" he cried bitterly. "The working man—the decent fellow—"

The American thoughtfully picked his teeth.

"Has anyone tried to make 'em understand, Captain? I guess I'm no intellectual guy, but there was a French writer fellow—Victor Hugo—who wrote something that sure hit the nail on the head. I copied it out, for it seemed good to me." From his pocketbook he produced a slip of paper. "'The faults of women, children, servants, the weak, the indigent, and the ignorant are the fault of husbands, fathers, masters, the strong, the rich, and the learned.' Wal!" he leaned back in his chair, "there you are. Their proper leaders have sure failed them, so they're running after that bunch of cross-eyed skaters. And sitting here, watching 'em run, and laughing fit to beat the band, is your Pal Peterson!"

It was at that moment that the telephone bell rang, and after a slight hesitation Hugh picked up the receiver.

"Very well," he grunted, after listening for a while, "I will tell him."

He replaced the receiver and turned to the American.

"Mr. Ditchling will be here for the meeting at two, and Peterson will be late," he announced slowly.

"What's Ditchling when he's at home?" asked the other.

"One of the so-called leaders," answered Hugh briefly, turning over the pages of the ledger. "Here's his dossier, according to Peterson. 'Ditchling, Charles. Good speaker; clever, unscrupulous. Requires big money; worth it. Drinks.'"

For a while they stared at the brief summary, and then the American burst into a guffaw of laughter.

"The mistake you've made, Captain, in this country, is not giving Peterson a seat in your Cabinet. He'd have the whole caboose eating out of his hand; and if you paid him a few hundred thousand a year, he might run straight and grow pigs as a hobby. . . ."

II

It was a couple of hours later that Hugh rang up his room in Half Moon street. From Algy, who spoke to him, he gathered that Phyllis and her father were quite safe, though the latter was suffering in the manner common to the morning after. But he also found out another thing—that Ted Jerningham had just arrived with the hapless Potts in tow, who was apparently sufficiently recovered to talk sense. He was weak still and dazed, but no longer imbecile.

"Tell Ted to bring him down to The Elms at once," ordered Hugh. "There's a compatriot of his here, waiting to welcome him with open arms."

"Potts is coming, Mr. Green," he said, putting down the receiver. "Our Hiram C. And he's talking sense. It seems to me that we may get a little light thrown on the activities of Mr. Hocking and Herr Steinemann, and the other bloke."

The American nodded slowly.

"Von Gratz," he said. "I remember his name now. Steel man. Maybe you're right, Captain, and that he knows something; anyway, I guess Hiram C. Potts and I stick closer than brothers till I restore him to the bosom of his family."

But Mr. Potts, when he did arrive, exhibited no great inclination to stick close to the detective; in fact, he showed the great reluctance to enter the house at all. As Algy had said, he was still weak and dazed, and the sight of the place where he had suffered so much produced such an effect on him that for a while Hugh feared he was going to have a relapse. At length, however, he seemed to get back his confidence, and was persuaded to come into the central room.

"It's all right, Mr. Potts," Drummond assured him over and over again. "Their gang is dispersed, and Lakington is dead. We're all friends here now. You're quite safe. This is Mr. Green, who has come over from New York especially to find you and take you back to your family."

The millionaire stared in silence at the detective, who rolled his cigar round in his mouth.

"That's right, Mr. Potts. There's the little old sign." He threw back his coat, showing the police badge, and the millionaire nodded. "I guess you've had things humming on the other side, and if it hadn't been for the Captain here and his friends, they'd be humming still."

"I'm obliged to you, sir," said the American, speaking for the first time to Hugh. The words were slow and hesitating, as if he was not quite sure of his voice. "I seem to remember your face," he continued, "as part of the awful nightmare I've suffered the last few days—or is it weeks?" I seem to remember having seen you, and you were always kind."

"That's all over now, Mr. Potts," said Hugh gently. "You got into the clutches of the most infernal gang of swine, and we've been trying to get you out again." He looked at him quietly. "Do you think you can remember enough to tell us what happened at the beginning? Take your time," he urged. "There's no hurry."

2. All locomotives and cars leave terminals in perfect condition on every trip and are inspected at frequent intervals en route.
3. Tracks and switches are kept at a high standard of efficiency by daily inspection regardless of weather conditions. Defects of any character are immediately indicated by the automatic block signals, with which our lines are fully equipped.
4. Bridges and trestles are constructed in accordance with the highest degree of safety, and are thoroughly inspected at regular intervals.
5. All signals are kept in perfect order, being tested daily.
6. Every employee is required to pass examinations, both physical and on book of rules, upon entering the service. Eye and ear tests insure normal vision and hearing. All rules are strictly enforced and frequent efficiency tests are made to insure their being complied with.

No sacrifice is too great to make for your safety. And we solicit your ideas, suggestions and cooperation to the end that we can eliminate every possible risk, no matter how small it may seem.

WORK ON APPRAISEMENT

General Counsel Overton stated that counsel for the Railroad Commission and admitted in court that an employee of the State Railroad Commission had been working on an appraisement of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation in spite of court proceedings.

It was stipulated in court, however, during the hearing by Attorney William Clary of the Railroad Commission, that the man would be called off at once. However, it is admitted by those in close touch with affairs of the commission that the work is proceeding.

The briefs now are in the possession of Judge Hahn of the Superior Court. It is anticipated that it will be some days before a decision is rendered. The question of the judicial powers of the Railroad Commission must be passed on, as well as the legality of the vote of the City Council when the petition was voted on by five instead of six members.

CITY TO BE PARCHED ON FETE DAYS

Los Angeles Christmas and New Year Imbibers Due for Dry Throats

H. H. Dolley, prohibition enforcement agent in charge, and W. W. Anderson, divisional prohibition director, have formed an alliance for the enforcement of the national prohibition laws during the holiday season. They have asked the hotel and cafe men to operate with them, and have been assured that local support will be forthcoming.

It is intended to search all automobiles where agents have reason to believe that liquor is being transported, and extra precautions will be taken New Year's Eve, to the end that there be no flagrant violation of the liquor laws.

The holiday drinkers who imagine they will escape prosecution by taking the stuff with them to the local eating houses will be promptly taken into custody, and prosecuted for transporting liquor and having it in their possession. Agents will be posted in all of the fashionable cafes and prompt arrests made in every case where the situation warrants such action. The Christmas and New Year lid will be put down with a crash, and no favorites will be played.

State Realtors to Retain Head Offices Here

Los Angeles will retain the headquarters of the California State Real Estate Association during 1923, according to an announcement made yesterday by Glenn W. Willaman, managing director of the association. The State headquarters were brought to Los Angeles in January of this year, when C. C. C. Tatum, local realtor, assumed office as president of the organization.

Heretofore it has been the custom to remove the State headquarters to the community in which the president of the association resides, in which case the executive offices would have been moved to San Jose, where Frazier O. Reed, recently elected president, is engaged in business.

The decision to leave the offices in Los Angeles for the coming year, and possibly permanently, was made on account of the fact that the central office here will be in close proximity to more than sixty of the 101 realty boards now comprising the association. These sixty boards are within a few hours' ride from Los Angeles, and with the offices here, the administration of association offices here will be greatly facilitated.

While Mr. Reed will remain in San Jose, this arrangement means practically, that the affairs of the organization will be administered from Los Angeles. California Real Estate, the official magazine of the organization, will also be published here under the direction of Mr. Willaman.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY MYRA NYE

The Wa-Wan Club

A musical club is well fitted in every way to bring Christmas cheer and this season the Wa-Wan Club, Mrs. William Mabee, president, has demonstrated what joy music can bring.

Mrs. Berne Barker has for months past (and will continue to do so through the holidays) presented to the Sawtelle Annex and Juvenile Hall entertainment of high merit, consisting of violin, vocal and piano music, dancing and parlor magic.

Mrs. W. L. Merrick and Mrs. L. Gerard are drilling the boys in community singing for an hour each week at Juvenile Hall. Miss Louise Wharton arranged with the Majestic and Morosco Theaters for entertaining disabled World-War veterans during the past two months and will carry her work into the new year.

Suzanne Joyce Speer will furnish programs for the Lark Ellen Home for Boys and the Booth Home. Mrs. Helen Hollzer is taking care of the Jewish Hospital and settlement work, while Mrs. Carl Johnson, general chairman for the altruistic work of the club, has been singing in the wards of the Olive View Sanatorium, the County Hospital and to the Civil-War veterans at Sawtelle.

Federation of Clubs

What a chummy time we had! Frank? Oh, my dear, you should have heard us! We were positively impolite at times but no one cared. It was all a little friendly bout you see, between the press chairmen of the clubs and the newspaper women at the meeting in the Junior Orpheum Building yesterday. It was all great fun, which proves that it can be worked, this little matter of frankness—when properly handled. Do you suppose Christmas was responsible — or Alma Whitaker, the speaker?

The press chairmen first brought their grievances, and their praise telling of their failure or success in the matter of publicity. The grievances were so well padded with praise that the pill went right down without any crying from Johnny. What has happened to these clubwomen? They actually seemed to like the club editors. Oh, the joy of the Christmas season, with its merry loving spirit!

The conference passed a motion in which the reappearance of Roscoe Arbuckle in the films was strongly condemned.

Christmas Festivity

As a tribute to the spirit of Christmas, yesterday's program at the Inglewood Woman's Club opened with a group of ten pictures, four of which were Madonnas posed by Mrs. Eula Phair, Mrs. G. Soman, Mrs. Gail Fehrenson and Mrs. Eugene Lewis with their children.

Some time ago there appeared in the Christmas number of St. Nicholas, a poem called "The Track of the Ashes" by Clara Doty Bates. Around this poem Mrs. W. C. Stevens, chairman of the drama section of the club, wove a little one-act play which was presented yesterday. The play, which was lovely, had as its purpose the bringing back of the joy of childhood. All the characters were from the drama section of the club.

Scholarship Offer

High schoolites, attention! Here is your opportunity to make some money during your Christmas vacation. All you have to do is to write an essay on the subject "Patriotism." Do your best. You may be the author of the first prize essay for which $30 in cash wil be given. If you don't win the first prize, you may be awarded the second prize of $20.

When you have written your essay, send it to Mrs. Ilot Johnson, chairman of scholarships, the Ebell Club, 1719 South Figueroa street. The contest will close on January 18, at 5 p.m.

The essays will be judged by representatives from the University of California Extension, University of Southern California, a member of the Patriotic League of America and three members from the Ebell Club. The prizes have been given by a prominent member of the Ebell Club to the scholarship committee of the Ebell to be awarded by that committee to the high school student who would write the best essay on "Patriotism."

The scholarship committee of the Ebell Club is organized of girls of high scholarship to continue their high school or college work, when if unaided they would be forced to give up their education.

Each year between ten and fifteen girls are helped through school in this way.

Travel Club Meeting

Los Angeles Travel Club has declared a vacation over the holidays except for the music section, which will meet today as usual.

The extent to which the Christmas spirit has pervaded the club was shown last Thursday when more than 150 dolls, $10 worth of candies and $20 in cash were contributed by the club and individual members for the children in the Tubercular Hospital. The club is also assisting in the Salvation Army Christmas drive.

Much interest is centered in the Christmas party for the club members to be held Thursday evening, December 28, in the hall at 721 West Jefferson street. The committee in charge promises one of the most delightful of the season's affairs.

Christmas Musicale

Under the direction of Mrs. Blanche Nicholas a Christmas musicale is to be given today at 2 p.m. at the meeting of the Women's Alliance. Mr. Backus is to give a lecture on "The Romance of Life." There is to be sewing in the morning, with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. E.—I am preparing a little pamphlet relating to disorders peculiar to women. I shall notify you in the column when it is ready, so you can send for it. You will find if you reduce your weight gradually that you will undoubtedly feel very much better, and the symptoms you describe will be lessened. Have you had a complete physical examination?

"Dear, dear Dr. Lulu:—In nine weeks I have reduced twenty-five pounds by your system and I have not found it a bit hard. Will you write on bronchitis in children?—Devoted Follower."

That is an uncommonly nice salutation. Thank you.

If the chronic bronchitis is not due to tuberculosis or heart disease, it may be due to some sort of food poisoning. It has been found that certain proteins in the food that are absorbed undigested will cause the skin and mucus membranes to be sensitive and this may cause asthma and bronchitis. Eczema may be present from the same cause.

If you have had a physical examination to eliminate tuberculosis and heart disease, then see if you cannot determine whether there is some special food that is disagreeing with your boy. Have him take special exercises to develop the chest muscles. Of course all other hygienic precautions should be taken also. I shall have a paper shortly on these disorders.

Reader.—You say you have reduced before with bad effects. I hear that continuously from my followers, combined with the news that since they have reduced scientifically by counting their calories and having a balanced diet that supplies the needs of the body, the reduction this time has been productive only of good results. Send for our instructions on reducing if you haven't them.

Mrs. L. G.—Most any of the hydro-therapeutic sanitariums such as the Battle Creek Sanitariums have appartus for reducing. The rolling machines and the deep massage and the electric vibratory chair machines all are good in skillful hands. You will have to diet anyway, even with those. But the fact that you are paying out money may keep your will power a little less anemic. These mechanical things are especially good when there are conditions that prohibit exercise.

The value of an ice-cream soda would depend upon how much syrup, ice-cream and whipped cream were used. I gave this recently, but it won't hurt to repeat. Thick syrup would be about 100 calories for a heaping tablespoonful. The caloric value of ice-cream would depend upon its richness; whether it was made from milk and eggs, or cream. A heaping tablespoonful of ordinary ice-cream would be approximately 100 calories. I should judge an ice-cream soda from 400 to 500 calories at least, equal to one-eight of a pound of fat.

When I tell you that I get hundreds of letters in every mail you won't be so vexed because your answer did not appear sooner, will you?

Mrs. L.—If your face is thin and you are fat only below the waist, you probably will lose very little from the face if you reduce. I should not worry about it. Go out after dark or some place where you won't be observed and take long brisk walks with a long stride. That is one of the best exercises for the hips and waist. One looks far from graceful walking as I suggest, but it "sho' do shake yo' hips and fat tummie."

SOCIETY

Engagement Announced

Announcement has just been made of the betrothal of Miss Virginia Gardner McNaughton and Howard Johnson. Miss McNaughton is the daughter of Mrs. A. McNaughton of Wisconsin, but residing at present in San Diego. Miss McNaughton is a frequent vsitor here and is planning to drive up for a few days' visit after the holidays. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Orson Johnson of West Twenty-eighth street.

Both young people were students at Stanford University, where the romance had its beginning. Miss McNaughton was maid of honor and Mr. Johnson was best man at the recent wedding of Miss Dorothy Buffum and Norman Chandler, which was an important social event of the season.

The wedding will probably take place in the early spring.

For Luncheon and Bridge

Miss Gwendolyn Longyear has sent twenty-five cards for a luncheon and bridge party next Tuesday at the Los Angeles Country Club for Miss Katherine Howard, who will arrive today from Mills College to spend the holidays with her parents. Miss Longyear and her parents, the Willis D. Longyears, are domiciled at the club for the winter.

Miss Howard is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Howard of South Ardmore avenue and she and Miss Janet Strodthoff, who is also a Mills girl, will give a bridge luncheon on the 28th inst. to a group of their college friends. The affair will be at the Wilshire Country Club.

At the Bettingen Dance

The deluge of Christmas parties for the younger smart set has started and one of the first big affairs was Miss Betty Bettingen's supper-dance last evening for Miss Leontine Bayer and the Misses Marion and Margaret Brackenridge.

The Misses Brackenridge are two of the season's most popular debutantes and Miss Bayer is just home from school in New York. She was met in San Francisco by her mother, Mrs. Alfred Bayer, and they returned on Tuesday to their home here in South Alvarado street.

The ballroom of the Bettingen home in South Pasadena was converted into a bower of Christmas flowers and foliage, with an abundance of red carnations, tall poinsettias and holly berries intermingled with ferns and potted plants. A tall lighted Christmas tree stood at the foot of the staircase and dozens of colored electric lights were used in the gardens which opened out from the ballroom. More than 100 of the young college set were guests and although Miss Betty and Miss Leontine have not been formally introduced yet, many of the debutantes of this year and last year were there.

Receiving with the young hostess was her mother, Mrs. William J. Bettingen, and Mrs. Bettingen's elder daughter, Mrs. Myron Etienne (Lucille Bettingen) and assisting were Miss Hortense McLaughlin and Miss Elizabeth Taylor.

At Home

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Deardorff returned on Sunday from a visit in Kansas City and are at their home at 444 Plymouth Boulevard.

In New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ruwe with their daughter Miss Edna Louise Ruwe have moved from their Beverly Hills home to their new residence at 314 Muirfield Road in Hancock Park. Miss Ruwe is a highly popular maid of the junior society set.

For Christmas Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sayers have invited sixteen guests for dinner on Christmas day at their lovely home in Laughlin Park.

From New York

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Tatum will return on Friday from New York where they have been for the last month.

Home From School

Capt. and Mrs. George C. Thomas, Jr., of the Beverly Hills Hotel are planning some delightful diversions for their son and daughter who are returning for the holidays. Their daughter, Miss Josephine, has been attending Miss Chamberlain's school in Santa Barbara and their son George III is a student at the Thatcher School in Ojai. A riding party with breakfast served at the Beverly Hills Hotel ranch and a dinner party at the New Year's dance at the hotel on Saturday evening have been planned.

For New Year's Day

Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, with her attractive daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Griswold, will be hosts at a buffet luncheon on New Year's Day from noon until 2:30 p.m. at Mrs. Hoyt's home, Hillcrest, in South Pasadena.

Guests from San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Moulton of Selma avenue will have as their guests over the holidays Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Carter of San Francisco. The Carters are driving down from the north and will arrive on Sunday. After the holiday season the Moultons will accompany Mr. and Mrs. Carter up to Yosemite, where they will enjoy the winter sports which have been planned.

Formal Opening

A large and brilliant affair was the formal opening of the season at the Maryland Hotel. Pasadena society folk, winter visitors in Pasadena and many Los Angeles people were guests. Scores of dinner parties were given.

COMEDIAN TO HELP AT BENEFIT SHOW

Al St. John

"I'm Falling for You" is the title Al St. John, motion-picture comedy star, has given to the act he will present at the Los Angeles Business Women's Association benefit show tomorrow night at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

St. John, who will make his first stage appearance in many years at this show, has prepared an elaborate full-stage act which he will execute entirely in pantomime. Of course Al will employ his trusty bicycle in the performance and will be costumed in the loose wardrobe with which he has been identified since his initial appearance on the screen.

"The reason I consented to break an iron-clad rule never to make personal appearances as long as I was in picture work," explained St. John, "is that I am in hearty sympathy with the business women's cause—their desire to assist working girls along educational lines and to help out working women who become stranded in the city. I know what it means to be 'up against it,' and I guess its a lot tougher for a girl to be in that plight than it is for a man."

The screen comedian is but one of several well-known motion-picture stars who will appear at the benefit.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

UP-TO-DATEST DO-UPS

Do up your candy boxes—lovely gifty ones of course—in silver or gold-foil paper sprigged with holly or poinsettia and tied with tinsel cords.

Do up the smaller packages with white tissue tied with silver cord, tasselled in the same. The effect is inexpressibly chaste and lends an air of preciousness to the contents of the package.

Use raffia in any of the pretty colors, red, green, violet for doing up some of the Christmas packages. Seal the tie on the top side of the package, placing a Chinese lucky coin with a bright bead to hold it down. Then seal splashily in red and green wax.

A box decorated in poinsetta may be wrapped in white tissue which shows the flowers and tied with scarlet ribbon, in fantastic manner, the seal taking the form of a poinsettia of wax with yellow wax or gold, for center.

The Brightest Tree That Grows

The Christmas Tree! How brightly it glows on Christmas morning when the little ones creep out in the dim light. Vaguely, at first they catch the outline of the evergreen, towering to the ceiling; then, the branches begin to etch themselves against the firelight. Next the glittering top springs out—a skyward pointing spire; strange stars appear — golden, silver, frostily white. The balsamic branches are a-drip with scarlet moss, silver icicles, cobwebs of spun-glass sway in some magic breeze of that Never, Never Land, imagination. A giant stocking swings a tip-toe from a station out-of-reach, and childish rounded eyes catch glimpses of quaint toys, within its lacey length. Possibly a big stick of candy pokes through a hole—looking, oh, so natural—in the vicinity of the knee! The fruits of that mystical tree are such as grow only in play-time gardens for little children who "have been good until Santa Claus makes his rounds." Tarleton bags and baby shoes reveal through their pink transparency, candies of many colors, forbidden sweets save at Christmas time, when the scientifically brought-up babies are given full permission to eat until they are sick, of the usually must-nots. Unguessable boxes are distributed underneath the spreading boughs, where red-coated Santa Claus plows through cottony, glistening snow. Then comes daylight—a California sunrise and full revelation of all the secrets hidden so craftily in alluringly wrapped parcels. Then are we made aware that language has a new addition, a sort of gurgling lean-to, formed from ecstatic exclamations such as only happy childhood could invent.

Tinsel Tissue Ribbons

Ribbons, always important at Christmas time, are more than ever lovely this season. There are dainty designs of holly and mistletoe on tissue ribbon with metallic edges, tasteful and enlivening for tying the holiday packages. The metallic note, so insistent in millinery, has found expression in many weaves and widths of tie-up ribbons, all having some seasonable touch. Ribbons and tie-ups are as much a part of the holidays as are Christmas trees, gifts and stickers.

Garter Tied

Ribbon-decked garters of bright elastic, tie-up packages of silk hosiery, in one interesting shop downtown. A word to the wise is a volume about gifting, in such an instance as this.

Flat Fruits

Another of the I-Never-Wills has been dispersed with the advent of that so-natural looking fruit. The artistic effect of a handsome bowl of basket filled with the bright-skinned apples, pears and bananas, the bloom-misted grapes and peaches, cannot be denied. To keep fresh fruits looking well, in warm rooms, is next to impossible, therefore the artificial "edibles" have come into the must-have class and find a place on gift lists.

La Mode's Inconsistency.

Short sleeves for sports wear, long sleeves for formal dress! This is one of the present inconsistencies of Madame La Mode. And yet, and yet—sleeves are rather a nuisance when one would hit a ball, or when out-door exertion of any sort brings beads to the brow. And long sleeves—well, they "go with" the high neck and Fashion has said that. Strange, it is not, how we can argue the reasonableness of anything decreed by the mode?

Lest We Forget

Christmas should open the eyes of love to the many usually neglected offices springing from kindliness of heart. Remember, oh remember, not only those whom it is your pleasure to give presents, but outside that list—a list which the happiness of gifting more than recompenses for your outlay in work and thought and cash — take into consideration those who serve you well: The Postman, the elevator man, the delivery boys to whom you owe more than the usual stint, since they have given you cheerfulness together with the work which was theirs to do. A trait not purchasable should be gratefully remembered. Those who do their work in such a way as to raise it to a new dignity and who infuse into it a spirit of blitheness seemingly impossible, are deserving of our best wishes and our high esteem.

Fashion's Gift List

A delightful accessory to the evening costume is a fan of uncurled ostrich shading from dark to pale tones.

There is at present a great demand for chiffon dance frocks. In spite of this demand, velvets continue to be good.

A one-piece dress of black tricotine chooses chain stitching as its trimming. It is applied vertically from hip to hem.

A small, close-fitting hat of mauve crepe Marocain uses pleated mauve velvet for its brim which narrows at the back.

A simple frock of blue velvet uses squares of self-material applied diagonally with open-work stitching between as trimming.

An afternoon frock of black satin has its mousseline blouse embroidered in pastel shades. A shirred panel gives it added interest.

A striking coat of cinnamon-colored duvetyn was trimmed down front and around the neck with large buttons of the duvetyn.

One wise little evening frock lets the fur border of its cape fall to the floor in an unusual train which can also be used as a scarf.

A suit of dark-blue velours de laine has its hip-length jacket banded with castor fur and finished with braided bands of gold tissue.

Chain stitching outlines the back and side panels of contrasting materials which give long, slender lines to a street dress of navy-blue tricotine.

Frocks for the debutante are often of velvet or taffeta, while those for the more sophisticated types are of elaborate fabrics and rich colorings.

Identification of Suspects in Bank Job Fails

Despite the failure of D. R. Brundage, cashier of the Western State Bank to identify either Gordon Patterson or Bioca Carmini as the man who held him up and forced him to honor a worthless check for $1000 at the point of a gun, police still are holding the men on suspicion of grand larceny.

Mr. Brundage attempted to identify the man yesterday afternoon. After seeing them, he declared neither of the suspects fits the description of the man who held him up.

The investigation into the activities of the suspects is still under way. Police believe they are implicated in a number of robberies, including that at the Walnut Park Bank on Monday.

The two men were arrested at Long Beach Tuesday morning. In the car in which they were riding were found a number of rifles, shotguns and revolvers and a mask and sling resembling that bound about the arm of the bandit who held up Mr. Brundage.

FUR NECKPIECE STOLEN

A silver fox fur neckpiece valued at $1000 was stolen yesterday from Mrs. Ella Burch, 157 Surf street, Ocean Park, she reported to the police. She left the fur in her automobile when she parked the car at Seventh street and Grand avenue.

LONG BEACH PROGRAM IS SPEEDED UP

Mayor Names Committees as Organization to Boost City Improvement

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—The City Council was today organized into a group of committees, named by Mayor C. A. Buffum, to speed up the city's improvement program. Seven major propositions involving the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, including the construction of a new municipal auditorium, the acquiring of several acres of land for development into a park and boulevard system, the acquiring of additional beach frontage and the development of the harbor.

Seven committee chairmen, each a Councilman, were named by the Mayor. The chairman of each committee will be expected to appoint at once a committee of prominent citizens to work out the particular problem assigned to it.

City Auditor Myrtelle L. Gunsul gave the taxpayers a Christmas gift today when she announced that an increase in revenues to the city of Long Beach from oil and a reduction of municipal expenditures through a new city management will, in all probability reduce the city tax rate next year. There is a strong possibility that the present rate of $1.17 may be reduced at least 8 cents, it was said.

NEW TENANTS PROVE TO BE PLUNDERERS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 20.—When neighbors saw a residence at 115½ Fraser street in Ocean Park lighted from basement to garret, it was their unanimous decision that new tenants had arrived. "The neighbors" were in reality thieves who looted the house of valuable rugs, Turkish tapestries, all its silverware and other valuables.

D. W. Cameron, owner of the building, who resided down the street at 131 Fraser, entered the house and found it had been ransacked. Santa Monica detectives are investigating.

VENICE VIEW ON RATES TO BE REVIEWED

Beach City Wins Point as Commission Agrees to Take Up Fare Complaints

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Dec. 20. — The local Chamber of Commerce today won the first step in its fight for a hearing of Pacific Electric rates when members of the State Railroad Commission agreed to take the Venice view under consideration. Secretary H. B. Pier of the Chamber, Chairman Will Rattray of the fares and transportation committee, with civic officials, conferred with the commission, the result of which was declared to be successful in view of the fact that the latter was persuaded to take the requests of Venitians under advisement.

City Attorney Lyon and City Engineer Griffin, together with a number of property holders, following a conference in the City Hall with examiners of the Commission, asked for the building of some new crossings between Washington and Lincoln boulevards that would be instrumental in uniting northern and southern sections of the city.

One of the points for which Venitians are striving is a reduction of rates on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Rates at present are slightly higher to other beach cities than to Venice because of the greater distance. On days when there are special celebrations a provision is made for a reduction by a blanket rate for the other cities. The committee stated that this amounts to discrimination against Venice in that the same reductions do not apply to this city. It also is stated that other cities farther away from Los Angeles are granted the same fares as Venice.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 20. — The Chamber of Commerce finished a week's membership campaign yesterday, a final rally of workers being held at noon, at which time a total of 323 subscriptions were reported. About fifty workers, most of them business men, took part in the campaign, which was directed by West L. Moulder.

Open forum meeting will be a feature of the coming year's program, according to Secretary Karl Keeler. The chamber will devote particular attention to bringing the entire membership together in community betterment projects.

Long Beach Without Concerts by Reason of Thefts

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—The municipal band, Long Beach's particular pride, is "all shot," in the parlance of one of the bandsmen. With Bandmaster Geo C. Foster ill, another musician on the sick list and still another away from the city on an urgent call and the theft of six of the most important instruments in the band, the musical organization just can't function.

Some one with a strong liking for horns and such things has been breaking into the locker room at the Municipal Auditorium during the past week. The result is that the band is shy three cornets and three other equally necessary musical instruments. For the first time in many weeks the municipal band did not appear in its accustomed place at the auditorium last night. There was no concert.

CONTEMPT CHARGE TO BE ARGUED

Attorney for Taft Man Arrested in New York Admitted to Bail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 20.—After his arrest on a bench warrant issued by City Recorder C. G. Noble of Taft, Attorney W. C. Dorris gave bail to answer to charges of contempt of court.

Immediately after the serving of the warrant at the County Jail, a writ of habeas corpus was argued before Judge T. N. Harvey in Superior Court No. 3. Judge Harvey denied the writ and remanded Dorris to the custody of Sheriff D. B. Newell.

A short time later Dorris was released from jail on a bail bond of $100, an order for this step being signed by Judge J. W. Mahon in Superior Court No. 1. The bond was signed by Grace S. Dorris and Louis J. Banducci.

According to papers filed in the office of County Clerk E. Smith today, Dorris failed to appear before Judge Noble after being summoned on November 29 in connection with the trial of William B. Cheesbourg of Taft, who was arrested some months ago when he was about to leave for Europe on a steamer dock at New York City. Dorris is said to have acted in the capacity of counsel for Cheesbourg and to have knowledge of a sum of money in Cheesbourg's possession at the time of his arrest in New York. According to the complaint against Dorris he failed to attend the trial or to furnish any reason for his absence.

SHOWERS HINDRANCE TO ORANGE PICKERS

[BY LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAVICLE, Dec. 20. — Orange picking has been completed in a number of Clavicle groves, but rains have greatly delayed operations in others. Picking may not be possible for some time. Benefit to recently planted barley and green feed is noted. The weather has been generally warm and no damage from frost has occurred.

There is more extensive planting of grain than usual on account of the plentiful rainfall, even high places being utilized. Winter gardens are doing well and vegetables will soon be ready for local sale. Fall irrigation has been almost entirely eliminated by timely showers.

TWO INJURED WHEN BRICK WALL CAVES

PASADENA, Dec. 20. — Buried beneath a brick wall that crashed down upon them, A. A. Fishburn, member of the contracting firm of Fishburn & Pollock, and Leonard Jarrott, an employee, received serious injuries today.

Jarrott, who was completely buried, was unconscious when rescued. Fishburn was covered to his neck by the debris. The full extent of their injuries has not been determined.

The two men were inspecting a ditch that had been dug along the wall at Foothill Boulevard and Porter street. The wall was constructed of brick and concrete, and surrounded a garden. Its collapse is believed to have been due to the ditch work undermining it.

SHERIFF'S BRANCH IS DESIRED

Long Beach Wants Branch Office and Additions to Constabulary Force

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 20.—The County Board of Supervisors have been asked in a letter mailed today by Police Judge Carl V. Hawkins to establish a branch of the Sheriff's office in Long Beach and to assign a corps of deputy sheriffs in both the civil and criminal departments, together with two additional deputy constables, to the new office.

Strong representations by police officials, justices and others in Long Beach are to be made to the Supervisors. They want to emphasize the need here of a branch of the Sheriff's department for the proper handling of county work, both civil and criminal.

More than 600 civil suits involving serving papers, summoning witnesses and other work connected with litigation, have been handled in the courts of Justice S. H. Underwood and W. S. Brayton in Long Beach during the last six months. It was pointed out to the Supervisors by Judge Hawkins that in this same period 391 small claims cases were disposed of and 159 criminal cases involving felony charges were handled.

It is urged that with an adequate staff of men from the Sheriff's office located here, the local courts could be made more efficient.

A men's chorus led by Cecil Axworthy is to lead in singing the carols and hymns and a cornet solo is to be given by Prof. Frank Reinsch of the University of Redlands. Gifts will be made which will be distributed among the poor by the Associated Charities.

The boys of the Trinity Episcopal choir are to sing Christmas carols on Sunday evening at the hospitals of the city. Practically all of the churches are to have special Christmas programs on Sunday.

PLAYDOM

LARGE GALAXY

BRIGHT ASSORTED STARS IN "COMMON LAW"

By Edwin Schallert

The courses of the stars are changing and are continuing to change. Every day brings the news that some former member of the galaxy has taken it upon himself or herself to join the new constellation of featured players, and most of them relish the idea because, after all, stardom has its drawbacks and its perils.

The latest to join a featured cast is Doris May, who was recently starred in a series of society comedies by Robertson-Cole. She has just been engaged to play a prominent role in "The Common Law," in which Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle are the leading lights.

Hobart Bosworth is another former star who has joined the cast, and Phyllis Haver, who is shortly to have a stellar part in a featured comedy at Sennett's, is also among those present. Elliott Dexter has a prominent role in the picture, and Harry Myers and Wally Van are cast. Both Miss Griffith and Mr. Tearle were formerly starred in their own productions.

George Archiambaud is directing the picture, which is now in its second week. The scenario was written by Edward J. Montagne, and Jules Cronjager is cameraman. The film will take about three months to make.

"The Common Law" was taken from the novel of Robert W. Chambers, and according to Tearle the prototype for the role of Louis Neville, which he is playing, was Hugo Ballin, the director. Mr. Tearle is a friend of both Mr. Chambers and Mr. Ballin.

In the original production of "The Common Law," which was also made by Selznick, Mr. Tearle also played Neville. Clara Kimball Young had the feminine lead. Mr. Tearle's success in the pictures dates largely from the time when he appeared in this earlier production.

Christmas with Marilynn

Jack Pickford, who has already broken all records for transcontinental commuting, stuck another peg in the scoreboard of his travels yesterday when he left for Detroit to join his bride of a few months, Marilynn Miller, who is appearing there in "Sally," the popular Ziegfeld musical show.

Jack carried with him a large assortment of Christmas packages from Mary, Doug and his mother, as well as from himself to the charming Marilynn. After spending the holidays with Miss Miller, he will proceed to New York to negotiate for a new story and to confer with Hiram Abrams concerning the release of "Garrison's Finish," recently completed.

After a short stay, Jack will dash back to Detroit to accompany Marilynn to Chicago, where "Sally" opens for an extended run January 7. Following the Chicago opening, Jack will return to Hollywood, where it is hoped everything will be in readiness for the start of his new production.

Fisher at Loew's

Max Fisher and his excellent troupe of jazz specialists are to appear at Loew's State Theater starting January 14. Fisher will succeed Don Philippini, who has been musical director since the opening of the house.

The band has played at various fashionable hotels for dances, and also for the Midnight Frolic and the Follies. Lately they have been engaged at a boulevard cafe, where their peppy melodies have inspired the spirits of the dancers.

Fisher has filled temporary engagements at picture theaters, but this is his first more permanent assignment.

Dancer in Gypsy Story

Margaret Loomis, whose talents as a dancer have caused her to achieve distinction on the screen, has been engaged for the cast of "The Law of the Lawless," the gypsy story by Conrad Bercovici. This feature, it will be recalled, marks the debut of Charles De Roche, the French actor, and the resumption of screen work by Dorothy Dalton. Theodore Kosloff, Tully Marshall and Fred Huntley are in the film, which Victor Fleming is directing.

Paul Bern with Universal

Paul Bern, who has been head of the Goldwyn scenario department, has been engaged with the Universal organization. Mr. Bern is known as a man of excellent ability.

Selznick Goes East

Myron Selznick head of the Selznick productions, has left for a short trip to New York. During his absence the affairs of the organization will be handled by A. G. Volck, vice-president of the company.

As Film Adviser

Another convert has been won to the cult of celluloid in Roger Lewis, magazine writer, former war correspondent and ex-instructor of English at Harvard. Lewis has just been engaged to act as adviser to Jack Pickford in the matter of choosing stories. He will assist in the preparation of all of this star's vehicles and will also be chief adviser and counsellor when it comes to titling and editing.

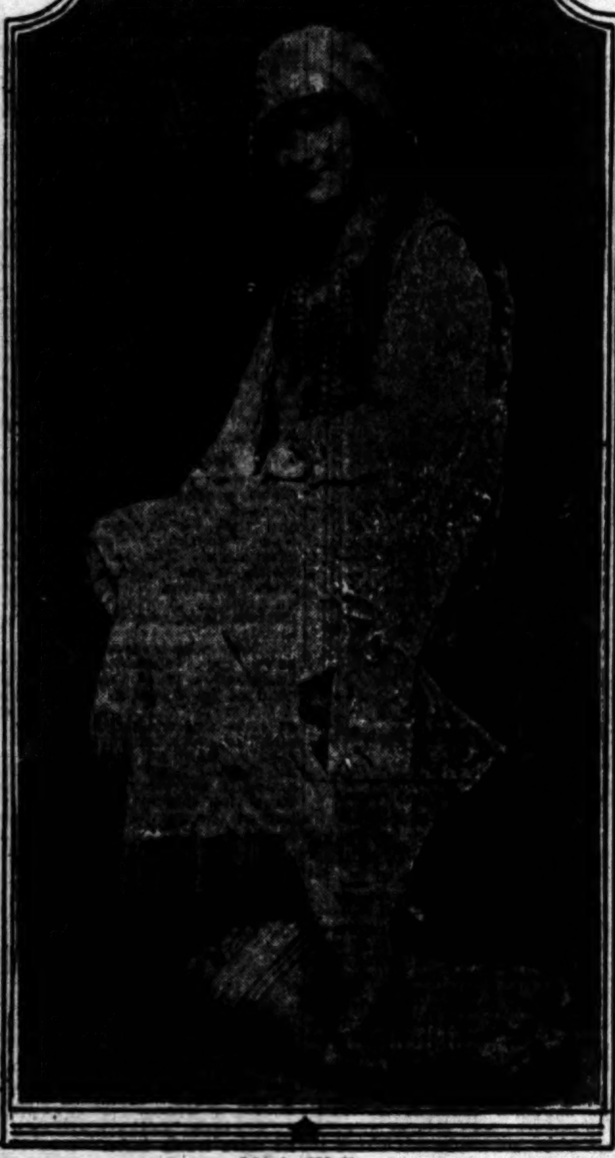
It is very probable that Lewis will lend some assistance in the preparation of Miss Pickford's forthcoming "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."

It is expected that Ernest Lubitsch will arrive here next Saturday to take charge of work on Mary's newest.

HAS RURAL ATMOSPHERE

"Married Madness," a concoction of rural atmosphere, appearing at Dalton's Broadway Theater this week, is the best vehicle that the Birds of Paradise Revue have had to display their talents in. Little Miss Babe Schneider again captivates her audience in singing "Gee But I Hate to Go Home Alone." Kid McCoy does a clever satire on his experiences of married life. Mr. McCoy will appear at each performance during the balance of this week.

In Revival of Operatta



Marie Wells,

Appearing in "The Merry Widow." This popular favorite of yesteryear, with its entrancing waltz measures, is to play the Mason.

EGGS AND ROMANCE GO HAND IN HAND

Hard boiled eggs are not usually conceded as a prime requisite to romance. Few are the poets who apostrophise them in their love sonnets. But just the same a couple of these over-done ovals start the flame of romance in the chest of one fairly average man.

His wife insisted they weren't good for him, but alone and jolting over the roads to New York on the limited he heard a young slip of a girl order them. He felt an instant bond of sympathy with her. He chatted with her, he ordered them himself. And not even the resultant indigestion could smother the flame of romance which had sprung up between them.

The fairly average man will be portrayed on the screen at the Kinema Theater by Lewis Stone in "The Dangerous Age" which opens Saturday. And while the story does not make a plea to wives to indulge their husband's whims for hard-boiled eggs it does give the feminine better halves several hints on the manner of preserving the affections of their relative spouses.

SEEK DATA FOR GREAT FILM IDEA

DeMille Envoys Leave on Quest for Properties of Ten Commandments

Around the world to get data for a motion picture!

Miss Clare West and Mrs. Florence Burgess Meehan leave Hollywood this week on such a mission, said to be the first of its kind. They go to gain for Cecil B. DeMille gowns, properties and historical facts preparatory to the filming of "The Ten Commandments," the great biblical [illegible] which the Paramount producer plans as his greatest achievement, and which won the prize in the Times-DeMille idea contest.

One searcher goes East, one West. Clare West, costume designer for Mr. DeMille, goes to Paris, where she will gain ideas for the gowns to be worn in modern scenes of the production. Mrs. Meehan, globe-trotter and expert on ancient peoples, sails in a few days for Mesopotamia, Egypt, Palestine, India, Ceylon, Java, Siam, Tibet and Baluchistan. To her has been delegated the task of securing authentic biblical data and costumes from the very lands in which so much of Old Testament lore actually occurred.

It is known that Mr. DeMille is planning a production which will cost upward of a million dollars and take nearly six months in the making. It will be one of the biggest productions ever made in the Los Angeles film colony.

Mr. DeMille himself leaves January 7th for a six weeks' yatching trip to Tiburon Island, Lower California, in preparation for the coming work, scheduled to begin on April 1. Jeanie Macpherson has been given the task of putting into photoplay form the great biblical statutes.

Not the least important member of the cast of "The Strangers' Banquet," which Marshall Neilan produced for Goldwyn, is Teddy, the famous Sennett dog.

There are many other talented dogs in pictures, but Teddy rules supreme in his art, so, in accordance with Neilan's all-star policy and at more soup bones per day than he had ever received before, the Sennett dog was engaged for the picturization of the Donn Byrne novel. The photoplay starts Sunday at the California Theater.

Teddy is entirely democratic. His first work after his arrival at the Goldwyn studio was to clutch a mop between his teeth and help the property man clean up the floor of an elaborate set. Neilan is the first director to use Teddy in a dramatic production. When he made "Stella Maris," with Mary Pickford, some five years ago, he borrowed the dog and proved that he had the dramatic as well as the comedy instinct.

HUNDRED CASES OF REAL NEED

"Times" Will Report Them to Aid Salvation Army

Appeal for Money Made for Rehabilitation Fund

To Put Many Worthy Families on Their Feet Again

One hundred cases of real, heart-pulling need were brought to the attention of The Times yesterday by the Salvation Army, in an effort to enlist the sympathy and the aid of the public in their behalf.

These are not cases calling for merely temporary relief—that has already been supplied by Brigadier C. R. Boyd of the army and his staff. They are cases where careful investigation has shown the need for sustained assistance until such time as the unfortunates are on their feet again. That they may receive such aid the Salvation Army appeals to the public for contributions to its Rehabilitation Fund—the fund from which is financed the care of worthy and stricken families for weeks and sometimes months. This fund is perilously low and if it is not replenished the work will be greatly hampered.

"The rehabilitation of families, whose need is for more than a Christmas dinner or a night's shelter, is the most important welfare work now being done by the Salvation Army in Los Angeles," said Mr. Boyd, who is in charge of the Salvation Army work in Southern California. "Through its various institutions are army carries on a systematic work of rehabilitation, but there is urgent need for a fund of at least $5000 to be loaned or given to families whose immediate requirements are greater than can be cared for through the army's regular available funds."

Mr. Boyd explained that the Rehabilitation Fund does not replace the emergency food and rent funds, but that this is a special fund for the special purpose of aiding unfortunate families until lack of employment and other causes of destitution are removed and the families are again placed "on their feet."

AID IS ASKED

To assist in this worthy work The Times will print from day to day the carefully-verified facts of these 100 cases. Names and addresses are purposely omitted but those wishing to aid a particular case may refer to it by number.

Donations, if made in person, should be taken to Brigadier Boyd at 502 Chamber of Commerce Building, or checks should be sent to that address and made out in favor of the Salvation Army. The telephone number is Pico 5440.

Case No. 1 is that of a family living in the southeastern part of Los Angeles. The parents and their three children are living in two small rooms. The father is unable to work and the mother earns a few cents daily by peddling vegetables. The children are in rags and their faces are pale and pinched for lack of food.

Case No. 2 is that of a young woman whose husband has been ill for many weeks. Although three babies claimed her attention, the young mother also faithfully cared for her husband, keeping up her courage until the husband and father died. Then she broke down. When the Salvation Army relief officer called he found no food in the house and the babies were almost naked. The army supplied food and clothing and conducted the funeral of the husband. This is a case in which the gift of a turkey dinner would have been almost a mockery.

Case No. 3 was recounted a few days ago in a letter received by the Salvation Army, and when, in answer to the missive a relief officer visited the writer, he found the father, mother and a little girl living in a shack in which boxes were used for chairs. The parents had both been ill for many days and were unable to work. Only a few crusts of bread were found in the house, and the mother and daughter were without shoes and stockings. They have found a practical friend in the Salvation Army.

Case No. 4—Relief officers yesterday went to the home of a woman who lay ill in a wretched hovel, a 3-weeks-old baby by her side. The bed was devoid of covering. The mother has been a cripple since childhood and her husband, who was crippled recently in an accident has been out of work for some time. Temporary relief was quickly supplied and the family will be aided from the rehabilitation fund until the husband can earn the money to care for his loved ones.

Case No. 5—A relief officer found an aged woman and her adult daughter in a destitute condition. The daughter is partly paralyzed from the effects of a wound. The aged mother, whose husband is in the penitentiary, is suffering from a serious tumor, but she refuses to submit to an operation, fearing that it might prove fatal, and that her daughter would thus lose the only support she has.

"There are scores of such cases as this," said Brigadier Boyd, "although it is difficult for the well-housed, well-clothed and well-fed citizen to believe it."

More cases will be reported in The Times tomorrow.

BANDITS READY TO SERVE TIME

railway car crew at Athens Junction, and the Piru bank robbery, when they escaped with $11,000 after kidnaping the cashier and his 6-year-old daughter.

Half of the cash loot has been recovered. Money amounting to $685.21 was recovered in a garage at Sherman last night, which practically closes the case against the bandit gang.

The round-up of the cowboy bandits was effected by Deputy Sheriffs Sweezey, Allen, Dewar and Stensland; George Pross, manager, and Detective Fitzgerald of the Burns Detective Agency, and Fred Williams, special agent for the Los Angeles Railway Company.

Gillett, said to be the driver of the bandit car, did not admit his part in the daring hold-up until he was confronted yesterday by C. E. Spencer, manager of the bank, and who was kidnaped with his 6-year-old daughter by the bandits.

Virgil Moore, an aviator and manager of an aviation transportation company, has not been connected with the robbery but is being held as an accessory after the fact, it being declared he had knowledge of the crime but kept silent.

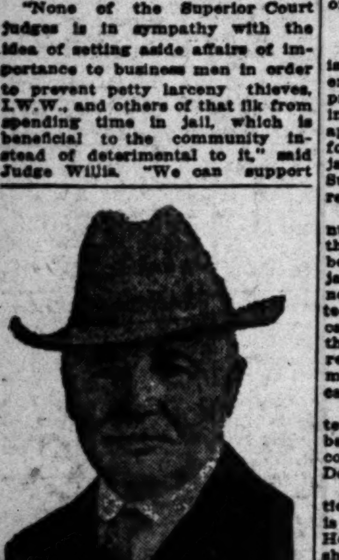
JAIL INQUIRY COMPLETED

Congestion not Due to County Prisoners, Says Jurist; To Free Many Detriment to Community

Presiding Judge Willis of the Superior Court yesterday announced the results of his inquiry into the congestion at the County Jail. He declares that it is not due to prisoners awaiting trial. He believes the suggestion that extra deputy district attorneys and public defenders be appointed to clear the court calendars would be futile and foolish at this time.

"None of the Superior Court judges is in sympathy with the idea of setting aside affairs of importance to business men in order to prevent petty larceny thieves, I.W.W., and others of that ilk from spending time in jail, which is beneficial to the community instead of deterimental to it," said Judge Willis. "We can support them better in jail than outside of it.



Judge Willis

MANY FEDERAL CASES

"The cause of the congestion is, first, the large number of Federal prisoners; second, the cases of prisoners who are entitled to stay in jail because of exercising the appeal; third, parties serving time for misdemanors, sentenced to jail by the justice courts. The Superior courts have no means of relieving this latter situation."

Judge Willis determined the number of cases pending in each of the Superior Courts and the number of defendants that remained in jail in default of bond. It was announced that Departments Fourteen and Fifteen would try criminal cases after the first of the year, and that if another court was needed to relieve the congestion, Department Eleven would take criminal cases.

Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes yesterday caused twenty-five cases to be transferred from Judge Shenk's court for trial after January 1 in Department Fourteen.

Mr. Keyes has made an investigation and says that the congestion is not entirely in the county courts. He points out that a canvass showed that on November 17, 183 of the 424 prisoners then in the County Jail were in on Federal charges. The others are: Awaiting preliminary hearings, 37; awaiting sentences, 55; awaiting appeal to a higher court, 12; juveniles not disposed of, 5; failure to provide, 3; arrested on suspicion of felonies and misdemeanors, 18; sentenced to terms in the County Jail, 61. Those outside the jail and awaiting trial number 386.

McKinley Home Boys Kiwanis Club Guests at Holiday Party With Trimmings

Making McKinley Home Boys Happy

STANDING beneath a flaming canopy of red balloons at Paulais Cafe yesterday at noon, 140 boys from the McKinley Home, guests of the Kiwanis Club, dutifully sang "America," and repeated the pledge of allegiance while their eyes rested lovingly upon the turkey and hot mince pies on the table before them.

The boys even waited patiently for the blessing to be asked and the "Happy Christmas" greeting, given by W. W. Widenham, chairman of the day—but when all the patriotism, religion and social formality was over, they seated themselves (oh, so quietly!) and seized their weapons for the attack on "turkey."

"Some feast, kid!"

"Oh, boy!"

"And you know why they're feedin' us? It's cause they're celebratin' the fact that they raised $110,000 to build us a new home up in San Fernando Valley."

"Well, if that's the case, I wish they'd raise $110,000 every week!"

That was the way they chattered along, except when they were stopped, occasionally, to hear Mr. Wideman introduce a speaker or to enjoy a number of the excellent entertainment provided by George Bromhall, Scotch comedian; Albert and Rozella in European novelties; Joe Pat Arthur, black-face humorist, and J. Wing Kwong, who wished them a "Merry Christmas" in the Chinese language. Piano music was furnished by Miss Ruth Chambers.

Following the big feed the curtain was pulled back, disclosing a giant Christmas tree and a fat, good-natured Santa Claus, who knew every guest by name, and who dispensed beautiful and useful gifts to everyone in the house. The caps distributed by Santa were furnished by G. D. Armstrong and Mullen & Bluett, and the candy was contributed by the Lady Gray and the Brown candy companies.

The entertainment committee was composed of Messrs. W. W. Widenham, Charley Emmons, J. O. Smith, Fred Yale, P. R. Kent, W. R. Sprinkle, E. D. Foster, M. Lowry, E. L. Burette and Mark Pierce. The honored guests yesterday were Mrs. E. M. Potts, M. H. Whittier and Franklin Kean, the latter representing International Kiwanis.

mails and freight in interstate commerce.

The court declared that the only real question involved was whether the men had conspired to violate the law by stopping mail and passenger trains.

WAS MAYOR OF NEEDLES

Holly was Mayor of Needles during the strike and was chairman of a special committee of trainmen which directed it. Fox was local chairman of the engineers' brotherhood and Clements was chairman of the general committee of striking shopcraft workers at Needles. All three of the men have been deposed from their positions in the union for their participation in the strike.

William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, declared that he was "not surprised" at the verdict returned by the jury against the eight strikers, in a statement issued yesterday at Chicago.

"Such violation of contract" was never sanctioned by his union, he declared.

"In view of what I know of the case I am not surprised at the convictions. It will be recalled that when certain members of our organization left their trains we sent a vice-president out to California to order them back to work. The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has never sanctioned a violation of contract," Mr. Lee said.

Delegates Are Told Marks of True Scholar

Forty-three high schools, from Lindsay on the north to San Diego on the south, were represented yesterday at the second annual banquet of the California Scholarship Federation, held in the Los Angeles High School cafeteria.

Ellis Abbe, president of the federation, was toastmaster and the principal speaker was the Rev. Bromley Oxnam of the Church of All Nations.

"The true scholar," said Dr. Oxnam, "is the one who assimilates the experience and learning of the past to the vigorous betterment of the present and the greater heritage of tomorrow."

There were 315 delegates in all at the banquet which was served during the luncheon hour.

WIFE ANGEL TO STRICKEN REID

Shuler of Trinity Methodist Church addressed the Council and said that while it had been found that a commission could not be created, he hoped that some action would be taken by the city "to dig into the facts about narcotic conditions, the Ku Klux Klan, gambling, wild parties" and vice conditions in general in Los Angeles.

Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, representing the Los Angeles Presbyterian churches, indorsed Mr. Shuler's remarks, and said he believed Will Hays sincere in his desire to improve conditions in the motion-picture industry.

CHIEF CRITICISED

Criticism of the police department was given by Dr. Briegleb, who said that gambling resorts openingly were running forty-eight hours after they had been raided by the police. The minister said that after members of Trinity Methodist Church had captured a man who was stealing accessories from automobiles parked at the church, it was twenty-six minutes before a police officer arrived to take charge of the prisoner. He also criticised Chief Oaks for making trips to Mexico attempting to secure Phil Alguin, slayer of Detective Sergt. Fitzgerald, when, said Dr. Biegleb, Oaks should have remained at his post in Los Angeles.

Harry D. Smith, Federal narcotic agent in charge of California, Navada, Oregon and Washington, is in Los Angeles going over the local narcotic situation with U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke. He will return to San Francisco this evening.

AGENTS HAMPERED

The fight of the government against the sale and consumption of narcotics is being prosecuted vigorously, Agent Smith says, in spite of lack of a sufficient appropriation for salaries and operation. He has but fourteen men to enforce the law in the four States, a force he claims totally inadequate to make any dent in the fast-growing drug traffic.

There are but three agents in the Los Angeles office, and Smith says he will send two more, but to make this addition it is necessary to take them away from other places where they are badly needed.

The local agents have no private room for their business, much of which is of a confidential character. They share an office with other Federal officials. An effort to provide separate quarters has been unsuccessful.

U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke hopes that with the appointment of an additional Federal judge there will be an opportunity to push the prosecutions of many of the pending cases, one of the three judges taking the narcotic calendar. Scores of arrests are being made, but the agents recognize that when one drug peddler is put away, others take his place.

The agents say they know the rapid growth of the narcotic trade, and if the prosecution has reduced the number of violators, the fact is not apparent to those in touch with the situation.

Action on the proposed appropriation was postponed yesterday by the finance committee of the Council for one week.

City Jailer Shand told the committee that seventy-five narcotic addicts are being held in the Lincoln Heights jail. A two-story addition to the jail is being planned in order to segregate the drug addicts from the other prisoners. The jailer also stated that the number of addicts in jail is growing rapidly and urged that steps be taken to remove these prisoners to a sanatorium where they could be treated.

ELECTRICIANS' UNION OUSTED

made by the walking delegates of the strikers, who are endeavoring to obtain signatures to their contract by making statements that certain contractors have signed up, but that ruse has not been successful and, as far as known, no union agreements have been subscribed to by any of the contractors.

"The electrical work on the Biltmore Hotel is progressing without interruption and a new crew has been procured in place of the strikers at the Jewelers' Building on Hill street.

"All important electrical work on large contracts continues without serious interruptions and a large number of men are daily applying at the placement bureau of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to take the place of the strikers."

NEW TERMINAL IS DEMANDED

The court said it could see no indispensable relation between the elimination of grade crossings and the establishment of union terminal facilities which would prevent the Interstate Commerce Commission from exercising jurisdiction in the elimination of grade crossings consistently and concurrently with the exercise of its authority over union terminal facilities, which was vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission by act of Congress in 1920.

Representatives of civic and business organizations stated yesterday that the city of Los Angeles and the State Railroad Commission will be urged to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for an early ruling on the entire Plaza union terminal case, including station, coach yards and grade-crossing elimination.

NOT CONDEMNED

It was pointed out that the Plaza proposition was not condemned by the Supreme Court, and that no adverse ruling was made regarding grade-crossing elimination. The decision was one which simply decided that the State Railroad Commission had undertaken to avail itself of Interstate Commerce Commission authority.

Efforts will be made at once to have the Interstate Commerce Commission place the case at the head of its calendar. Expediency in the matter will be urged because of civic-center activities and city-planning work which is being carried on here at present. It will be pointed out, too, that prompt action is necessary because of the increasing menace of grade crossings as the number of automobiles in the city and county grows.

Justice Weary of Requests to Warp Justice

"I'm getting tired of having people call me up at all hours of the night trying to 'fix' cases. I've been on the justice's bench quite a while and it gets wearisome after a few years," remarked Justice Forbes yesterday, in announcing he had made arrangements to hear no more traffic cases.

"It's principally the speeders who get people to call up and say, 'I've got a friend, please make his sentence light,' and I'm going to have a rest from that sort of thing. Besides, I think all the traffic cases should be handled by one justice so as to get uniform results."

Justice Forbes said he had arranged with Justice Baird to hear the speeders' cases that would naturally come to him. He will hear Justice Baird's civil cases in return.
